can't open the door

It's a fact every parent must face!

The Church is eager to provide our children with religious training. And our children need this training. But THEY can't open the door.

We must come with them. We must worship every Sunday . . . and take an active part in the classes and activities of the Church for adults — not for ourselves alone.

For a child values supremely the example of his parents. If they love their Church — he loves it too! If going to Church is too much trouble for them — it's too much trouble for him too!

God gave us these little souls to love . . . to nurture . . . to raise to Christian manhood and womanhood. And God gave us churches . . . to enrich our lives and theirs.

And God gave us doors . . . to open!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The first of eleven hexagonal polyhedrons that will house Minnesota exhibits at the New York World Fair in 1964-65 will go on display this week-end on the State Capitol mall in St. Paul. At the same time construction gets under way on the Minnesota Pavilion in New York. Each polyhedral unit, 22 feet across, provides 1,000 square feet of floor space, and presents 36 multi-color wall and ceiling surfaces to an imposing 40-foot height. The unique design by a Minneapolis architect affords unlimited flexibility of display space and permits economical enlargement of the building as rapidly mounting interest may demand. Participating in the development of the striking Minnesota structure are Dow Chemicals, Minneapolis Honeywell, Minnesota Mining, Monsanto Chemical, Rohm & Haas, Structural Plastics of Osseo, Weyerhaeuser Lumber. Coordinating Minnesota participation in the world event is the State-sponsored non-profit North Star World Fair Corporation.

GREAT SHOT! THOSE MASSIVE LOADS IN YOUR 'OL BETSY SURE DO PACK A WALLOP KNUCKLEHEAD....ER...KNUCK??
'OL KNUCKLEHEAD SCORES AGAIN

OLD KNUCKLEHEAD

The game is called Russian Roulette, American-style. You simply load a poorly conditioned gun with powerful shells — then pull the trigger. If you're lucky, you may bag a high flying duck or a fine buck deer.

Knucklehead didn't fare as well. His trusty gun, overloaded with powerful shot shells, parted at the seams, spraying both duck and hunter with parts and pieces. Blown out the rear of the blind and loaded with pieces of "ol Betsy," "Knuck" sank like the Mayflower's anchor.

Have you been playing this game with faulty sporting or military-style arms? Your time may just about be up. Heed the manufacturers' warning —use these shells ONLY in properly constructed arms in good condition. The warning is there for a purpose — TO PROTECT YOU! (Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife)

ROYAL REWARD for outstanding achievement in winning the 1963 Minnesota state buttermaking championship comes to Henry E. Swanson, Hinckley, Minn., from both sides in the form of two lovely dairy princesses. Swanson, manager of the Hinckley Co-op Creamery for 16 years, was honored at the climax of the 70th annual Minnesota Creamery Operators' and Managers' Association convention which ended Oct. 2 in Minneapolis. Presenting his champion's trophy is newly-crowned American Dairy Princess Sue Ann Godderidge, Smithfield, Utah, who flew to Minnesota for the convention. Adding a handsome wristwatch to the victor's awards is Minnesota's Princess Kay of the Milky Way, lovely Audrey Meyer of Clarks Grove. To win the state buttermakers' championship, one of the most coveted laurels in dairy industry circles, Swanson competed in four statewide contests which included a total of 119 competing craftsmen. His average score was 99.62. Runner-up was David Thorn, Mora, manager of Farmers Cooperative Creamery.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT and learning is the basic philosophy underlying the school lunch program as it exists in Minnesota and across the nation. Recognition of the program's benefits is accorded for the second year in a "National School Lunch Week" observance, Oct. 13-19. Minnesota's dairy industry, and its charming representative, Princess Kay of the Milky Way – Audrey Meyer of Clarks Grove – join in the 1963 salute. Audrey is shown pouring a glass of milk – one of the principal foods in all school lunch programs – for Steve Feinstein, 17, (2524 Zenith Ave.), St. Louis Park, co-captain of his school's basketball team. Adding an official blessing to both the lunch and the national observance is Carl E. Holt, St. Paul, director of the program in Minnesota. Agencies involved include the U.S. and state departments of agriculture, state educational agencies, local schools systems and all segments of agriculture. Minnesota was a pioneer in the program which was adopted nationally in 1946 to "safeguard the health and well-being of the nation's children and to encourage the domestic consumption of nutritious agricultural commodities.

Minnesota Motor Fuel Use Mounting

Consumption Increases over 4 Per Cent in 1963

Minnesota will consume 4.2 per cent more motor fuel in 1963 over 1962 (both highway and non-highway use), according to estimates just released by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads. This compares with an expected national increase of 3.8 per cent.

The estimates were made on the basis of state reports of motor fuel consumption in the early months of 1963 and information on current trends, fuel production and other factors.

In terms of consumption, the estimates are: 1,222,716,000 gallons of gasoline and 53,719,000 gallons of special fuel, for a total of 1,276,435,000 gallons, an increase of 4.3 per cent for 1963 over 1962. This is 731 gallons per vehicle for highway use in Minnesota.

Nonhighway use of gasoline accounted for an additional 206,068,000 gallons, to bring the state's total to 1,482,503,000 gallons in the estimate, a gross increase of 4.2 per cent.

In relation to the other states in the five-state area, Minnesota led the others: Iowa, estimated at 2.0 per cent increase, North Dakota, none, South Dakota, 3.5 per cent and Wisconsin, 3.7 per cent.

The 3.8 per cent increase for the nation represents an estimated 68,640,697,000 gallons or 782 gallons per vehicle for highway use.

Todd Co. Man Fined $500 for Deer Shining

A Todd county resident learned the hard way Monday that deer shining doesn't pay.

Louis J. Tuma, 38, of Route 4, Clarissa, was fined $500 by District Court Judge Rol Barren of Wadena. Tuma had the option of paying the fine or spending the next six months in jail. Judge Barron suspended $250 of the fine and placed Tuma, who had pleaded guilty, on one year's probation.

The deer shiner was arrested Sept. 19 by state game wardens.

Tullibee, Herring, Whitefish Season for Netting Set

The Minnesota conservation department has announced season regulations on the netting of whitefish, tullibee, and herring.

The commissioner's order No. 1658 legalizes the taking of whitefish, tullibees, and herring with gill nets from November 1 through December 31 in 196 lakes and streams; and from October 15 through December 31 in 17 lakes.

The different season dates are set to coincide with the most desirable netting period in each lake. The fish may be taken for private use and may not be sold.

If there is evidence that the game fish population in any lake is being injured by netting, the conservation department may close the lake or delay the announced opening by posting notices.

In addition to eating the fresh fish, many netters have built their own smoke houses and smoke some of their fish.

Netting licenses may be purchased at the county auditor's offices. The order listing the lakes to be opened will be available at county auditor's offices and information will be available from all state game wardens and other fieldmen.

ATTENDANCE at the 25th biennial convention of the Northern Division, Minnesota Education Association, provided nearly a full house at general sessions Thursday in the Lincoln high school gymnasium. Educators from 16 northwestern Minnesota counties attended the convention to hear such nationally-known speakers as Dr. Dean Berkeley, director of field services for the University of Indiana; Bennett Cerf, president of Random House Publishing company; and Adolph Rupp, head basketball coach at the University of Kentucky.

Large Crowds Noted At NMEA Convention

Hamerlinck Named Vice President of Northern Division

Highlighted by the appearance of three nationally-known speakers and the election of new officers for the coming biennium, the 25th Biennial Convention of the Northern Division, Minnesota Education association, came to a close in Thief River Falls Friday. The three general sessions, Thursday morning and afternoon and Friday morning, were generally well attended but somewhat below the 1,800 persons expected.

Jacob Boomgaarden, vice president of the NMEA for the past two years and an English teacher at Clearbrook since 1955, was elected president for the coming term. He succeeds Miss Daisey Norgart of Bemidji. Francis Hamerlinck, junior high school principal at Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls, past member of the NMEA board and general chairman of the convention, was elected vice president to succeed Boomgaarden.

Other Thief River Falls faculty members elected were Lawrence Brown, MEA board of directors; Ted Hellie and Ted Mills, MEA delegate assembly.

Berkeley Speaks

Dr. Dean F. Berkeley, director of the bureau of field services at the University of Indiana, opened the convention Thursday morning by speaking on the topic "Penetrating Beyond Our Walls". He warned educators attending "not to get lost in the details of your own specialty" and urged them to reach out for knowledge and learning in other fields.

Quoting Ralph Waldo Emerson, who said, "Nothing was ever achieved without enthusiasm", Dr. Berkeley suggested that teachers lose themselves in their enthusiasm. "The tragedy of life is not in death," he said, "but what dies inside of a person while he is yet alive."

"We make a living by what we get," he continued, "but we make a life by what we are willing to give." Citing important words, he said the five most important are "I am proud of you"; the four most important, "What is your opinion?"; the three most important, "If you please"; the two most important, "Thank you"; and the one most important, "We".

Cerf Speaks

Bennett Cerf, president of Random House Publishing company and panel member of a nationwide television program, spoke Thursday afternoon on "Modern Trends in Literature and Humor." He severely criticized "self-appointed censors" by saying their censorship is "unmerited". In

Date of the open house, which has been delayed due to site work and parking area preparation, was set by the board of directors at a meeting Thursday evening. Hours will be from 1:30 to 4:30 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. with a program of dedication to be held at 2:30 p. m.

Art Tweet, superintendent of the Valley Memorial Home in East Grand Forks, will be a guest speaker at the program. Further details will be announced in later editions of the Times.

Feeding Methods And Outlook Will Be Offered Friday

Livestock Clinic Will Feature Display Pens For Study by Feeders

Will feeder cattle prices come down this fall, or is this a year to buy early and aim for a peak market? Will hog prices hold up in 1964, or are we in for a year of heavy supplies and lower prices?

This type of question will get some thorough discussion at the Town-Country Days beef feeder, hog and sheep outlook meeting to be held Friday, October 18, 7:30 p. m. The meeting with feeder cattle exhibits will be held in the Thief River Falls Livestock Auction Market one mile west of Thief River Falls.

A pair of University of Minnesota extension men, Paul Hasbargen and Bob Jacobs, will analyze short-term and long-run trends in the beef, sheep and hog industries. They will then explain how these trends affect individual farmers' plans.

Here are some of the main questions for discussion:

1. Cattle numbers are at a record high. How will this trend affect beef prices and cattle feeders' incomes in 1964?
2. Will the low cattle feeding profits dampen the demand for feeder cattle this fall?
3. What are the profit prospects for different grades and classes of cattle in 1964? What income can hog farmers expect next year?
4. How should the cattle be fed? Mostly hay, hay and grain, or mostly grain.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. LAWRENCE BOTTEM

Taking care of this summer's garden abundance has kept many housewives busy, for never, it seems, has there been a better crop of tomatoes. If you still have tomatoes left, and want to get rid of them all at one time, why not make a double or triple batch of this chili sauce? It will find a ready welcome as an accompaniment to roasts and the other hearty foods of winter. The kids and friend husband will love it on hamburgers and hot dogs, and there just isn't any satisfaction like that of serving something good which you've made yourself.

CHILI SAUCE

- 2 dozen ripe tomatoes, peeled
- 1 large green pepper
- 3 medium onions
- 2 cups vinegar
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 teaspoon allspice
- 2 teaspoons cloves
- 2 teaspoons nutmeg

Put the green pepper and onions through the food chopper and add to the peeled tomatoes. Mix the other ingredients together and add to the tomatoes. Simmer until thick, about three hours. (using a heavy kettle minimizes the stirring and watching.). Seal while hot in sterilized jars.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

by Carolyn Offerdahl

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

HI! Are you planning on entering the 17th annual district "Make It Yourself With Wool" contest that takes place here in Thief River Falls on November 30? By all means do so. There are various divisions making it possible for everyone to participate. This contest is a wonderful opportunity for you to gain confidence in yourself because of the sewing and the modeling of the garment you make.

The material used must be loomed, knitted or felted in America. Because imports are not acceptable, make use of the label on the bolt in the store telling you the country of origin of the fabric. Because you need the name of the fabric manufacturer, get this too, while you are shopping. Remember that any fabric with more than five per cent of any other fiber than wool is not acceptable. Interfacing, facings, linings and underlinings, need not be wool. Blouses worn with the suits need not be wool either.

The garment must be completed by the contestant after February 1, 1963.

Judging at all levels will be based on workmanship, beauty of design, co-ordination with the individual and appearance in fashion. Judging will be done by experts in wool fabrics, fashion and construction.

Did you know that improper laundering can ruin a good blanket by causing the blanket to shrink excessively and the pile to felt? Too hot a water is the culprit. Lukewarm water, little agitation and mild cleaning agent are the keys to satisfactory laundering of blankets.

Set the machine on the slow cycle if you have an automatic washer with two speeds. If not, start the machine to get a standing suds and then let the blanket soak for five to 10 minutes. Use a two-minute wash period and allow the machine to complete the wash cycle.

Hang the blanket lengthwise over two parallel lines in the shade and brush gently on both sides when dry. For automatic drying, preheat several bathtowels in the dryer, then sandwich them in the fold of the wet blanket. Dry at low heat just until the binding no longer feels damp—about 15 minute. Stretch the blanket gently by hand and hang it on a line or rack to finish drying. Brush gently to restore the nap.

4-H enrollment is being stressed on October 7-19. As you go shopping, take a look in the store windows. Several clubs are having window displays depicting some aspect of 4-H. Now is the time to join a 4-H club and I am sure that any club in your area will be glad to have additions in their membership. There is also a new club here in town that is looking for members. You can contact the extension office if you care to join, or better yet, come to their first meeting which is October 28 at 6:30 p. m., at the city auditorium.

Fertilizer Won't Fit Soil That's Untested

No one would spend $200 for a suit of clothes that doesn't fit, but a farmer could easily pay $200 or more for fertilizer that doesn't fit his soil. As a tailor measures you to fit a suit of clothes, a soil test measures your soil to fit it with fertilizer.

Don't waste time and money by guessing which fertilizer fits your soil, warns Paul Stelmaschuk, Pennington county agent. Instead, take soil samples and bring them to the trailer by the post office on Thursday, Friday or Saturday of this week. Bring your samples in coffee cans, pint jars, soil boxes or other small containers. Mark the samples well with the field where you got your soil.

Information sheets will be filled out for you at the trailer which will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. on Thursday and Friday and 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Saturday. Soil samples will be hauled to the University of Minnesota for testing in a Land O'Lakes truck free of charge to the farmer. Farmers will need to pay one dollar per soil sample and are reminded that county fertilizer dealers will give credit for the cost of all the soil samples taken these three days. As a result, the testing of soil actually is free.

Alfalfa is a good money-maker when soil is ready for it. It's also a hungry crop. Four tons of alfalfa hay need 180 pounds of nitrogen, 40 pounds of phosphate and 180 pounds potash. With a good fertility program based on soil tests, the extra plant food you add can mean $60 to $80 worth of high quality livestock feed per year. So take a soil sample on your pasture and haymeadow too, Stelmaschuk advises.

The most valuable pound of soil on your farm is the pound you put in a soil sample box. That one pound oil sample can tell you what's best for 20 million pounds of the topsoil on your farm. Bring your sample to the trailer on Thursday, Friday or Saturday.

Masons Set $1 Million Addition to Cancer Hospital at 'U' of M.

Eight hundred Minnesota Masons cheered the report at a "Progress anl Prospects" meeting on the University campus Saturday, October 5 that they are alrealy a quarter of the way to the $1,100,000 needed to build and equip an additional two floor on the Memorial Hospital the Masons presented to the Univerity just five years earlier.

Added impetus was given the campaign already enthusiastically under way in most of the state's 300 Masonic lodges, and bing readied for early launching by the rest, by an encouraging message from a former Minnesotan. Dr. Haold S. Diehl, long-time dean of the University school of medicine and now senior vice president of the American Cancer Society, New York, praising Masonic vision and genrosity, declared that "Thirty years ago one in seven patients diagnosd as having cancer was cured. Today the ratio is one in three!"

In making his encouraging progress report Clyde E. Hegman, a Cargill executive heading Masonic Memorial Hospital Fund Inc. from its inception, realled that only a little more than eight years ago, in the spring of 1955, a small group of Masons met with representatives of the University to discuss the pressing need for a cancer hospital on the campus. It was agreed the Masonic Lodge would undertake to raise half a million dollars, which the University would match so that a million dollar hospital might be built and equipped. So overwhelming was the response of the Masons of Minnesota that the fund climbed well above the million dollar goal without University aid.

The hospital, then th most modern and complete of its kind, was built, equipped, and formally presentd to President J. L. Morrill and Ray M. Amberg, Administrator of University hospitals, October 5, 1958. Scarcely was it in operation, however, until doctors, patients, Masons, and public realized the need for expanded room and facilities. So a year ago, Octobr 8, 1962, Mr. Hegman recalled, the Masoonic Fund group was ractivatel, campaign plans were laid, and another million dollar drive got under way. Complete success within a year i confidently expected.

In the four-and-a-half years sine the 80-bed Masonic Cancer Hospital was opened, 4,061 patients have been cared fo during an avrage hospitalization of 24½ days. Of 3,391 were successfully treated, only 670 unfortunates failing of relief. More room, enlarged staff, and improved modern facilities ar confidently expected to produce an even better record in the second five year and many more to come.

many cases their action has an adverse affect, drawing attention to that which they try to suppress.

Cerf also criticized colleges and universities which do not permit civil rights objectors, communists and others to speak to the student body. "This shows that the president or the trustees of those colleges or universities do not have faith in their students," he said. "How are students to know how evil communism is if they do not have the opportunity to find out what it is and intends to do?"

He also said that Americans are not laughing enough at themselves. Persons who make light of political figures and situations are called subversive, he said. Finally he challenged his listeners to "work hard, think big, and have a dream".

Rupp Speaks

Adolph F. Rupp, head basketball coach at the University of Kentucky, addressed the convention Friday morning on the topic, "Our American Heritage in the 1960's". He said athletics provides the only free enterprise system left in schools today.

As an example he cited a diminutive safety man waiting under a towering punt while charging linemen rushed down upon him. "This is free enterprise," he said. "That man can't say, 'Wait a minute, fellows. Let's refer this to a committee'."

Rupp added that education is losing sight of the individual in its trend toward "togetherness" and "grouping." He said the aim of teachers should be to challenge their students so that they can complete their classes and make a satisfactory showing in college. "We can eliminate the dropouts that we are constantly hearing about if we make classrooms attractive enough for them to stay there," he concluded.

Section meetings were held as the concluding portion of the convention on Friday afternoon.

At the Department of Classroom Teachers session held Thursday noon at St. Bernard's Catholic church, Lily Roleczynski, Hallock, was elected president with Richard Dreyer of Warren as vice president and Gladys Paulson of Thief River Falls as secretary.

"Time for Decision" was the theme of the luncheon program. Ken Johnson, NEA director, gave an illustrated talk based on the NEA research division study, "The American Public School Teacher". Miss Ellen Olson, Orono, president of the Minnesota Department of Classroom Teachers, and Miss Daisey Norgart, Bemidji, NMEA president, also spoke at the session.

Cooking School Thursday Offers Dairy Food Tips

"extra touches of flavor and nutrition that can be quickly added, easily and economically with dairy foods."

She said that butter, Minnesota's most abundant dairy food, would receive some special attention as it is one of the most versatile cooking ingredients.

"The very best cooks make no secret of the fact that their 'magic wand' usually is their butter knife" Mrs. Birt said. 'Butter truly is the 'gold standard' of good cooking and fine flavor. Cooking without butter – especially here in Minnesota where it is of the best quality and greatest abundance in the world - is very impractical."

Mrs. Birt also indicated that her program will include a number of recipes prepared by the American Dairy Association especially for the upcoming fall and winter seasons. Printed recipes from Mrs. Birt's program will be given to each lady attending.

The personable and trim-figured Mrs. Birt also has worked in the past with Northern States Power company, the Minneapolis school system and the Poultry Institute.

Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Audrey Meyer of Clarks Grove, will be Mrs. Birt's stage assistant for the 90-minute program.

of Rhyme & Reason

BY MARV LUNDIN

THIS SHOULD REALLY BE A WEEK OF ACTIVITY. Cooperation of a number of organizations could well result in Northwest Town & Country Days Wednesday through Saturday as being one of the outstanding promotional events of the year. Activity is coordinated by the Chamber of Commerce but the cooperation of a number of groups is needed to make the event successful.

A lesson in cooperation for mutual benefit is to be learned from Town & Country Days. Joining in the event this year with the Chamber of Commerce are the Falls Squares, county extension service, county fertilizer dealers, Top of the Nation Dairy association, numerous insurance agencies, the Minnesota Dairy Industry committee, banks, automobile dealers, super markets, Bridgeman's and Thief River Falls Cooperative Creamery association. There are probably others which do not immediately come to mind.

At any rate, a combination of effort by all these groups and agencies adds up to a full four days. Dairymen will take a special interest in the Fifth Annual Top of the Nation Dairy sale—an event with the highest entry standards of any dairy sale in the United States. This will be held Thursday.

Women should be interested in a dairy products cooking school to be held at 8:30 p. m. in the Washington elementary school auditorium. Mrs. Ann Birt, home economist conducting a series of dairy foods programs for the Minnesota Dairy Industry committee, will be the demonstrator. She will be assisted by Audrey Meyer of Clarks Grove, Princess Kay of the Milky Way, during the 90-minute program. Open house at Bridgeman Creameries will be Thursday afternoon.

On Friday Princess Kay will visit banks and supermarkets to promote dairy products. The Northwest Auto Show will open at the city arena on Friday and a tour will be held at Thief River Falls Cooperative Creamery. That evening a livestock clinic for farmers will be held at the Thief River Livestock Auction Market just west of the city.

Main event on Saturday will be a free turkey barbecue south of the city arena with an expected 5,000 people to be served. During Thursday, Friday and Saturday a trailer will be parked near the post office for collection of soil samples taken by area farmers. The trailer will be manned by county fertilizer dealers.

To add further attraction to the event, local retail merchants will offer Town & Country Days bargains to area shoppers. All in all it promises to be a real week of activity.

Autumn weather is real welcome, especially with the extra special treatment from mother nature this year. By the way, did you hear about the father who fainted with his son asked for the garage keys and come out with the lawn rake?

THOUGHT IN PASSING: I wonder if Sen. Hubert Humphrey's liberal tendencies and his official membership in the Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians would fulfill the qualifications of an "Indian-giver".

PARALLEL IN NATURE

Life is written in the trees
From springtime thaw to autumn freeze.
The tender seeds put forth their shoots;
In mother earth they trust their roots;
They grow in warmth of summer sun
Until the days of warmth are done.

They bend and sway with every breeze,
These often almost-human trees;
They find resistance goes for naught
Because they break—decay and rot.
Those which survive have learned to live
A constant life of take and give.

They nurture leaves which only stay
Until the wind takes them away;
Bereaved, the branches softly moan;
They face the wintry world alone.
It's easy to compare again
The simple lives of trees and men.

Work Begins on Lost River Improvement

The $550,000 Lost River channel improvement project is already underway following awarding of a contract Sept. 4.

Machinery of launching the project was quickly put into gear and the corps of Army Engineers and the Luhr Construction Co. both have set up offices in Oklee, says the Oklee Herald.

The resident engineer, Vernon Holmstrom, has his office in the Falardeau building while the Luhr company is located at the Johnson garage building.

A crew of 12 workmen is already at work at the west end of the project. Using tractors, they are conducting the snagging operation which involves pulling old timber and other obstructions out of the channel.

Conditions are ideal for the work at the present time with the river at low level.

Expected to take from 1½ to two years, the project begins at a point two miles west of Oklee and goes upstream for a distance of about 20 miles to a point north of Gonvick.

Truckers have begun hauling of rock for the construction of spillways where ditches lead into the river channel. Side projects also include work to be done by the Lakehead Pipeline Co. which is installing a shield over their line where it crosses the river in the Oklee park. The shield is being installed to protect the oil pipes from the dredging machines. At another point upstream the pipe will have to be lowered about five feet.

Also projected in the overall plan is the construction of five new bridges. The bridge work, not a part of the general contract, will be done by the townships involved.

The Luhr Company has some small equipment here at the present time and will bring its huge 10-yard dragline into the area about July 1 next year.

All piano teachers in the area are invited to attend.

Forest Industry Growing in State

1962 Marketings Valued at Total of $245 Million

The "estimated value of Forest Products Harvested in Minnesota in 1962" reflects a healthy growth in northern Minnesota. According to this report of the Forest Industries Information Committee, the forest products total value of $245 million reprsents a gain of approximately $3 million over 1961 and a new high.

The paper, wood fiber board and packaging segment represent some $201 million of the over-all total product value. An increase of $3 million in payments made by the mills to employees in wages, salaries, and fringe benefits, brought over $62 million such compensation to some 9,000 employees of nine companies and 12 mills.

About $29,300,000 was paid by thse mills for pulpwood and wood pulp; over $58 million for other materials and supplies; and over $21.9 million for transportation. Over $12 million was paid by the industry in taxes, supporting government services to the public. These Minnesota mills marketed over 875,000 tons of products throughout the world.

Noteworthy gains were made in spite of a highly competitive year. The companies continued to invest in new machines, equipment and facilities to the extent of some $11 million, and such expansions since World Wa II have resulted in over 3,400 new jobs in the industry. The basis for this growth has been modern forest management in which more timber is grown than is used, allowing further expansion by existing mills as growing markets permit.

State FU Leader Speaks at Badger

Ed Christianson Cites U.S. Aid to Agriculture

The business economy of Roseau County has gotten a $350,000 boost this year through the direct payments to farmers under the 1963 feed grains and wheat program, a state farm paper said Thursday.

Speaking at the annual Roseau County farmer-businessmen's dinner held at the Badger school, Edwin Christianson, president of Minnesota Farmers Union, said these payments are being shared by some 825 farmers who participated in th programs on wheat, barley and corn.

"These payments are an important part of the total income of farmers and reflecting themselves significantly in the business economy of the area," Christianson said.

Other program payments being made to farmers, such as the land-use adjustment program, conservation reserve, agricultural conservation program (ACP), and the wool program account for more than additional one million dollars, he noted.

In his talk, President Christianson cited the results of a survey made by the Department of Agriculture to show how farmers of the nation spent the 2.5 billions in added income which they received under the farm programs in 1961 and 1962.

"This survey showed that farmers spent $185 millions for automobiles, 131 millions for tractors, $133 millions for new buildings, $152 millions for building repairs, $160 millions for clothing, $96 millions for household furnishings, $330 millions more for food, plus enabling them to spent $500 million more for feed, fetilizer and chemicals, he reported.

Auditions Are Set for Metropolitan Opera in February

Mrs. Roy Hollander of Wayzata will be co-director of the 1964 Metropolitan Opera Company district and regional auditions with James S. Lombard of the University of Minnesota. Mrs. Judson Bemis of White Bear Lake retired this week as co-director of the auditions. These announcements were made by Stanley Hawks, regional chairman for the National Council of the Metropolitan Opera in the Upper Midwest, which jointly sponsors the auditions.

The Regional Auditions, which include winners from the districts in Minnesota, Wisconsin, North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska, Manitoba, and Saskatchewan, Canada, will be held on February 21, 1964, in Northrop Memorial Auditorium on the University of Minnesota campus in Minneapolis.

The Minnesota-Western Wisconsin District winner will be elected in Northrop Auditorium on February 20 for participation in the following day's Regional competition. Information on the District Auditions is available at 109 Northrop Auditorium, Minneapolis 55455.

Fire Prevention Is Topic of Lions

Deputy Fire Marshal and Fire Chief Are Speakers

In connection with the observance last week of National Fire Prevention Week, Fire Chief Roy Langevin and Patrick Barry, deputy state fire marshall, spoke at the Lions Club luncheon meeting Wednesday noon. They were introduced by Charles R. Richards, program chairman.

Chief Langevin emphasized the tragic loss to the nation, due to fires, of 12,000 lives and more than $1 billion in property each year, and he pointed out that 90 per cent of the fires were due to carelessness.

Barry offered tips on fire prevention, relating to such factors as electric wiring, smoking in bed, inflammable liquids and children playing with matches. The two men closed by giving a demonstration of the danger of fires originating in gasoline and pressurized spray cans.

James Parkins, a member of the board of directors of the Minnesota Lions Eye Bank, reported on a meeting of the board he had attended the previous Saturday in the ophthalmological department of University Hospital in Minneapolis. He said that three corneal transplants had been made during the past week, making a total of 90 successful operations of that type performed since eye bank was organized. More donors are urgently needed, he added.

'U' M. Enrollment Hits 35,112 Total

Attendance for Current Year Has Set New Record

For the 11th time in the past 12 years fall enrollments at the University of Minnesota are setting new, alltime records.

As of last Monday night, officials said 35,112 students were registared, a jump of four per cent, or 1,496, above the previous mark set at start of the fall quarter a year ago.

Officials pointed out that the listing is almost double the 18,682 in classes in 1951, which was the low point of the post-World War II period.

University Recorder True E. Pettengill also reported that the evening class enrollment has risen 15 per cent to a new high of 14,116.

The total daytime enrollment of 35,112 includes 31,244 on the Minneapolis-St. Paul campuses, 3,178 at Duluth and 690 at Morris. The Morris enrollment is up 32 per cent, with the largest freshman class ever there, 273.

In the fall quarter of 1962, the Twin Cities campuses had 29,942, Duluth 3,152 and Morris 522.

The university's freshman enrollment decreased from 7,257 in 1962 to 7,184 this fall.

The attendance includes 23,870 men students and 11,242 women.

After years of struggle, Wilhelm and Jacob Grimm, writers of the world-famous fairy tales, are informed that they have been elected to membership in the Berlin Royal Academy. Shown in this scene from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and Cinerama presentation of the George Pal Production, "The WONDERFUL WORLD of the Brothers Grimm," are Oscar Homolka as the Duke, Karl Boehm as Jacob Grimm, Lawrence Harvey as Wilhelm, Claire Bloom as his wife, Dorthea, and Walter Slezak as the bookshop proprietor, Stossel. A MOCK DEER HUNT in a Twin City gravel pit set the stage recently for the Minnesota Heart Association to test deer hunters' hearts. As would-be hunters trudged through loose gravel pulling a 100-pound bag of sand, radio devices recorded heart action on an electrocardiagram which Work Evaluation Unit physicians interpreted. Dr. Thomas Recht was one of several physicians cooperating in this public service to help Minnesota hunters determine whether or not they can stand the exertion required by the sport that claims several heart fatalities each season. There will be a repeat test Sunday, October 20.

Beef, Apples Are Good Food Buys

Consumer Marketing Specialist Makes Report

Beef is back at the top of the list of meat values consumers will find in makets this wek. Round steak, sirloin, T-bone steak and standing rib and ump roasts are cuts being featured, according to Mary Ryan, extension consumer marketing specialist at the University of Minnesota.

Chicken is in ample supply—especially broiler-fryers—and prices can be expected to remain resonable throughout the fall, Miss Ryan says.

Locally grown cauliflower, carrots and squash—acorn, buttercup and Hubbard—are good buys in the vegetable section. Cauliflower is of espcially high quality. Green onions and radishes are still available, although the local season for these vegetables is nearing the close. Pumpkins are beginning to come to markets and abundant supplies are expected soon for Hallowe'en and for pie making.

Look for good buys in apples during National Apple Week which continues through Oct. 19. Midwest apples—from Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan—are in the stores now and available at fruit stands. Most varieties are selling at reasonable prices. In small quantities, apples sell from about 12 to 15 cents a pound. You'll be able to get lower prices by buying apples in cartons or in bushels.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing the VA Contact Office at the Fargo VA Center.

Q—Under what conditions can a pacetime veteran be admitted to a VA hospital for a nonservice-connected disability?

A—Veterans who were discharged or retired for disability incurred or aggravated in line of duty or are receiving compensation or would be eligible to receive compensation except for receipt of retirement pay may be admitted for ailments not connected with their service if beds are available.

Q—Is there an exception to the rule that VA outpatient treatment is given only for service-connected conditions?

A—Yes. Disabled veterans who are receiving training under either the World War II or the Korean Conflict Vocational Rehabilitation Act and who need outpatient medical treatment for non-service-connected disabilities to prevent interruption of their training, may be entitled to this treatment from the VA. Spanish-Americin War Veterans can be authorized out-patient treatment for any physical condition.

Q—In the fall I will be retiring from the Army after 20 years of service. Will I be eligible to go to school under the GI Bill?

A—It will depend upon when you receive your first unconditional discharge after January 31, 1955. If less than three years have passed since that discharge, you are eligible. If more than three years have passed, you are not. Immediate re-enlistment at the time you received that first unconditional discharge after January 31, 1955, would have had no effect on extending the deadline.

The chairman of the Minnesota Water Resources Board, Mr. George Loughland, Golden Valley, has announced the establishment of the Warroad Watershed District. The new district will be located in Roseau and Lake of the Woods counties and its purpose is to manage the natural resources of the 312 square mile watershed area. Flooding along the Warroad River is expected to receive attention by the managers of the district. Named to the first board of managers of the District were: W. Rombach, Floyd Stewart, Paul Urtel, Peter H. Heppner and Kenneth Parduhn all of Warroad.

"I always find the highest yield on the farms that practice soil conservation," says Chatfield farmer Joe Manahan. He does a lot of custom work for farmers in the area such as combining and corn picking, and always finds the highest yields on those farms. Manahan says, "That's what sold me on contour stripcropping and conservation farming." He told Grant Karlstad, SCS technician at Rochester, that it is easier to work on contoured fields. There's no change in motion when operating equipment in comparison to up and down hill farming, and there are no ditches to break up his equipment.

An experimental tractor tire, so smooth it resembles an inner tube, has out-performed a conventional tire by about 40 per cent under average field conditions. The smooth tire proved 14 per cent more efficient in converting axle power into drawbar power and further tests in this direction are far from complete. The tread base of the new tire is flatter than round and the rim width is 3½ inches narrower. Radial rather than diagonal, ply construction may prove to be an important factor in the efficiency. However, lug tires are essential for slick surfaces such as heavy grass, straw mulch or mud.

To prevent chocolate from turning white, store it at temperatures below 75 degrees F. But don't throw it out just because it has turned white. That's simply a sign that some of the cocoa butter has separated out in hot weather and has come to the surface. When the chocolate is melted, it will turn brown again.

Prowlers Tied 6-6 by Sacred Heart Eleven

The Prowlers and the Sacred Heart Eagles battled to a 6-all deadlock in a bruising football game played on the Hylden field gridiron in Grand Forks on Friday night. On the last play of the game from the Eagles' one-yard line, it appeared that the Prowlers' Joe Taylor, on a slant off left tackle, had crossed the west goal for a touchdown, but the officials decided that the Prowler fullback had been stopped a foot short of the goal-line, and the gritty Prowlers had to settle for a tie game.

This week coach Bill Herzog's crippled Prowlers will be meeting the conference champion Bemidji Lumberjacks in a Northwest loop game on the Lincoln high athletic field. Kickoff time is at 8:00 P. M. The Bemdiji team, in Friday night's tussle against the Crookston Pirates, scored a solid 39 to 6 win over the Pirates, and a win this Friday would clinch the conference title for the Lumberjacks.

In Friday night's game at Grand Forks, coach Curly Gasperlin's burly Eagles gained a 6 to 0 lead in the opening minutes of the first period. The Prowlers, defending the east goal, accepted the kickoff, and on the runback of the kick, which was carried to midfield by Rick Jensen, a fumble occurred and Sacred Heart recovered.

Showing fine running power, and directed ably by quarterback John Neppel, the Eagles moved from midfield, picking up three first downs, to the Prowlers' 3-yard line. Fullback Lyle Nelson drove off left tackle for a touchdown. The conversion point, on a running play, failed and the Eagles held a 6 to 0 lead.

Coach Gasperlin's club held that 6 to 0 advantage until the opening minutes of the fourth period. Don Mathieu, who played a stellar game for the Prowlers, made a 20-yard punt return, bringing the ball to the Eagles' 45-yard line. A pair of running plays gained but meager yardage, but then Rick Jensen, on a third down play, made a long toss to end Bob Olson, and the lanky Prowler gathered in the ball on the Eagles' 15-yard line and scampered across the west goal-line for a touchdown. Rick Jensen's conversion point attempt, on a run, failed and the score was in a 6-all knot.

In the final minutes of the game the Prowlers made a desperate bid to gain a win. A pair of passes, Jensen to Olson, and Jensen to Mathieu, carried from the Prowler 40-yard line to the Eagles' 9-yard line. Jensen, being given a hard rush on a passing play, elected to run and he just missed carrying the ball over the goal-line, being nudged out-of-bounds on the Eagles' 1-yard line. And, with a second or two to play, the Prowlers' final play just missed carrying for the game-winning touchdown.

JERRY FORSBERG Prowler end (41), gives good coverage on this kick by Bob Olson in the second period of Friday night's bang-up football contest against East Grand Forks Sacred Heart. Sacred Heart's Ron Kreel has gathered in the ball, but Forsberg made the tackle to stop the Eagles' safety man. Sacred Heart's John Neppel, at the right, attempts to put a block on Forsberg. The Prowlers scored a fourth period touchdown to gain a 6-6 tie with coach Curly Gasperlin's club and the game ended with the Prowlers just inches from the goal line.

RICK JENSEN, given ample protection by Joe Taylor (20) and Don Mathieu (13), unloads a long pass which was caught by Bob Olson in the fourth period of the rugged Prowlers vs. Sacred Heart football game at Grand Forks on Friday night. It was a Jensen to Olson pass that accounted for the Prowlers' lone touchdown of the game, and gave the locals a 6 to 6 tie with the Eagles.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

The Squad Is Getting Smaller

For the second week in a row the football Prowlers, after earning a victory, were unable to get the game in the locals' win column. Last week, playing Detroit Lakes in the Lakers' Homecoming game, the Prowlers dropped a 20 to 19 decision to coach Haldo Norman's club. But the Prowlers had a pair of conversion points made, and these would have provided a win, but the points were nullified by penalties.

And on Friday night, playing on the Hylden field in Grand Forks against coach Curly Gasperlin's Sacred Heart Eagles, the Prowlers appeared to have the game-winning touchdown over the goal-line just as the game ended. But the officials declared otherwise, and the locals had to be satisfied with a draw. And that draw score, 6-all, just about describes the rugged defensive play that was put on exhibition by the two teams.

It is unfortunate that the two teams were forced to play the game on that field. The playing conditions, and the lighting of the field, were very poor. The center of the field, from goal-line to goal-line, had a strip, about twenty yards wide, that was devoid of grass. And in an effort to lessen the dust hazard this strip had been given a soaking, and the heavy conditions in midfield were just short of mud.

But the Prowlers are due for a great deal of credit for the play that they exhibited. The game was one of the most rugged of the season, with the line play being of a no-quarter-asked variety. The Prowlers entered the game with the following regulars, and first-line reserves, on the sidelines because of injuries: Rich Nelson, halfbacks; fullback Larry Joppru; and tackle Dave Froehle. All of these players were out of action because of leg injuries. And in the course of the game against the Eagles, center Terry Nelson, quarterback Buzz Olson, and end Jerry Forsberg were forced out of action. Nelson suffered a knee injury and there is some question whether or not the Prowler captain will be available for Friday night's game against Bemidji.

And Rick Jensen, who completed the game, came up with a badly banged up leg and he, too, will be under treatment if he is to play against the Jacks. It was feared that Forsberg, who is developing into a fine defensive player as an outside linebacker, was badly hurt, but an X-ray taken in Grand Forks failed to disclose any serious head injury, and after being in the hospital here for observation on Friday night he was released.

The Prowler varsity football squad of coach Bill Herzog is getting smaller and smaller, and with games against Bemidji and Crookston in the offing, the games are getting bigger and bigger.

That Was No Moose

The other morning, Friday, that is, after the sun had been up for a couple of hours, there was a roaring and snorting sound heard along one of the ditch banks north of Ditch 200. Said one of the duck hunters in the area: "That must be a bull moose." Said another duck hunter: "That must be two bull moose."

It was no moose. It was merely the snoring of one of the city's early-morning hunters. The early rising, at 4 o'clock, the lack of action by the ducks and geese, and the warm sun, all connived to put this hunter into a snoring sleep. This individual is a noisy person anyway, what with all the bragging he has been doing about his bowling team. But that snoring! And he'll have you believe that it was a new-fangled goose call.

Roseau County Sets Up Development Plan

What does the future hold for a Minnesota county that lost a fourth of its farms and a sixth of its population in the last decade—but where agriculture is still a major enterprise?

People of Roseau County on the Canadian border in northwestern Minnesota are putting together their own answers to that question.

Roseau is the most recent of about 10 Minnesota counties to complete an Overall Social and Economic Development plan (OSEDP), according to Skull Rutford, director of the University of Minnesota agricultural extension service.

The OSEDP is an integral part of Rural Areas Development activities for diagnosing rural problems and developing understanding of these problems and possible solutions among local people. The Roseau report was written by about three dozen people, in cooperation with William Provance and Wayne Carlson, county agent and assistant agent, respectively, in the county.

The OSEDP of Roseau County is a searching look at the past, present and future potential of the local economy, and illustrates the analysis people must make to take stock of their natural and human resources.

Major problems of the county, the report states, include declining opportunity in farming, lack of natural employment, and need for more education and training.

On the positive side, the county finds itself with a promising future in the tourist and recreation business, with good potential for new industry and some ways to upgrade agriculture.

Roseau County, formed in 1894, used to depend on grain farming and lumber production. Its population reached a high of 15,000 in 1940 and declined to just over 12,000 in 1960. Farm numbers peaked at 2400 in 1940, but number under 1700 now.

Meanwhile, average farm size increased from 239 acres 20 years ago to about 320 today.

With changing times, Roseau county farmers shifted their businesses. They began after World War II to rely less on grain and more on livestock as the major source of income. In 1959, for the first time, livestock farms in Roseau County outnumbered cash grain farms. More and more grain land had gone into the soil bank.

But there was improvement. While milk cow numbers went down after 1955, production per head shot up—by nearly a thousand pounds per cow per year. Hog raising efficiency increased as farmers improved their production methods.

The usual shift in poultry occurred, too. In 1959, there were little more than a third as many poultry farms in the county as in 1940. But poultry sales per farm were more than 40 times greater than 20 years ago.

Labor opportunities in farming declined. Mechanization replaced much hand labor, and Roseau county people expect this trend to continue. More than 45 per cent of the farm operators were doing off-farm work in 1960, compared to under 30 per cent 20 years earlier.

While agricultural employment dropped, number of persons in manufacturing in the county increased—but not enough to absorb all those leaving farms.

The average age of farm operators is increasing, meaning that land will continue to become available as present owners retire. But larger capital requirements needed to start farming will continue to deter new young men from farming, the report writers said.

Most industry in Roseau County is new and locally-developed—including a building products plant and a mechanical equipment firm. Capital needs were cited by the local people as one problem in developing further industry. Location sites, power, and available labor tend to favor industry, although the OSEDP report sees a need for retraining many people for industrial skills.

The past decade has seen an encouraging beginning in the tourist and recreation industry in Roseau County. The report observes that there were no cabins, motels, or reliable plane services for tourists there in 1948. Now, there are several resort facilities and good water and air transpotation.

Should Mail Yule Parcels Overseas at an Early Date

Postmaster R. J. Dryden today reminded local patrons who plan to mail Christmas parcels overseas that the time is soon here for packages to be mailed for other than air delivery.

Dryden recommended the following schedule: October 15, Far East; November 1, Africa and the Near East; and November 10, Europe and South America.

For delivery by air mail, parcels will reach Europe by Christmas if mailed by December 15, and will reach other parts of the world if mailed by December 10.

Treas. Bjornson Sees No Financial 'Crisis'

State Treasurer Val Bjornson said Wednesday figures show the state's major funds are in better shape now than they were a year ago.

Bjornson, commenting on Gov. Karl F.Rolvaag's prediction Tuesday that the state faces a "great financial crisis," said, 'I simply do not see the supposed crisis to which Rolvaag refers."

Rolvaag blamed the situation on faulty revenue estimates by Tax Commissioner Rolland Hatfied and said a deficit of $25.9 million at the end of the next biennium would result unless emergency economies he recommends are put in effect.

Bjornson said the general revenue fund was $5.8 million better off than a year ago and the income tax school fund was in better shape even after a huge payout to local districts.

"While the income tax school fund is in temporary deficit, the demands of the fund have just been met," Bjornson said. 'We have just finished disbursing a tremendous amount of school aid dollars. Any reckoning of our fiscal position should take this into account."

Theodore Berning, assistant state commissione of education, said a 5 per cent cut in state school aids would not pose serious financial problems for most districts.

Districts are urged to budget so they have 25 per cent balance, he said. "Those which have done that or have maintained reasonable balances will be all right," he said.

However, school districts that start their fiscal years with deficits likely will go deeper into the red, Berning said, adding that such districts can issue warrants, which draw up to 5 per cent interest, or borrow on the strength of anticipated aids.

This Is The Pattern

The Senate Commerce Committee is preparing to report out a bill that would offer $10 million a year in subsidies for new fishing vessels. Another proposal would enable the government to build two modern stern-ramp trawlers at a probable cost of $7 million each. They would be leased to established fishing companies for the purpose of proving their worth and inducing private investors to expand in this way.

So tells us Charles Bartlett, writing from Washington. Our fishing industry is not in good health, and so the taxpayers will probably be called upon to contribute to a subsidized program. Our nation of rugged individualists is leaning more and more on the government for survival, and the government is controlled by the poltical bosses.

And so history repeats itself. This is the pattern for the rise and fall of nations.

Problems Of A Candidate

Senator Barry Goldwater has been criticised because some of the nation's reactionaries have spoken well of him. Recently Governor Rockefeller of New York, Senator Goldwater's leading opponent for the Republican nomination for president at the present time, received a "moderate endorsement" from James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union. Which brought forth the following observation by the New York Times:

> "A kind word from Mr. Hoffa was the last thing Mr. Rockefeller needed. What the Governor should have said in reply to Hoffa was to take his endoresement somewhere else, that he didn't want to have anything to do with him. But, after an embarrassed huddle apparently, he merely said he didn't know Hoffa, "but the reasons he gives as to why the members of the Teamsters Union might support me are appreciated." This was just one more Rockefeller blunder of missed opportunity. A withering repudiation of Hoffa support might have done the Governor some good as an act of political courage.
> "Governor Rockefeller may have picked up a vote—a badly tarnished one—and a big liability in Mr. Hoffa. Who needs enemies when you have somebody like Hoffa to throw you in front of a truck?"

We are sure there are more pleasant ways of making a living than being a politician.

Six Years of Progress

It was just six years ago last month that Little Rock, Arkansas, was experiencing school desegregation, enforced by the federal government. Governor Orval Faubus had made a state-wide radio address in which he predicted that "desegregation would result in wide-spread rioting and violence." He ordered out the national guard to nullify a federal district court order.

As he had predicted, there was violence, and President Eisenhower ordered out federal troops to maintain order. The situation was highly explosive and Little Rock settled down uneasily for what was expected to be a long siege of violence, bitterness and disunity. That was six years ago.

And how are things in Little Rock now? From the Lake Charles, Louisiana, American Press, we get the following interesting observations:

> "The other day, the Arkansas Gazette, which proudly proclaims itself to be "Arkansas's Leading Newspaper Since 1819," took a look at Little Rock today.
> "The city's parks, golf courses, motion-picture theaters, buses, baseball park, hospitals, libraries, the largest downtown department store lunch counters and rest rooms, the big hotels, the local medical society, and the schools are all wholly or partly integrated.
> "Some of the city's "White" churches have opened their doors to Negroes. Visiting African officials have been welcomed—and often entertained —without discrimination in this "notorious" city.
> "This year the Arkansas Travelers, the Little Rock baseball team in the Southern association, became the property of the Philadelphia Phillies organization. The Travelers acquired a Negro player from the parent club. When he won a game with a home run, he got a standing ovation.
> "Little Rock is booming economically. The city has gained a substantial number of new industries, and more jobs have been created for Little Rock citizens, both white and Negro.
> "There seems to be a new atmosphere. In downtown stores, there are signs which say "Negro Customers Welcomed." Integration in the schools now seems to be accepted as a matter of course, where six years ago it was fought with mob violence.

It is unfortunate that those who speak for us in Washington today have failed to present this picture of progress to the world. Instead of emphasizing the great progress that has been made, the publicity, politically inspired, has pointed up a few of the shortcomings.

The race problem in our country has not been solved. The race problem will be with us for generations, but on a gradually diminishing scale. Great progress has been made and is being made, retarded unfortunately by occasional efforts to move too fast. Sometimes the zealous friends of a deserving cause are its greatest handicap.

Who Is The Extremist?

Now that President Kennedy's nonpolitical tour has ended we can settle back and consider the many speeches he made in a very short time in various parts of the country. Wherever he went he was very hopeful for the future, and that, of course, is understandable. He committed his administration to a tremendous program of development and expansion.

It was quite clear, however, that in his discussion of our foreign affairs, his guard was up, and in a few places he scolded the bad citizens who questioned the wizdom of administration policy or conduct in this field. We think there is considerable merit in the following observations on this aspect of his tour by The National Observer:

> "When he lectured the citizens of Montana and other Western states last week, Mr. Kennedy talked as if they were that area's isolationists of the 1930s. He seemed almost unaware of the great change that swept the area and the rest of the nation during and after World War II. When he fuzzily lumps together all criticism of foreign aid, United States commitments overseas, and the United Nations as one and the same thing— and then argues that all such criticism is detrimental to the country's interest—he comes close to insulting the knowledge and intelligence of a large segment of the nation.
> "The President almost seems to say there are no legitimate questions that can be raised about such matters.
> "If a generalization can be made about criticism of foreign policy, it is not that the United States should withdraw from all its foreign commitments but that it try to pursue its commitments more effectively and more selectively. The pragmatic and independent Westerner is apt to say, along with a lot of other critics: Certainly foreign aid, but not just any and all foreign aid. Certainly a United Nations, but not one which seems intent on poking into the domestic affairs of its members—in other words, one like the nation originally signed up for in 1945.
> "The President, in his remarks in the West, has chosen to paint all critics and criticism as extremist. That is extremism in its own right."

Those Noises

(Montreal Star)

It's a noisy age we live in. When it's possible to reduce that noise, we're all for it. So we're ready to stand up and cheer the judgment handed down in Municipal Court recently by Judge Pascal Lachapelle. He said, in effect: a muffler should muffle sound, if it doesn't it's a defective muffler.

Before him stood the driver of a sports car, who protested his muffler was in perfect order. The judge, however, was not impressed. The car was making a noise.

It has been a continuing mystery to some of us that an expensive little puddle jumper should make twice as much noise as a standard vehicle. Perhaps the judge's view will help to make a summer's evening either at home or on the road a little more pleasant—if the police follow through.

Interesting Opinions . . .

"If the Devil himself sent a message to the Pentagon that his supremacy in hell was being threatened by communists (disguised, of course, as angels) he would be immediately offered aid in the name of democracy and freedom."

—Sir Stephen King-Hall

Chilly? Add an electrical heating unit this fall!

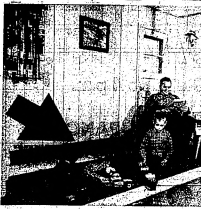
Put extra heat where you need it! Installation is easy, and you can have warmth wherever you have a cold room. Individual thermostatically controlled heat panels make the cost of electric heating very reasonable. To get the facts, see your electric contractor, or your local REA cooperative.

EXTRA WARMTH IN THE KITCHEN

This Minnkota-land housewife found that her kitchen was not quite comfortable. So she had two wall units installed at each end of the kitchen, to keep the room at the temperature desired.

TAKE THE CHILL OUT OF THE MILKHOUSE

With the limited space in his milk house, this Clearbrook farmer wanted electric heat. He sets it to come on automatically in the morning, so the milk house is comfortable when he enters.



EXTRA SPACE NEEDS EXTRA HEAT

This Leonard, N. Dak., family added a recreation room, but couldn't enjoy it until they added electric heating. It solved the problem more quickly and more economically than extending their heat duct system.

REPORT TO THE PEOPLE

by Governor
KARL ROLVAAG

Recently I appointed twelve leading citizens of Minnesota to serve on the advisory board on handicapped, gifted and exceptional children. All of us are indebted to the work of this board, which has helped develop and guide the state-wide progam to provide education to every child, whether blind or deaf or crippled or retarded or handicapped in any way.

National Reputation

Minnesota is nationally known for our progress in this field. Since 1957 when the laws were passed to require each school district to make provision for this kind of special education, we have set up 845 classes, reaching this year some 27,000 youngsters. We have seen the development of training centers for those who wished to enter this new field of teaching. We have seen parents all over the state realize the satisfaction of having their child get a fair chance at schooling in spite of being "different."

Devoted Leaders

Much credit is due the talented, devoted leaders in this field — people like Dr. Evelyn Deno and Dr. Maynard Reynolds, both of them past chairmen of the Advisory Board. I'm pleased that both of them have accepted continued membership on the Board, along with Drs. Hyman Lippman, James Delano, Donald Muhich, Victor Lohman and Harriet Blodgett, Representative Wayne Bassett, Frances Egloff, Gerald Walsch, Judge Philip Anderson and I. V. Johnson.

Challenges Remain

Much remains to challenge the new Board. They must, for example, evaluate the state aid program for special education. These aids, established in 1957, require the state to pay up to $3600 of the salary of the special education teacher—a teacher who has taken special training to qualify to teach the blind or deaf or retarded child. Changing costs make it essential that this aid be increased so that the state will share the cost more equitably with the local school district.

Other Problems

Another pressing problem which I know the Board will examine is the need for expansion of facilities and services for children with impaired hearing. I was deeply disappointed that the Faribault School for the Deaf was not authorized to construct new dormitory facilities in the 1963 session. We must renew and reinforce this request in the 1965 session and the Board will be of real assistance in helping to evaluate the need. Another serious lack in our program to help the handicapped is the absence of an adequate census of the children who have visual or hearing or other handicaps. The Board has already been at work on this problem.

Major Contribution

A major contribution of the Advisory Board has been its role in promoting Community Day Activity Centers for Retarded Children. These centers have sprung up all over the state as a result of the 1963 law which had strong support from the Board. Youngsters who, because they are not eligible for school programs, would get little or no socializing experienced can now get daytime sheltered care and training. I share the pride of the many who worked to make these centers come true and am pleased to know that our Advisory Board will continue to cooperate in this new venture. One of the knottiest problems still facing us is the 'child who falls between the cracks"—the child who is still not benefiting from the educational opportunity that is his right. Sometimes this is because he lives in a school district—and we have many of these in Minnesota—that is too small and has too limited a tax base to provide the special education requirement. I am encouraged to see the progress now being made toward the establishment of "intermediate education units" aimed at getting several school districts to go together in order to hire the services needed.

Langen Hails Slash in Dairy Items Imports

Congressman Odin Langen has expressed some satisfaction with last week's announcement from the Secretary of Agriculture that the United States has reached agreements with certain foreign nations to restrict dairy products being imported into this country.

"The agreement doesn't actually go far enough," said Langen, "but at least it's reassuring that the alarm I registered back in February has been recognized to some extent by the Department of Agriculture."

The announcement from the Secretary indicated that Colby cheese imports will be reduced about 10 per cent during the current fiscal year below the previous year, that a butterfat-sugar product called Junex will cease to be imported the rest of this year and will be curtailed somewhat next year, and that frozen cream imports will be limited to 1½-million gallons next year.

"The amounts being imported still seem too high, even if the foreign countries honor the new agreement," said Langen, "but at least American dairy producers will be assured that imports won't go beyond certain levels and that these imports won't suddenly increase to much higher levels."

Langen also noted the Secretary of Agriculture's assurance that Section 2 of the Agricultural Act from all sources failed to stay within the prescribed boundaries laid out by today's agreement. "This would call for a tariff commission investigation, which is exactly what I've urged the Government to do all along. We have the mechanisms by which to control unwarranted imports and I'm glad to see we may at least start to use them."

$2.8 Million Loss from Farm Blazes

Total of 18 Lives Lost in Minnesota Last Year

Fires accounted for a $2.8 million loss to Minnesota farmers during 1962, according to Glenn Prickett, extension farm safety specialist at the University of Minnesota.

Prickett says the state fire marshal's report shows that this loss involves 580 different farm fires. A total of 18 lives were lost in fires. Farm fires accounted for about 11 per cent of the total fire losses in the state for 1962, Prickett says.

The most frequently reported fire causes were inadequate, defective or misused electrical equipment; defective or misued heating units other than electric; rubbish and grass fires; defective chimneys; lightning, careless smoking; sparks from tractors; careless handling of gas and oil and spontaneous combustion.

Prickett urges rural people to take several steps to prevent fires.

Have electrical systems inspected by qualified electricians.

Inspect, clean, and repair heating equipment before winter sets in.

Remove rubbish from basements and attics of houses and other buildings. Burn the rubbish away from buildings on a still day.

Store liquid fuels at least 40 to 75 feet from buildings, and stop tractor engines before refueling.

Keep approved fire extinguishers, CO2 or dry powder, in handy locations around the farm.

State Men on U.S. Road Committees

Highway Department Well Represented in Groups

The Minnesota highway department is represented on 87 committees of all national organizations in the highway field, the department reports. This gives Minnesota close contact with and a big voice in new construction, maintenance, administrative and materials development.

Forty staff members of the department serve on committees of the National Highway Research Board (NHRB), the American Association of State Highway Officials (AASHO), the American Road Builders Association (ARBA) the American Society of Civil Engineers (ASCE), the American Right of Way Association (ARWA) and various other organizations.

The committees are technical and advisory and play a major role in coordinating the efforts of the states in developing and disseminating new methods in construction, materials, uniform traffic control devices, safety promotion, electronics and all other phases in the highway field.

Of the 87 positions held by Minnesota highway department personnel, 12 are chairmen, one is president, one is a national director, one is a presiding officer and two are executive secretaries.

Beef Calf Sale Set Saturday, Nov. 2d

RRV Livestock Assn. Sale in Winter Shows Arena

The Red River Valley Livestock association will again sponsor a sale of beef steer calves to be held on Saturday, November 2, at the Red River Valley Winter Shows building in Crookston starting at 1:00 p. m.

Approximately 50 steer calves will be made available for sale by Minnesota breeders in the Red River Valley. All three beef breeds will be represented, and approximately equal numbers of Angus, Hereford, and Shorthorn calves will go through the ring. All calves will be inspected prior to the sale to determine their suitability for project work. Dean Workman of Borup will serve as auctioneer.

The terms of the sale are cash; if credit is desired, arrangements should be made with the clerk prior to the purchase of any animals. Donald T. Lawler, treasurer of the Red River Valley Livestock Association, will serve as clerk of the sale. The sale is open to the public.

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture

A mile of terraces built in 1961 have reduced runoff and erosion and the number of needed waterways for Maynard Nagel, Blue Earth county SCD cooperator. The terraces were designed by Soil Conservation Service technicians and the cost was shared by the ACP. Nagel told Tom Milbradt, SCS engineer at Mankato, that "they really do the job and I have had no trouble farming them."

A tilling demonstration sponsored by the Clay SWCD and a local implement firm showed how a tool bar cultivator, a disc plow and a rotary tiller worked alongside each other on a 15 acre field of combined wheat. About 75 local farmers were on hand for the demonstration and were impressed with the way these modern tillage tools can be adjusted to do either the job of stubble mulch or residue management. Total residue on the surface before tillage was approximately 3600 pounds per acre. Each implement operator attempted to leave exactly one ton of residue in a once-over operation and one-half ton in a twice-over operation. Both practices are being used this year by many farmers in the district in an attempt to better protect and manage topsoil and conserve soil moisture.

A co-operator with the Wilkin SWCD since 1945, Theodore Peet of Wolverton, has planted 6½ miles of one-row field shelterbelts during the last five years. He finds that he gets better yields due to better soil moisture as a result of better winter snow cover and less moisture evaporation during the growing season. Peet says he plants Siberian elm almost exclusively, and spaced about three feet apart in one-row belts about every 40 rods. He says that heavy soils are more subject to wind erosion than is often realized and the trees help control soil and fertility losses.

Aitkin county SWCD cooperator, Dan Boggs, says, "I have never dared do this before on legumes." Boggs was referring to his sheep flock grazing on a lush growth of birdsfoot trefoil. He established the seeding last year and made new seedings again this year on another field. By faithfully following all recommendations he says he has experienced good success with the birdsfoot trefoil.

Every year youths spend in high school can be worth an average of $17,500 to each of them. A full four years can be worth $70,000. That is how much extra they will earn on an average over their working lives by going to school, according to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

How wonderful is enthusiasm. Mom and Dad will forgive this noise. They catch the spirit and joy of their young drummer boy.

Enthusiasm is not limited to small fry. But as we grow older, these joyous moments when our spirits ride high, wear thin and are diluted by everyday cares.

This is true of our religious experience. Often we are filled with eager enthusiasm when we pray and worship. Our church can guide this energy in channels of service and love.

But often our religious enthusiasm fails. In these moments when our spirits lag, we are sustained and encouraged by the enthusiasm of our fellow Christians.

How wonderful is enthusiasm. Come to church to have it renewed — Sunday and always.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL. ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

AT GREENFIELD VILLAGE

Open Pioneer Doctor's Office

In this Pioneer Country Doctor's office one hundred years ago, a little girl might have received extracts of ragweed, wild snakeroot, skunk cabbage or wahoo berries for her pains. Today, as she visits Greenfield Village, she can look with wonder at funny old bottles and kegs of medicine, with special thanks for the progress of modern medicine. As a tribute to pioneer country doctors, the office of a mid-nineteenth century physician has been dedicated in Greenfield Village at Dearborn, Mich. First used as a rural schoolhouse in Tekonsha, Mich., the small, red building was bought by Dr. Alonson Bingley Howard in the 1850s. Here he practiced medicine until his death in 1883. The Howard family then padlocked the door; leaving the contents of the Doctor's Office to acquire the strangeness of time. More than sixty years later, the building was offered for permanent enshrinement in Greenfield Village. Dedicated October 15 as a highlight of the Henry Ford Centennial, Dr. Howard's office joins nearly 100 buildings transplanted in Greenfield Village to bring history to life as they tell the 300-year story of America's past.

School Board Has Review Of Refunding

Advised on Methods To Save Money Under Recent Legislation

Review of possible bond refunding and discussion of new school construction took place at the regular meeting of the Thief River Falls board of education Tuesday evening. A report was also heard from Richard Edlund, senior high school principal.

Representatives of the T. G. Evensen company, bonding consultants, appeared before the board to explain possible refunding of bond issues under recently-enacted legislation. After reporting on the changes, the men presented estimates on savings which could be accomplished by the school district by refunding two former bond issues. Action was tabled to a later meeting.

George Klein and "Curly" Roberts of the architectural firm supervising new school construction here, also appeared before the board. Klein stated that the firm would make about 40 trips for on-site inspection of construction, spending about two days in the city each time. Roberts will be making most of these trips since he is familiar with the project and the desires of the board.

Hammel & Green was also designated as architect for remodeling to be done in the present science departments and the area vocational school.

A resolution was officially adopted for the purchase of new property near the Washington elementary school. The purchase was authorized at a previous meeting of the board. Equivalence certificates were also approved for Darrell Johnson and Clarence Dimmen who had completed U. S. Armed Forces Institute courses and examinations. Several other items listed on the agenda were tabled to a later meeting of the board.

Bank Debits Here up 16 Pct. in Sept.

Federal Reserve Bank Says State Rise Is 2 4Pct.

The volume of bank debits reported by a sample of Ninth district cities for the month of September rose 21 percent from the same time last year, and totals for the first nine months of 1963 indicated a 9 percent gain from the comparable 1962 period, acording to the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis.

In Thief River Falls, the bank debits total was reported at $9,487,000, a 16 percent gain from the same time last year and a cumulative nine percent gain over the first nine months of 1962.

Minnesota's total September dollar volume recorded a 24 percent increase from last year and an increase of 10 percent for the first nine months of 1963 in comparison to the same period in 1962.

(Bank debits figures represent the dollar volume of checks drawn by depositors against their bank accounts. Most of these checks go in payment for goods, services and debts, and as such, may be considered an indicator of changes in general business volume. However unusual transactions during any one month resulting in checks that are not associated with business volume in any given city may detract from the reliability of the debits as an indicator for that month.)

Traffic Inventory Wins State Award

Results of the 1963 annual traffic inventory program for Thief River Falls was presented by Leo Steinmetz, representing the National Safety Council and the Minnesota Highway department, at the noon meeting of the Thief River Falls Rotary club on Monday.

The inventory program is administered by the National Safety Council and comes to cities and states at no charge. It is financed mainly from a grant of $50,000 annually from the Automotive Safety Foundation, Steinmetz said. In Minnesota the program is coordinated by the safety division of the highway department.

Thief River Falls is one of 74 cities in Minnesota with population of more than 5,000 which participate in the program. The 1963 report, based on 1962 records, showed that this city had a total program mark of 78 per cent as compared with 75 per cent a year ago.

By achieving a score of more than 60 per cent in all sections of the inventory and recording no traffic fatalities last year, Thief River Falls received a plaque award in recognition of its progressive accident prevention program.

Presentation of the plaque was made at a meeting of the Pennington County Safety Council Monday evening at the Rex Cafe. This city was one of two in the state to achieve a score of more than 60 per cent in all sections.

"In addition to drawing upon the collective thinking and experience of a large number of professionals," Steinmetz said, "the analysis provides a continuing guide to cities and states for building their traffic management programs by pointing out deficiencies where they exist and making recommendations for their improvement."

A review of the analysis summary shows a number of facts as follows:

Although there were no fatal accidents in 1962, there were 35 non-fatal injury accidents, substantially higher than the previous three-year average of 23. Accident record activities totaled 94 per cent, a high performance with emphasis placed on use of records to reduce accidents and their causes.

Traffic engineering rated 72 per cent as compared with 80 per cent

REPORT CARDS for junior and senior high school students at Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls will be issued today, according to Francis Hamerlinck and Richard Edlund, respective junior and senior high school principals. A new system of reporting is being used this year. Pictured above is a sample of the new report card which will be white in color for the first six-week period. One report slip will be issued for each class in which a student is enrolled. Parents are advised by the school to ask their children for the report slips which will give a more complete report than the former cards. Since a duplicate copy is kept at the school, the slips do not need to be signed and are not to be returned. As noted at the bottom of the card, parents having questions about the work of their children in school are to contact the teacher, counselor or principal in that order. Different color cards will be issued each six-week period and parents will be advised of their issuance through a story in the Times.

Elaine's CHATTER

Congressmen are busy people. Along with all the other projects going on, they are making a study of the birds and bees.

Seems that the House Rules Committee is making an investigation of federal spending for research, including the $31,000 grant to study the biology of bumblebees, $47,500 spent to seek evidence of evolutionary developments in birds and $16,000 to help decide to revise the standard of earthworm classifications. One representative was concerned about the lovelife of the Central American toad, which nobody seemed to know about, and another doubted the necessity of $150,000 to study the habits of South Pole moths . . .

Well, now we have known about the birds and bees since we were little, and when it comes to moths . . . domestic or foreign . . . we no longer have to worry. Almost every thing we wear today is labeled "moth-proof."

If you want something truly different in a winter coat, we suggest that you see one of these Sycamore, Jo-Moor, Barnett or Marlee and if you want to "make yours mink" try one with the crushed pleats, which can be worn hooked, ring fashion, or open to span the shoulders. Black with ranch mink collar is still tops.

Starting Wednesday and through Saturday you can register at Elaine's for one of the Free Turkey's we are giving away . . . no purchases necessary, just come in and register.

4H Work Offers Many Youth Opportunities

Do you want to have fun while you gain useful skills? Do you want to train your talents and develop your personality? Do you want to build character and good citizenship?

If you are between the ages of 9 and 21, you may become a 4-H club member and achieve the above goals. Whether you live in town or in the country, it makes no difference because 4-H is geared to all young people.

A requirement of membership is to carry a club project. There are 25 projects to chose from - a wide enough range to satisfy the interests of any young person. What is a project? A project is a planned activity in which 4-H'ers learn by doing. Each project has activities geared to different age levels.

Many projects are as well suited to youth living in the cities as in rural areas and offer the same fun and benefits, say Carolyn Offerdahl, Pennington county home agent. Automotive, photography, radio speaking, electricity and entomology are just a few.

Girls may want to expand their interests around the home. Through experience in meal planning and preparation, canning and freezing, home improvement & clothing 4-H girls develop new hobbies, find vocations, and get a head start in becoming successful homemakers.

Boys interested in livestock can choose projects in beef, dairy, sheep, swine, paultry, rabbits and horses. Raising a garden, caring for the home yard and participating in forestry and soil conservation are other popular activities for Pennington county 4-H'ers.

All members are encouraged to exhibit and demonstrate their skills. In addition to gaining personal satisfaction, they may win scholarships or other awards. Representatives from each county attend the state fair and the junior livestock show. Other outstanding 4-H'ers are selected for conservation camp and health camp at Itasca state park, the junior leadership conference and other special trips.

So if you are a boy or a girl between the ages of 9 and 21 and interested in becoming a 4-H'er, you should contact a local club leader or the county extension agents as soon as possible to get in on all the events of the club year.

last year. Recommendations made for the city by the Institute of Traffic Engineers are being given consideration. These include a study to determine the need for zoning or building laws requiring off-street parking facilities in connection with new commercial and residential building, additional modern type lighting, marking more crosswalks and development of a master plan including major street and highway planning and traffic engineering.

Police traffic supervision increased from 59 to 65 per cent and arrests for hazardous violations increased from 168 to 265. Additional training is recommended for police supervisors and uniformed officers. "Thief River Falls is making every effort possible to make use of the limited training that is presently offered," Steinmetz added.

Traffic courts rated 83 per cent, slightly lower than last year. School traffic safety education jumped from 46 to 69 per cent and public traffic safety education was rated at 90 per cent or an increase of four per cent.

D. H. Stewart, city engineer, reported on the airport conference held in the Twin Cities, noting that time is short for submitting of final plans to state and federal authorities. It was also noted that C. D. Gustafson had accepted terms for purchase of his land as part of the airport expansion program. He will receive the appraisal price of $17,925 plus $500 for timber value and will be required to pay three-fourths of the 1963 taxes payable in 1964.

City fathers also approved the assessment roll for street lighting on Knight avenue and granted moving permits to Elmer Johnson and Kenneth Bakke for moving buildings in the city. They also ordered a monthly report from the city assessor as to his appraisal on new buildings for which building permits had been granted.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Problems, Problems, Problems

In normal seasons it is always a problem for the Prowler footballers to defeat the Bemidji Lumberjacks, but this season these problems have been compounded. Coaches Bill Herzog and Jerry Westby are having personnel problems, and all because of the epidemic of injuries that have hit the Prowler varsity squad.

Out of action for Friday night's game against the Northwest conference champion Lumberjacks will be center and captain Terry Nelson, quarterback Rick Jensen, end Jerry Forsberg, and tackle Dave Froehle. And doubtful of seeing much action are halfback Rich Nelson, fullback Larry Joppru, and quarterback Buzz Olson. Rich Nelson has an injured right knee, and whether or not he will see action will depend upon his doctor's advice. Buzz Olson has a badly-battered leg, and even if he is given permission to play it will be on a limited basis. And Joppru is favoring a sprained ankle.

Halfbacks Ron Olson and Dale Seefeldt will be available for Friday night's game. Olson missed last week's game because of illness in the family and was out of town. And Seefeldt was nursing a bad cold that was on the verge of becoming pneumonia.

Prowlers Aren't Conceding

But the Prowlers aren't conceding victory to the proud Bemidji squad. Coach Red Wilson's team, and it's a good one, will have to win the game on the Lincoln high school field.

Jim Carrington of the Bemidji Pioneer has forwarded much information on the Lumberjack squad. He tells me that fullback Pat Winkler is the workhorse of the team, having picked up 583 yards in 87 carries. And Winkler leads the squad in scoring with a total of 56 points. Dick Fortier, the quarterback, has scored 43 points during the season.

According to Jim, the Bemidji offense lineup will perhaps be like this: Wally Peterson, left end; Larry Schwart, left tackle; Bob Fortier, left guard; Jerry Fossand, center; Tom Mathews, right guard; John Brouillard, right tackle; and Jeff Musburger, right end. The backfield will have Dick Fortier at quarterback, Winkler at fullback, Marv Hanson at right half, and Bill Bohn at left half. If Ralph Lovering is in sound health he'll be in the backfield at right halfback. Lovering is always a threat when he swings out around left end, and he and quarterback Fortier team up well on the quarterback option play.

Oh yes, I forgot to add that end Ken Larson will be entering the game in a banged-up condition, too.

Kick-off time is at 8:00 p. m.

The Throw was Good

Watching the final game of the World's Series, and noting that error by Joe Pepitone of the New York Yankees on Clete Boyer's throw from third base, there was some question whether or not the throw was high, low, or in-between. It all happened in a hurry, and my impression was that the throw nearly hit the bag. And that was the impression of several other viewers.

But Herb Jung, former resident now residing in the Los Angeles area, has sent me the World Series editions of the Los Angeles Times and the Herald-Examiner. And I have learned that the throw was just about perfect. Says the Herald-Examiner: "It happened when Boyer, after a phenomenal stop of a high hopper stroked by Jim Gilliam, threw to first base. The ball bounced off Pepitone toward the auxiliary scoreboard. Gilliam ran all the way to third, and then home after Willie Davis' sacrifice fly. 'I didn't see the ball', said Pepitone. 'It was a good throw by Boyer, belt high, but it was coming out of those white shirts and the sun behind third base,' he continued. Joe added, "I couldn't see it. I put up my glove and bare hand, to protect, hoping it would hit one of them. But the ball hit me on the right wrist, the forearm, and my chest. I made one error on a thrown ball all season. I only had a total of seven. Nothing like that has ever happened to me before. I've had a good glove and it has treated me well. But in the most important game I get into trouble.' "

And adds the Herald-Examiner: "The Dodgers beat a marvelous team. Let's toast the new champs, not roast the old ones."

Cross-Country Running

The hill-and-dale boys in Region Eight, that is the high school cross-country teams, will be competing here on Saturday morning at the Thief River Golf club.

At 11 o'clock on Saturday the boys will be sent out on the 1.8 mile course, and the low-scoring team (with five runners being counted in the scoring) will be awarded the Region Eight cross-country trophy.

If the weather continues balmy, and the forecast is favorable, why not drive out to the golf club on Saturday for the meet?

Hallock Team Tips Newfolden 12 to 7

Nordics Play Lancaster Friday at Newfolden

The Hallock Bears dampened Homecoming Day for the Newfolden Nordics as they edged them 12 to 7 in a game played on Wednesday, October 9. Both teams played an excellent hard-socking game. Mickey Olson scored both of Hallock's touchdowns in the second period, while Newfolden's lone touchdown came in the fourth period on a Jerry to Terry Strandquist pass play. Merlin Anderson bulled over for the extra point.

The Nordics received and immediately started a drive from their own 25 yard line which carried to the Bears 4 yard line where the Bears held. A quirk of fate here found the Nordics with fourth and four yards to go and the play failed to pick up the necessary yardage but Hallock was detected for a 15 yard penalty but the half the distance to the goal line didn't even give the Nordics a first down. Hallock drove the length of the field for their touchdown in the second quarter making many of the first downs by the length of the ball and finally Olson scored on a 15 yard pass play from Doug Streed. The Nordics held a running attempt for the extra point. The Nordics came roaring back to midfield with just a short time to go in the first half when Mickey Olson stopped them in midfield on a pass interception in the flat which he carried for 55 yards for a touchdown.

Each team made concerted drives which were thwarted during the third quarter and early in the fourth quarter, the Nordics scored on their pass play good for 35 yards with the fullback plunging over for the extra point.

The Nordics now have a 3-2 record in conference play good for second place in the Top-of-State League but four teams, Hallock, Stephen, Baudette, and Kennedy are tied for first place.

The Nordics entertain the Lancaster Cardinals on Friday, October 18, in what will be the last appearance for many of the players on the Nordic squad who are seniors. These include: Terry and Jerry Strandquist, Merlin Anderson, Keith Grandstrand, Kenny Anderson, Bruce Elseth, Jon Fosholm, John Tandberg, Alan Leigh, Kenny Carlson, Larry Harstad and John Bjorsness. The Nordics finish the season at Warroad on Friday, October 25th, in a night game.

Cross-country Squads to Vie for Region Title Here

Coach Roger Solheim's Prowler cross-country squad will be defending its Region Eight title in the meet to be held here on Saturday morning, Oct. 19.

The teams competing in the meet, which will be run over the 1.8 mile course at the Thief River Golf club, in addition to the Prowlers, are the Bemidji Lumberjacks, Roseau Rams, Crookston Pirates, Red Lake Falls Eagles, Warren Ponies, and the Fosston Greyhounds. And there will be a runner from Middle River competing in the individual event.

The meet will be run at 11:00 a. m., and the winning team (seven members), and the first three placers in the individual time placing, will be eligible to participate in the state high school cross-country tournament.

Schedule, Friday, Oct. 18
Bemidji at Thief River Falls
Roseau at Crookston
East Grand Forks at Grand Forks Central

The defending conference champion Bemidji Lumberjacks will be heavily favored to retain their league title when they meet an injury-riddled Thief River Falls club at Thief River Falls on Friday night. Coach Red Wilson's Bemidji team has racked up three conference wins (the Jacks are undefeated in their season's play), and by scoring a win on Friday night the Lumberjacks would clinch the title.

In last week's conference play, in a game played at Crookston, coach Wilson's squad, with fullback Pat Winkler scoring three touchdowns, trounced the Crookston Central Pirates, 39 to 6.

Another important game on this Friday's slate, and the outcome of which will have a bearing on the runner-up honors in the conference standings, will find the Roseau Rams meeting the Crookston Central team at Crookston. The Rams and the Pirates have identical records in conference play, having one win and one loss on their respective slates. And on their play against the Bemidji Lumberjacks it appears that the Rams and the Pirates are very evenly matched. Bemidji, a couple of weeks ago, defeated Roseau, 32 to 0, and last week the Jacks defeated the Pirates, 39 to 6.

Highway Dept. Plans for 20 Years Listed

The Minnesota highway department has just published a comprehensive needs study which shows construction needs totaling $1,211,693,900 over the 20-year period 1962-1981. This figure does not include estimated costs for right of way or preliminary engineering.

Based on the present 11,817-mile trunk highway system, it is estimated that 11,095 miles will need improvement during the 20-year period. Average cost for improvement to minimum standards is $109,208 per mile.

The four main areas covered in the study were:

1. Sections inadequate to handle present traffic when compared to certain minimum conditions.
2. Sections inadequate to handle anticipated traffic 20 years hence.
3. The nature and amount of construction required to bring the sections up to specified standards and
4. The cost of the required improvements.

In estimating the sections needing improvement, the study unit has also projected needed improvements as they will occur during the 20-year period. As of the time of this study, there are 7,630 miles in need of improvement; 10 years hence, there will be 1,680 more miles in need of improvements; and by 1981, an additional 1,785 miles will require improvements.

Of the five major classifications of projects, the greatest number of miles, 5,944, will be in need of regrading, widening and surfacing. Of lesser mileage but with a higher price tag are 3,717 miles recommended for complete construction or reconstruction. Other categories and their mileages are: surfacing, 813; miscellaneous construction, 525; and base and surfacing, 98 miles.

One of the most pressing types of improvements needed is the widening or rebuilding of the 20-foot concrete pavements, particularly those with the dangerous "lip" or mountable curbs. There are presently 1,690 miles of this category in the state highway system. Of this total, 1,598 miles are recommended for complete or partial construction—1,226 miles to adequate two-lane roads, and 372 miles to multi-lane divided facilities.

The state's 2,467 bridges have also come under close scrutiny by the needs study. Of this total, 1,053 are considered adequate and 1,857 in need of reconstruction or replacement. Estimated cost would be about a quarter billion dollars.

The needs study has also looked into a possible reorganization of the state highway system. At present it consists of constitutional routes and legislative routes. The routes originally assigned to the system in 1921 are constitutional, and those subsequently approved by the legislature are called legislative routes. No routes can be added or deleted without legislative action.

As years have passed, it has become increasingly apparent that many of the routes are no longer of statewide importance. This fact was recognized by the Automotive Safety Foundation in its 1954 report. The Foundation at this time recommended that the state highway system be reduced to 8,750 miles including urban extensions. The remaining 3,000 plus miles would be returned to local jurisdiction.

However, the new 20-year needs study cites 1,374 miles of local service roads which should be returned to local jurisdiction and another 1,006 miles which should be considered for return.

In addition, as segments of the Interstate are completed, 538 miles of paralleling state routes should be gradually phased out of the state system.

If the mileage of the state highway system were reduced to 9,796 miles, the cost of the needed improvements would be reduced from $1,211 billion to $1,029 billion; a savings of $182.5 million.

The Minnesota Highway Needs Study is strictly an engineering analysis; therefore, the problem of securing additional funds was not within its scope. However, based on the anticipated funds available to the state each year for the construction of highways, approximately $35 million is available for regular state highway constuction. The major portion of the federal aid funds available is earmarked by the federal government for Interstate construction. To improve the regular state highway system as it now exists, an additional $25.5 million would be needed for each of the 20 years; for System No. 1, $19.8 million additional each year; and for System No. 2, $16.5 million additional. All figures are exclusive of right-of-way and preliminary engineering costs.

Highway Dept. Set for Winter Season

Department to Be Ready for Snowplowing Nov. 5

Since winter conditions could be as close as a month away, considering the possibility of an early snowfall or heavy, freezing rain, the state highway department has begun preparations for winter maintenance.

The department is now readying its equipment, assemblying snowplowing units to put them through a trail run no later than Nov. 5, and seeing to accessibility and supply of calcium chloride and sand for ice control.

District offices in the state are also contacting municipalities to make agreements for joint snow removal operations on streets that carry trunk highway designations. Such arrangements keep streets from becoming narrowed with piles of snow that create traffic hazards and traffic congestion.

Since 1953 it has been a policy of the department to make arrangements, except where maintenance agreements are in effect, for the department to load the snow and for the municipalities to haul and dump it.

Newspaper Week Pays Tribute To Freedom of Press

"Newspapers Make a Big Difference in People's Lives" National Theme

This week, October 13-19, is National Newspaper Week. What is it? It's a nationwide celebration which pays tribute to the 1,770 daily and 9,000 weekly newspapers published in this country.

What is it? Its purpose is to emphasize the big difference that newspapers make in your life, the vital role they play in protecting the people's three great freedoms—Freedom of the Press. . .Freedom of Speech. . .and Freedom of Religion.

The freedoms which the press protects make an important difference in your life. They guarantee your right to KNOW what your government is doing, to VOICE your own opinions about current problems, and to BELIEVE in whatever ideals you choose, even if they don't coincide with the ideology of the men in power.

There are many places in the world today—not just in Russia—where editors are throttled for "Causing public unrest" of "insulting" the government. Cuba is one of those places, and it is just a long swim from the U. S. coast. People are not free where the press is gagged. The big difference between our lives and theirs is a free press.

Newspapers make a difference in people's lives every day. Their news and sports articles tell what has happened in the world; Their editorials tell why. Their features and cartoons offer a world of entertainment; the ads, a complete shopper's guide in a nutshell. And that's not all. This newspaper, every newspaper, is constantly trying to improve itself, to serve you better, every day.

Join with us in saluting National Newspaper Week. America's newspapers and the freedoms they preserve for you indeed make a big difference in your life.

"Without free speech no search for truth is possible; without free speech no discovery of truth is useful; without free speech progress is checked and the nations no longer march forward toward the nobler life which the future holds for man. Better a thousandfold abuse of free speech than denial of free speech. The abuse dies in a day, but the denial slays the life of the people, and entombs the hope of the race."

—Charles Bradlaugh

Just Another Day

Representative Richard Poff of Virginia, dug up the following facts according to the National Review:

"A British firm sold 47 radar predictors to the Pentagon for $2,145,739. They are declared surplus. The British firm kindly takes them off our hands (still uncrated)—for $114,500. British firm turns around and sells them to Portugal for $493,500. Portugal gets the money to pay for them from the United States. Scoreboard: Portugal has 47 radar predictors; British firm is $2,524,739.60 richer; U. S. is $2,524,739.60 poorer, plus shipping charges which the U. S. paid."

A late report indicates that Representative Poff has not yet learned how much the shipping cots were. Well, really, we're not interested either.

Senate Official Accused

The Senate has voted unanimously to investigate the outside business activities of its previous and present employees. Though his name was not mentioned, the employee whose activities will be investigated is Robert G. Baker who has served as secretary of the Senate majority.

As reported by Cabel Phillips of the New York Times, Mr. Baker:

"At 36 years of age, has been a popular and familiar figure around the upper chamber for more than a decade. He had become a key functionary in the leadership structure keeping Democratic members abreast of developments on the floor and "counting noses" in preparation for critical votes.

"His position was enhanced by a long, intimate relationship with Lyndon B. Johnson as majority leader and Vice President.

"A month ago Mr. Baker was named principal defendant in a $300,000 civil suit. He was charged with having used improper influence to have a food-vending franchise in the plant of a Government electronics subcontractor switched from one company to another in which he had a financial interest."

Several other questionable activities will be looked into, the public has been assured. Whether Mr. Baker was operating for himself alone or was the agent for a group will no doubt be checked as far as possible, although such investigations seldom lead to certain conclusions. However the hearings should be public.

Milk Control Bill Advances

By a vote of 45 to 33 the Senate last week approved a milk marketing control bill that should be beneficial to the dairy industry in general and particularly to that portion of the industry that operates in states that do not provide a large market for fluid milk. The fact that of the 14 senators from the seven northeastern states, including New York, only one supported the measure, indicates that in that area the dairy industry does not look favorably upon the proposed changes. And the fact that those states have much more representation proportionally in the House than they do in the Senate, means that the measure may run into serious difficulty in that body.

As explained by Warren Weaver Jr. in the New York Times:

"The milk legislation generally would permit farmers to establish by referendum, in any marketing area, a system of allotments for each farmer. A farmer would receive a premium price for all milk he produced within his allotment and a lower price for any excess.

"Under the present machinery farmers are paid an average "blend" price between the premium and cheaper rates, for all milk they produce, whether it goes to consumers or swells the surpluses bought by the Government.

"The principal speech against the measure came from Kenneth B. Keating, Republican of New York. He called the proposal "a trap for the farmers in my area" that would lead to "wild-scale dumping of Mid-western milk" in the New York market.

"Senator William Proxmire, Democrat of Wisconsin, who sponsored the bill, said it would not affect consumer prices.

"Mr. Proxmire insisted that dumping into a competing market was "specifically prohibited" by the bill.

"The Department of Agriculture estimates that the two-price plan could reduce the annual milk surplus by 600,000,000 pounds and increase farmers' income by $7,000,000 the first year."

It is encouraging to know that the leaders of the dairy industry throughout the country are working together in an attempt to find reasonable solutions for their problems. There are regional problems that merit special consideration but these problems are not insurmountable if there is a sincere desire to solve them.

Woudn't It Be Wise?

Our relations with Canada have been worsening steadily and that is a situation about which our government should start showing some concern. The New York Times has recognized in its news columns the cross-fire of criticism on various subjects between American and Canadian officials but the American press as a whole ignores the differences. Not so the Canadian press.

In its Thursday issue the Winnipeg Tribune featured a hostile picture of President Kennedy under a banner headline, "U. S. Threatens Price War over Canadian Grain Policy." A Canadian Press dispatch from Washington stated:

"A U. S. agriculture department spokesman said various measures under consideration might include increased use of American wheat give-away programs, special refunds to customers buying massive amounts of American wheat and other special deals tying big wheat sales to the sale of other U. S. commodities at low prices."

The Friday edition followed through with a bolder headline quoting Prime Minister Pearson as snarling, "No U. S. Intimidation—Mike." From Ottawa Trade Minister Sharps was reported as telling the Commons that the United States had released confidential Canadian wheat sales information. He states:

"We are not happy about the disclosure of confidential information provided to the U. S. government, particularly about sales that the Canadian wheat board has made to Japan."

In another column of that front page, Labor Minister Allan MacEachen expressed concern about the failure to secure American cooperation in dealing with the Great Lakes shipping strike.

Our Canadian neighbors obviously are offended by what they consider to be our indifference to their interests, and that is extremely unfortunate. It appears that we haven't many friends left in any other part of the world and we wonder if it wouldn't be wise to make a special effort to remain on friendly terms with our North American neighbors.

Defending Europe

A massive troop lift to Euope will be this month's Kennedy spectacular. A full armored division consisting of some 16,000 men will be flown to Germany where they will join with other troops stationed there under the control of the supreme allied commander. Flying the division over and back will require 300 Air Force troop carriers.

The purpose of the operation, presumably, will be to demonstrate that we can reduce substantially the size of our armed forces stationed in Europe and still be able to maintain an effective defense organization if an emergency should develop. Maintaining our military power in Europe has been terrifically expensive and has been a big factor in the decline of our gold reserves. Anything that will help to restore the health of our sick dollar is worth while.

But considering the present strength of the European economy, why not serve notice on the European nations that from now on they will have to contribute substantially to the cost of European defense—that we will continue to assume a fair share of the responsibility along with other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, but only our fair share?

And we are not impressed with the need for proving to the Europeans by a costly demonstration that we have the capacity to move troops into Europe in a matter of hours. If a real emergency did develop our commercial airlines could be pressed into service immediately and moving a single division would be no problem at all. Surely the Europeans are just as well informed about the speed of jet planes as we are.

The first logical step in the reorganization of European defense would be to remove most of our military forces and replace them with natives of the countires to be defended.

In Indianapolis, an insurgent official of the International Barbers Union has proclaimed the $3.50 haircut as the goal of the nation's barbers, Russell Baker of the New York Times Service tels us. That seems reasonable. As we approach the ten-cent dollar we will have to expect prices to advance. That is one of the unpleasant things about inflation. We handle more dollars that buy less.

Final Showing for This Season

This will be our final showing for this year. With the beautiful Indian summer weather we've been experiencing the past few weeks, it hardly seems possible that summer has come to an end. But, it's now the end of October and we can no longer rely on the weather man to give us warm evenings. So, once again, it's time to bid you goodbye until sunny, warm weather arrives in the spring.

We wish to express our appreciation for the excellent patronage we have had this past season. We'll do our level best to provide you with an even better schedule next season.

Let us be the first to wish you a
MERRY CHRISTMAS AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR

Revolution in Rehabilitation

Local Hospital Experiment Cited at Medical Congress

Success of a program originated at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls will apparently lead to an expanded program of similar nature in the state. The program involves a new innovation in postgraduate education in physical medicine.

Dr. Miland E. Knapp, clinical professor of physical medicine and rehabilitation at the University of Minnesota and senior consultant at Kenny Rehabilitation Institute, conducts the local program. He recently presented a talk on the experiment at the American Congress of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation at Dallas, Texas.

His paper states that three methods are commonly used for postgraduate education. These include short courses at a university center at which a certain subject is reviewed in detail; a single lecture in the local community at a medical meeting or other short program; and the use of seminars over a number of weeks on related subjects.

"I have frequently participated in all these methods of postgraduate teaching but have felt that they are certainly inadequate and have wondered whether they are worth the time and money expended on them," Dr. Knapp said. He will conduct programs similar to the one used here for the past two years in three comunities after January 1, 1964.

Excerpts from the paper presented in Dallas are as follows:

"Since the fall of 1961 I have been involved in an experiment in postgraduate education where I have gone to the same community once a month to assist the local physicans in learning more about physical medicine and rehabilitation." (Reference here is made to the Thief River Falls Program.)

"This program was originally started at the request of the local hospital medical staff and administrator. They had recognized the need for rehabilitation in the community and had set aside some 15 beds for the purpose. The specialized personnel, however, consisted only of a physical therapist and a nurse who had been trained in rehabilitation nursing. Otherwise, the hospital personnel was no different from that of any other acute voluntary hospital. A special fund for rehabilitation which had been established by the community finances the operation.

"The Medical population of the city consists of eight doctors, one a trained general surgeon and the others general practitioners in addition to a trained radiologist who

Prospect for Sugar Plant Is Improved

USDA Revokes Acres Previously Allocated To Four Other States

Prospects have improved for in a new sugarbeet factory in Minnesota according to information released by Senator Eugene J. McCarthy.

"Last Wednesday the Department of Agriculture revoked acreage previously committed to farmers in other states. This means that at least one new factory and some additional acreage for existing plants will be available for the 1965 crop," McCarthy said. "Hearings have also been scheduled for commitment of sugarbeet acreage to supply two new factories begining with the 1966 crop.

"Minnesota is one of the great sugarbeet producing areas of the nation," he added. "Our soil is well suited for beet production and Minnesota farmers have an established reputation as efficient producers."

The department has reportedly revoked commitments of acreage to farms in Arizona and in northwestern Iowa, eastern South Dakota and northeastern Nebraska because proposed factories to process the beets could not be built as scheduled. Sugarbeet plant disease and inability to secure financing for the factories were given as reasons for failure of the projects.

The Department of Agriculture has set December 10 as the date for informal public hearings in Washington to receive requests for acreage reserve. The distribution of the sugarbeet acreage reserve is made by the Secretary of Agriculture on the basis of several criteria.

County Taxpayers Pay $1,030,161 in Real Estate Tax

Taxpayers Association Says Total Is Up From $753,791 Levy in 1958

Thursday, October 31, is the final day for payment without penalty of the second half of real estate taxes for 1962, the Minnesota Taxpayers association warned today.

An eight per cent penalty attaches to taxes unpaid on November 1. Charles P. Stone, General Counsel of the taxpayer group, said.

In Pennington county, Stone noted, real estate taxes payable this year total $1,030,161.24. This compares with a total levy payable in 1958—just five years ago—of only $753,791.87.

"For the state as a whole, real estate taxes levied for 1962 for state, county, school district and local purposes, and payable this year, reached a record high of $426,851,599.54," Stone added. "The comparable figure for the 1957 taxes payable in 1958 was only $282,205,132.06. All indications point to another new high mark for this year's levies, payable in 1964.

"Under Minnesota's present tax structure, heavy reliance is placed on the taxation of property to produce the revenues needed to meet expanding costs of government at every level within the State.

"Until the State Legislature decides that the time is ripe for a thorough-going program of tax reform, the owners of homes, farms and other property can have little hope for relief."

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. FRED MONROE

An excellent choice for a meal-in-a dish, and one that can be popped into the oven before the homemaker leaves for church or whatever calls her away from the kitchen for awhile, is this chicken hot dish.

It can also be the means for the hostess to remain with her guests instead of spending all of her time in the kitchen. You'll find it a bit imaginative, and a compliment-getter. With a crisp salad, you have all the components of a completely nutritious, completely delicious meal.

CHICKEN HOT DISH

- 10 chicken breasts or 1 large chicken, cut up
- 1¼ cups raw Uncle Ben rice
- ¼ pound butter
- 1 can cream of chicken soup
- 1 can cream of mushroom soup
- 1 can cream of celery soup
- Salt and pepper

Lay raw chicken skin-side up, in a large rectangular Pyrex baking dish. Pour the soup and rice mixture over the meat, which has been lightly salted and sprinkled with pepper. (Caution . . . the soups are slightly salty, undiluted, and a lesser amount of salt should suffice.) Pour the melted butter over the top and sprinkle with paprika. Bake, uncovered, for 2½ hours at 275 degrees.

Mrs. Monroe, whose husband is a retired railroad conductor, doesn't have any one particular hobby, she says . . . her interests are quite varied. Leisure-time pursuits are craft and art work, and she says that she probably loves her kitchen duties best of all. She has taken part in all sorts of community and church activities, belonging to Community Methodist Church, here, and has held many positions with civic and fraternal groups, serving as officer in many auxiliaries, among them O.E.S., American Legion, and the Woman's club. We could enlarge on this facet of her life, but Mrs. Monroe modestly requested that we gloss over it . . . She calls herself a "house-mother" to the five or six members of the teacher training classes which for many years have rented out the upstairs of the Monroe home.

She and her husband like to attend baseball games, and they travel occasionally. They have two sons and a daughter, all of them married, and eight grandchildren. We suspect that these occasion some of their traveling.

Dr. Fukushima Is Guest of BPW Club on Tuesday

Business and Professional Women's supper and business meeting was held on Tuesday evening, October 15, at the Rex Cafe. Because various members planned to attend the Junior class play at the high school later in the evening, the group met at a slightly earlier hour than the usual 6:30 meeting time.

Special guest of the group was Dr. Helen Fukushima, newest member of the staff of Northwestern hospital here. She was presented by Miss Emma Tandberg, chairman of the October program on "Legislation," and spoke on life and customs in Japan, the land of her ancestry. She told of the effect that Japan's heritage has had on legislative trends in the past and the changes that are taking place in the present.

President Clarice Collins conducted the regular business session. Discussion included the sale of gift items for the holidays as a money-making project for the club. A recap of current events of the past month on world, national and state levels was made by Frances Shanahan and Mrs. Flora Allison and presented by Mrs. Allison.

Wildlife Projects Finished in Area

Work Done at Red Lake and In Clearwater County

Conservation work program crews have completed several wildlife development projects in time for sportsmen to make use of before winter arrives.

At the Red Lake wildlife management area, work crews have cleared eight campsites, erected latrines and picnic tables, cleared an access road and mowed 50 miles of trail and boundary line.

At Lost and Long lakes in Clearwater county an access site was developed including a boat launching ramp, parking lots, swimming beach and campsites. Fifteen state-owned wildlife areas in the vicinity have also been posted.

Other projects completed recently by CWP crews include development of northern pike rescue sites, construction of a water control structure and improvment of waterfowl nesting areas.

Presently, there are 498 formerly unemployed workers engaged on CWP projects. Over $216,000 has been paid out to date on salaries to workers and another $63,000 spent on supplies. Approximately one half of the $500,000 originally set aside for the CWP program is available for completion of the many other projects now underway.

MANY PEOPLE ARE CONCERNED about the recent action taken by the Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health association (Christmas Seal organization) board of directors. The action involves a change in policy whereby no chest x-ray films will be subsidized by Christmas Seal funds other than those taken of initial reactors among students as identified in school tuberculin testing surveys.

The policy change further provides that subsidization of students' initial x-ray films will be discontinued as of May 31, 1964. According to reports, this policy concerns all chest x-ray films except those taken on the Christmas Seal mobile x-ray unit.

No change has been announced in the method of providing revenue, so it is apparently safe to assume that the mailing of Christmas Seals to prospective purchasers will continue. This campaign produces about half a million dollars in revenue for the association each year. More than $40,000 comes annually from the sale in the Northwest Region which includes Pennington county.

Within the organization itself, the question is being raised, "What are they going to do with the money?" On the surface it would appear that the question was a legitimate one.

In a news release sent out by the association after the board decision had been made, it was noted that the action was necessary "in order to make available additional funds for our expanding program of tuberculosis eradication and the control of other respiratory diseases." Since other release from the association state that tuberculosis is not wiped out, the change in policy seems a little premature and contradictory.

In its history the MTHA has a good record in tuberculosis control. It has now expanded into research on other respiratory diseases, and work needs to be done to find causes and cures here. But the tuberculin test and chest x-ray of reactors have combined to be the biggest weapon in the fight against tuberculosis. To give up pursuit in order to change battlefields doesn't make sense—at least not to a lot of people.

This writer for one, and there are others, will have to be convinced that the policy change is wise. If the association expects continued support, it should make known the reasons and what is being proposed in the "expanding program."

Maybe it didn't happen in Thief River Falls, but a teacher is said to have walked into a classroom and noticed four boys on their knees in a corner. "What are you doing?" she asked in shocked tones. 'Shooting dice," the urchins replied. "Well, all right,' sighed the relieved teacher. "For a second I thought you might be praying."

Soo Line Reports Freight Car Lack

21 Elevators on Line in N. Dak. Blocked Last Week

With fall crop movements making their usual heavy demands on transportation, area railroads reported there is a severe freight car shortage.

The Soo line called it one of the worst ever experienced and President Leonard Murray wired the Association of American Railroads Tuesday demanding that more boxcars be assigned to Minnesota and the Dakotas.

The Great Northern had no definite figures but did report that it was operating with several thousand fewer boxcars than normal. The shortage was reported most serious in the wheat country.

The Soo said 21 elevators along its lines in North Dakota were blocked Monday because there were no cars.

Railmen cited a tieup of 8,000 cars, awaiting unloading for export in the Pacific Northwest. Congestion became so heavy the Interstate Commerce Commission ordered temporary embargo on grain headed there.

In addition to its grain customers, the Soo Line said it was having difficulty in finding enough cars to serve the large paper mills on its lines in central and northern Wisconsin.

Funeral services were held last Tuesday at Gonvick with interment in the Samhold church cemetery. Byron Bratvold was born Feb. 1, 1950, at Thief River Falls to Edwin and Lena Bratvold and first attended school in Pennington county. At the time of his death he was a member of the eighth grade class at Gonvick.

'U' Men See Decline in Farm Income for 1963

Farm economists at the University of Minnesota have issued a less-than-cheery estimate of agricultural income when this year's figures are added up.

But they see a few bright spots for next year.

For this year, the economists said that little change in cash farm receipts will couple with heavier production expenses to probably bring net farm income below the $12.6 billion farmers pocketed last year.

Major factors across the nation this year were a rising demand for farm products because of a rising population and higher incomes, but a matching of the demand with increased food supplies. This resulted in little change in farm prices.

Livestock prices dropped during 1963, but they were just about offset by higher crop prices.

For 1964, the university farm experts say profit prospects for hog production are fair to good.

Hog prices have edged downward and may dip some more in the final months of this year, the economists said. The profit opportunities may come in the early months of 1964 as demand for pork expands and prices edge back upwards.

"Most of this improvement will come through higher prices for competing meats," said the university report. The report said that in a well-managed hog operation all production costs-about $13 per hundred pounds- should be more than covered by all hogs farrowed between now and next summer.

The outlook for dairy farmers is for no drastic price changes in 1964.

The outlook is good on dairy steers for the next couple of years, with high interest in feeding out plainer cattle.

Beef men have brighter prospects than a year ago, but cattle feeding returns are still likely to stay below the 1963-64 average.

Local Hospital Program To Be Copied by Others

serves that hospital and a few other hospitals in the area.

"Under this arrangement I make visits once a month to the hospital. These visits take the entire day and evening. In the morning I see in-patients in consultation with the attending doctor, the physical therapist and the rehabilitation nurse. Sometimes the problem is diagnosis but more commonly the problem is that of treatment. This gives an opportunity to teach the concepts of total rehabilitation care, community and psycological problems that arise. Many of these people are in the older age groups so geriatric problems arise in the course of their long-term chronic disability.

"In the afternoon a clinic is held for problem out-patients. The doctor is invited to bring cases from his practice which he feels would benefit by physiatric consultation. All of the doctors attended the clinic together and our experience has been that there is a rather free discussion of the patient and the diagnostic and treatment problems presented.

A thorough evaluation of the problems relating to physical medicine and rehabilitation is made and a prescription worked out, not only as to treatment in the physical therapy department of the hospital but also involving after-care in the home or in other treatment facilities that might be available.

"Attendance of the physicans at these sessions has been phenomenal. All of the physicans in the local community are present at one time or another during the afternoon. They are sometimes called away for emergencies but their office practice is closed during that time and the attendance is very close to a hundred percent. This has kept the same for almost two years and testifies to the continued interest maintained by the clinic.

"Physicians in neighboring communities bring in some of their patients from time to time also. In this area a neighboring community means that it may be as much as 50 miles distant so that this constitutes a real effort on the part of the practical nature of the information presented.

"In the evening a lecture is given on some subject in the field of physical medicine and rehabilitation. Emphasis is always placed on practical information. Sometimes we will just take a subject and discuss it in an informal manner. Since there are only 10 or 12 people present this is entirely feasable. Sometimes I think the best results are obtained by this type of free and informal discussion.

"The deep and continued interest in physical medicine and rehabilitation fostered by this program is proved by the fact that the hospital is now constructing a 36-bed rehabilitation and chronic care addition to its present 150 beds. Provisions are being made for physical and occupational therapy, psychological testing, speech therapy, social service and psychiatric care in this unit.

"Word of the entusiastic response to this program has spread to other areas where rehabilitation facilities exist without physchiatric supervision and the state health department has received numerous requests for similar programs in other communities. At the present time we are trying to devise a means of fulfilling this demand by a similar continuing program of postgraduate education in physical medicine and rehabilitation. This will probably be accomplished through the cooperative efforts of the University of Minnesota and the Minnesota Department of Health."

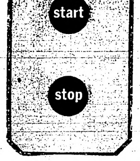
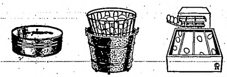
LET ELECTRICITY



DO THE JOB FOR YOU

A switch is a simple thing—even a child quickly learns to operate one. Push a START switch, and electricity lends a powerful hand to operate motors, milk cows, pump water, or give a flood of light. Push a STOP switch and everything goes dark and silent. It's wonderful to realize that a simple flip or push of a switch will let electricity do the job for you.



Pictured above, left to right, are an electric egg incubator, and electric egg washer and an electric egg grader . . . just three of the hundreds of ways that electricity plays a part in doing a better job for farm residents.

Serving Over 48,000 Farm Families With Dependable Rural Light and Power

For the more than 48,000 farm families who live in Minnkotaland, electricity is making life a lot easier by doing a lot more of the jobs. Inside the house, electricity helps you keep comfortable, helps clean the carpet, washes clothes, dries clothes, cooks the meal, and heats your water. Outside, it powers your machines, milks the cows, runs the motors, and gives a flood of light. Every day of the year, it's at your side, ready to help. And, all you do is flip a switch!

Entries Open for Sewing Contest

Eunice Wangberg Is First Pennington Co. Entrant in Contest

Entries are coming in for the "Make It Yourself with Wool Contest" for District 1 from 12 northwestern Minnesota counties - Beltrami, Clearwater, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, East Polk, West Polk, Red Lake and Roseau. Eunice Wangberg of Thief River Falls is the first Pennington county entry. Divisions in the contest will include: SubDeb, 13 thru 15 years; Junior, 14 through 17 years; Senior, 17 through 21 years; and Adult, over 22 years old.

Anyone from 13 years of age and over; non-professional, who can sew may enter and model their 100 per cent American-loomed wool garment at the District 1 contest at Thief River Falls November 30, according to Mrs. G. Milford Peterson, Crooksotn, District 1 director.

All the new fashion colors of fall and winter, elegant rich tones, deeper than the classic tones of last year, are being used. Young teens tend to use the bright, but not gaudy shades, while the high fashion leans toward deeper tones.

Feature fashion colors for 1963 are cranberry red, mallard blue, moss and forest greens, golden topaz, all of the browns and the palest of neutrals including winter white, Mrs. Peterson noted.

The look for fall is well-mannered and youthful with neat, clean lines. It reflects a blending of innocence plus sophistication. To achieve it, teens wear clothes with a natural shape and easy fit.

Contact the District Director, Mrs. G. Milford Peterson, 216 South Minnesota St. Crookston, for entry blanks for the 1963 Make It yourself with Wool Contest.

SPECIAL MEETING

Superintendent Hankerson. Absent: Rufus Olson.

The meeting was held for the purpose of meeting with Carl Lee, N. Melander and Ken Nelson regarding the property location — South ½ Block bordering on Second Street and Kinney Avenue. The School District and above named persons are interested in securing this property. The above persons have purchased a portion of this property at this time but are willing in turn to sell the property to the school district.

A motion was made by Howard Hoel, seconded by John Burtness to instruct our school attorney to prepare the necessary papers to purchase Lots 22, 23, 24, Block 41, Original Townsite to Thief River Falls from Mr. Kenneth Nelson at a price of $2500. Forest Fire Peril in State Mounting

Extremely Dry Weather Causes Grass, Peat Fires

Unseasonable warm dry fall weather has brought a warning from Minnesota's forest fire prevention chief, Don Wilson.

Wilson returned to his office in the conservation department's forestry division headquarters in St. Paul last Monday after an inspection trip to the northern part of the state over the weekend.

He said grass and peat fires have broken out north and west of a line from Bagley to Baudette but other fires have also been reported north of St. Croix state park and around Bemidji.

All fires reported so far have been controlled before they could become major conflagrations, Wilson said.

Leaf fall is now heavy in some areas of the state and the first hard frost will speed up the natural drying of grass and other vegetation now taking place.

Once "cured" vegetation will dry out rapidly even after a heavy rain when subjected to a few hours of warm dry wind.

Conditions are not likely to improve in the near future, said Wilson, since the 30 day weather forecast calls for above normal temperatures and below normal precipitation.

He said the forest fire lookout towers are being manned whenever low humidity or other local conditions made fire occurrance likely.

LOL Authorizes Equities Payment of $3,150,000

Including a distribution made in June of $488,000 to creameries delivering milk for dried milk in 1962, the total equities to be retired by Land O'Lakes in 1963 will be $3,638,000. The 1954 equities will be paid in December.

In 1962 the Land O'Lakes retirement of equities totaled $2,855,000 and in the past 10 years a total of $16,985,000 has been retired.

"Do your work—not just your work and no more, but a little more for the lavishing's sake; that little more which is worth all the rest. And if you suffer as you must, and if you doubt as you must, do your work. Put your heart into it and the sky will clear. Then out of your very doubt and suffering will be born the real joy of life."

Good Action But Late

As we see it the only thing wrong about President Kennedy's approval of the sale of grain to Communist countries was the long delay in reaching a logical conclusion. Other countries, friendly to us, have been making such sales for several years. Our economy has suffered as a result of our failure to act. But Republicans criticism of the President for finally having approved the sales would be stupid strategy in the coming campaign.

Friendly Neighbors

A banner headline in the Financial Post of Toronto, Canada, indicates how well we are getting along without our Canadian neighbors. The headline read "White House Now Thinks Canada Is Just a Nuisance." The lead paragraphs to the story state:

> "Top hands in Ottawa and Washington are still speaking to each other, but the tones are strident and tempers are getting short.
> "Canadian officials in a number of separate government departments are angry with their American opposite numbers, angrier than they have been for a long time.
> "And at the political level, members of the Pearson Cabinet are violently unhappy about the way the spirit of Hyannis Port seems to have evaporated so quickly and completely."

After all we seem to be in trouble with all other nations so why should Canada be an exception?

The United Way Costs Less

The city of Shakopee is experiencing its first United Fund drive, and John Suel, editor of the Shakopee Valley News, hopes the drive will be successful. In an encouraging editorial he points out good reasons why the people of Shakopee should support the united effort. We are glad to pass along a quote from a brochure explaining the United Fund plan with which we agree. In this brochure the people of Shakopee were told:

> "What prompts a city such as Shakopee to organize a United Fund Drive? In all truthfulness, the germ of the United Fund Drive for Shakopee was born out of selfishness.
> "Our town, like countless other towns in this great humanitarian country, has been besieged by fund drives for various charitable organizations. Each of these fund-raising campaigns caught the big-heartedness of segments of our population who served as chairmen, solicitors, and donors. But, no matter how worthy these causes might have been, the fact remains that some twenty or more fund-raising campaigns in Shakopee during the past year utilized the time of our citizens.
> "The bother of collecting and collections mushroomed to gigantic time consuming proportions in the City of Shakopee. The 'gimmicks' of collections caused every one concern. People got tired of answering the doorbell, of passing envelopes, and of serving on committees. Fund raising campaigns had become too regular. Hence, our selfishness; one campaign, one donation, all agencies benefiting."

This explaination tells truthfully the "why" of a United Fund drive. It is a reasonable answer to a problem that is common to all communities. The logic of this approach should assure the success of all United Fund efforts. Common sense supports such an approach to the problems we all recognize. Under a United Fund plan contributions can be spread over a period to time through payroll deductions that are not burdensome to either employees or employers. In this age of installment buying, it is the efficient way of meeting an individual and a community obligation.

One serious weakness of the United Plan, as we have observed it, has been the failure of the organizations that participate in the united effort, to do their part in explaining the need for the particular program they are promoting. Behind each individual organization there is an emotional appeal, and if the United Fund approach is to be abandoned, then these various organizations will have to start "selling" their program again. And much of the money contributed by good citizens, to what they believe are worthy causes, will be spent for advertising and other selling costs.

We are not objecting to emothional appeals. They no doubt are an important factor in any appeal for voluntary contributions. But from our observation the organizations that seek financial support by the United Fund method, are not giving the United Fund effort the support it deserves in explaining to the public their program and the justification for their requests.

We like the United Fund drive way because it is the efficient way, reducing, in terms of dollars and hours of effort, the cost of solicitation. We can afford to give more if we give through an organization that will reduce the overall cost, including the high cost of administration.

Insolvent?

Young people forced into the social security program are not getting an insurance bargain. The National Industrial Conference Board reports that for the fifth time in the last six years more money has been paid out than has been collected by payroll taxes.

The Old Age and Survivors Insurance trust fund reached its peak in 1956 when it had a reserve of $22.5 billion. The fund has now declined to less than $18.3 billion. The reason of course is the generosity of the government in extending the benedits faster than the collections justified.

If a private insurance company were mismanaged in this way the government would bring action against the management on charges of fraud. As Social Security has been mismanaged it undoubtedly is a fraud. Eventually the insolvent institution will have to be bailed out by the taxpayers. But the perpetrators of this fraud will not be sent to prison.

A More Moderate Approach

Attorney General Robert Kennedy is no longer interested in the tough civil rights bill be advocated appearing before the House Judiciary Committee, he urged modification of sweeping provisions on voting public accomodations and the authority of the Justice Department to initiate civil rights suits," according to a UPI report.

This about-face indicates that brother Bobby has finally come to the conclusion that racial equality is not a thing that can be achieved merely by passing a law. As he grows older he may also grow wiser, learning from observation and experience that well-meaning laws sometimes defat their own purposes, retarding rather than advancing a deserving cause. Human beings sometime react in strange ways under pressure.

Politician Bobby could be very helpful to the cause he has championed if he would give greater emphasis to the tremendous progress that already has been made in our approach to racial equality. He and a few fellow politicians have done the nation a great disservice by their failure to recognize past progress and demanding immediate solutions to problems that can be solved only by gradual changes.

A Good Example

The Christian Science Monitor tells us of an army sergeant in Britain who, having been fined for careless driving, asked the court to also revoke his driver's license. The magistrate thought the offense was not that serious, but the soldier voluntarily turned in his license to the police, stating,

> "I'm fit and young (he is 36) but I'm completely unreliable behind the wheel."

He expressed the opinion that some other motorists might well follow his example, which prompted the Monitor to observe:

> "Without judging British motorists, it is certainly true that many on American highways could profitably examine themselves—elderly operators who balk at taking a driving test, teenagers whose judgment will be better in a couple more years, drivers of any age who have had three or four mishaps that were "the other fellow's fault." or who are apt to take a few drinks before they start home.
> Unless these people can improve their driving habits or abilities, many of them would protect themselves and others by pondering the British sergeant's action."

Valley of Death

(New York Times)

An earthquake in Yugoslavia, a hurricane slashing across the Caribbean Islands, and now a tidal wave of water collapsing a huge dam and inundating the villages of the Piave Valley in northern Italy. When disaster befalls a community, and death strikes indiscriminately, civilized people all over the world mourn for the families whose lives and dreams have been cut short.

At times such as these, countries and doctrines shrink to the size of man. For there is a terrifying equality before sliding earth, howling wind, rushing water. The magnitude of this tragedy for the villagers who perished and for the survivors, too, is a humbling experience to those of us who are mere distant spectators.

The relief organizations, the Red Cross and United States helicopters in the vicinity of the Italian disaster are now on missions of mercy, which engage us all. There can be no more humane task for American servicemen and equipment than to do what they can in this valley of sudden death.

An advisory panel on salary increases for federal employees finds that federal employees are underpaid compared to the pay scales in private industry. And the federal employees have to work much harder. All of which we will believe when we have reliable information to the affect that the federal government is having difficulty in filling job vacancies. But the campaign year is ahead of us.

Interesting Opinions . . .

"Our doings are not so important as we suppose. Our successes and failures do not after all matter very much. Even great sorrows can be survived. Troubles which seem as if they must put an end to happiness for life fade with the lapse of time."

—Bertrand Russell

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS, BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, PENNINGTON COUNTY, MINN.

October 8, 1963

Pursuant to adjournment the County Commissioners met in the Commissioners room in the Court House at 10:00 A. M., October 8, 1963.

Members present: Hanson, Olson, Almquist, Lindberg and Tasa. All present.

The minutes of meetings of August 6, 16, 19 and Sept. 10 were read and approved as read.

At 10:30 the Board proceeded to conduct a public hearing as announced and publicized, to assist in determining the public attitude on the request of the Pennington County Fair Association for a levy of one mill for Fair purposes.

A total of 28 persons were in attendance.

After a restatement of the financial picture by the Treasurer of the Fair Association which indicated the necessity of an approximate $4,100.00 per year debt retirement need for the next few years and enumeration of the benefits to the community by members of the Association, the County Board asked for objections to the proposal.

Various questions were asked about the operation of the Fair as well as the necessity of having one, with the opinion expressed that the 4-H program could be continued without the Fair. All persons expressed interest in the 4-H programs.

After considerable discussion it was moved by Almquist seconded by Lindberg that an additional amount of approximately $1500.00 be made available to the Fair Board by way of a levy, so that a total of one (1) mill will apply for the coming tax year. Motion declared unanimously carried.

Moved by Hanson seconded by Lindberg that the Road Committee and the Bridges and Culvert Committee inspect roads and bridges and culverts at 1:00 P. M., Oct. 22, 1963. Carried.

Moved by Lindberg seconded by Tasa that the Board convene at 3:00 P. M., October 22, 1963 to appraise forfeited lands in preparation for the annual land sale. Carried.

Moved by Almquist seconded by Tasa that pursuant to Laws of 1963, Chapter 650, the Coroners fees be established at $15.00 per day for viewing a body and $10.00 per day for each day required after the 1st day, with mileage at 7½ cents per mile; and for holding an inquest a fee of $25.00 for the 1st day with $15.00 allowed for each additional day required. Carried.

Commissioner Hanson introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, The County Welfare Board has submitted a budget for Welfare purposes for the year 1964 and has requested a tax levy to provide funds to enable it to meet its responsibilities under Section 393.08, MSA; and

WHEREAS, Such budget and requested levies have been duly considered;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Board of County Commissioners approve such budget, including the following tax levy, with the provision that when taxes are collected and apportioned, the apportionment to each of the seven welfare funds shall be in the ratio that the levy for each bears to the total levy for welfare purposes:

Old Age Assistance	$102,707.44	45.81%
Aid to Dependent Children	37,378.30	16.67%
Aid to Disabled	2,018.88	.90%
Aid to the Blind	131.53	.06%
Poor (General Relief)	24,730.43	11.04%
Administration	32,940.43	14.69%
MAA	24,290.05	10.83%
	$224,224.32	100.00%

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the County Auditor be hereby authorized and directed to spread a levy for welfare purposes in the amount of $221,215.00 on the tax rolls of the County. The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Lindberg and declared carried.

The County Auditor submitted the budget and proposed tax levy for the year 1963, due and payable in the year 1964, as follows.

Bemidji Scores 33-0 Win Over Prowlers

Coach Ken (Red) Wilson's Bemidji Lumberjacks won their second successive Northwest conference football title, and their fourth in the nine years that the conference has been in existence, on Friday night by scoring a 33 to 0 win over an injury-riddled Prowler eleven in a game played on the local field. Bemidji's previous title years were in 1955, 1960 and 1962.

Coach Bill Herzog's Prowlers will conclude their 1963 schedule on Friday night by meeting the Crookston Pirates on the Lincoln high school field. The two clubs are tied for third place in the conference standings, having identical one-win and two losses records. In Friday's play, the Roseau Rams defeated the Crookston Pirates 7 to 0 in a game played at Crookston.

In the game played here on the Lincoln field, coach Wilson's impressive Bemidji club scored in every period to gain their 33 to 0 win over an ever-trying Prowler squad.

In the opening period, after the Prowlers had shown strong defensive play by stopping the Jacks in two series of downs and forcing the visitors to kick, a fumbled punt and a subsequent Bemidji kick, moved the ball to the Prowlers' 8-yard line in the Prowlers' possession. Three running plays failed to gain more than six yards, and on fourth down a Bob Olson punt was blocked in the end zone, and recovered by Olson for a safety, giving the Jacks two points.

Moments later, after taking the kickoff following the safety, Bemidji tallied a touchdown. The long gainer in the sequence of plays was a 35-yard run by fullback Pat Winkler, from the Prowler 45-yard line to the locals' 10-yard line. On a fourth-down and six situation, Dick Fortier connected on a pass to Wally Peterson in the south end zone for a touchdown. Fortier's placekick for the point was good, and the Jacks held a 9 to 0 lead.

A pass interception by Bemidji's Larry Schwartz in the opening minutes of the second period, set up the second Bemidji TD. Schwartz intercepted the toss deep in Prowler territory and carried the ball to the 11-yard line. Two running plays, with Marv Hanson driving across for the goal, boosted the Bemidji lead to 15 to 0. Fortier's placement try for the point was blocked.

Late in the second period a short kick, which was partially blocked, gave Bemidji possession on the Prowlers' 25-yard line. Four running plays, capped by Winkler's plunge from the one-yard line, produced a touchdown, and when Fortier's kick was wide of the uprights, Bemidji held a 21 to 0 first-half lead.

Bemidji scored single touchdowns in the third and fourth periods, with Hanson scoring a TD on a one-yard plunge in the third quarter, and Don Erickson, also on a one-yard drive, scoring in the fourth period. The Jacks failed to convert the point on either touchdown and the final score was 33 to 0 in favor of the defending conference champions.

JOE TAYLOR exhibits shifty footwork as he changes course on this drive against the Bemidji Lumberjacks Friday night. Taylor, a sturdy fullback and a reliable linebacker for coach Bill Herzog's Prowlers, played a strong game in the losing effort against the Jacks. In the background is Don Mathieu, (13) and Bemidji's Bob Fortier, (48) and Larry Schwartz, (52).

DON MATHIEU Prowler halfback, shakes off a Bemidji Lumberjack tackler in this second period action of the Prowler vs. Jacks game here Friday night. Mathieu gained eight yards on the sweep off left tackle and picked up a first down. The powerful Bemidji club, in clinching the Northwest conference title, defeated the Prowlers 33 to 0.

BOB OLSON left, Prowler end, finishes up a rush on Bemidji's Dick Fortier, 27, by tossing the Lumberjack quarterback for a seven-yard loss in the second period of the Northwest conference football game played here Friday night. Olson smeared the play, which appeared to be an attempted pass, and moving in to give assistance are Ken Larson, (40) and Dennis Sculthorpe, (33).

A Dedicated Group

An attempt was made to "fire up" the Bemidji Lumberjacks vs. Prowlers football game here on Friday night as a revenge affair for the Jacks. It was to be a "pour it on" deal for Bemidji as a reprisal for the ouster of the Bemidji baseball team as the Region Eight champions last spring. Some of the individuals down there, and they should, and, perhaps do, know better, believe that it was the Prowler squad that "blew the whistle" on the baseball Lumberjacks last spring. This is not so.

But as for the revenge, and the solid defeat of a crippled Prowler football team, those Bemidji fans are entitled to the feeling of self-satisfaction that they derived out of the 33 to 0 win.

On Saturday morning, over the 1.8 mile course at the local golf club, the Region Eight cross-country meet was held, and coach Roger Solheim's Prowlers, led by the record-breaking run of Orrin Joppru, won the regional title, with the Bemidji Lumberjacks being second. Apparently the revenge motive, and the "pour it on" complex, does not pertain to the Bemidji cross-country squad. It's only when you have the "horses", and other advantages, that you talk about revenge and such stuff.

But all credit must be given to this Prowler cross-country squad. They are a dedicated group of athletes participating in a lonely sports activity, far from the cheers and the color of the more-publicized school sports. And these Prowlers well-earned their regional title on Saturday as they defeated a strong Bemidji squad and a strong Roseau team. So it's with pleasure that I salute Orrin Joppru, Joel Headley, Roy Delorme, Steve Honebrink and Larry Sletten, the Prowler point-winners.

In the compiling of the point-totals in cross-country competition it's the low team total that wins. And this is the manner in which the Prowlers racked up their 30 points: Joppru picked up one point for winning; Headley added four points for his fourth place; Delorme added six points for his sixth place; Honebrink's seventh place added seven points; and the twelfth place by Sletten marked up 12 points for the Prowlers and gave coach Solheim's squad a 30-point total. Coach Don Thompson's Bemidji team, with Dave Blashill scoring a second, and with the Jacks placing eighth, ninth, tenth, and fourteenth, had 43 points.

To the Mets

Wes Westrum, coach for the San Francisco Giants and before that a star catcher for the New York Giants, has been visiting relatives in this area the past week. Wes' mother resides in Clearbrook, and he has a brother, Lyle, who lives in Erskine.

Al Christofferson visited with Wes at Clearbrook the other day, had a chat of about an hour, and Al learned that Wes is considering a change in his baseball jobs. The New York Mets are interested in having Wes with their organization, and Wes, who has been rated as one of the finest catchers to play with a New York club, is receptive to the idea.

Wes has established his home in Phoenix, Ariz., but his wife is a native of Poughkeepsie, New York, so a return to the East Coast would not pose any domestic problems. And I imagine that Wes would enjoy a return to the city where he gained fame as a catcher, a catcher who was an able handler of pitchers.

Wes had greetings to his many friends in the area. You know that he played baseball with the Plummer Cardinals during the days that Gust Krueger managed the Plummer club. And later, Wes played with the Crookston Pirates of the Northern league. He is a cousin of Ardel Robinson of this city, and Merle and Edmund Robinson of Oslo. Merle and Edmund, to baseball fans here, are better known as Smoky and Bunty.

No Regrets

The 1963 sharptailed grouse season closed at sunset on Sunday, Oct. 20, and there were, and are, no regrets. It is the consensus of hunters, and of the farmers who live in the grouse-hunting area that the sharptailed season should have been curtailed or that there should not have been an open season. But apparently the Game and Fish department wants that license money.

The past couple of weeks much of the grouse habitat has been subjected to the ravages of grass and brush fires. It is possible that there fires, and in some areas they have been wide-ranging, have taken a toll of the grouse. There apparently hasn't been an influx of grouse from the burnt-over lands to the unburned areas. The grouse, as the saying goes, are hurting, and that pertains to the ruffed grouse, too.

RUNNER Orrin Joppru set a new Region 8 cross-country mark Saturday morning when, in leading the Prowlers to a successful defense of their title he toured the 1.8 mile course at the golf club in 7:37. Joppru's time bettered the old mark of 7:47.1 set by the Prowlers' Rolf Wangberg in 1962.

Orrin Joppru Sets New Record for 1.8 Mile Course Saturday

Paced by Orrin Joppru's record-breaking time of 7:37 for the 1.8 mile course, coach Roger Solheim's Prowler cross-country squad, with a total of 30 points, successfully defended its Region Eight title in a meet held here Saturday morning.

Following the Prowlers in the team standings, and with their point-totals, were the Bemidji Lumberjacks, 43 points; Roseau Rams, 58 points; Crookston Pirates, 116 points; Fosston Greyhounds, 141 points; Red Lake Falls Eagles, 181 points; and the Warren Ponies, 228 points.

In addition to Joppru, three other runners—Dave Blashill of Bemidji, Ed Broten of Roseau, and Joel Headley of the Prowlers—bettered the ol mark of 7:47.1 set by the Prowlers' Rolf Wangberg last year.

Other runners finishing in the first ten, in addition to Joppru, Blashill, Broten, and Headley, were Lynn Larson of Roseau, fifth; Roy Delorme of the Prowlers, sixth; Steve Honebrink of the Prowlers, seventh; Chuck Rogers of Bemidji, eighth; Pete Lund of Bemidji, ninth; and Lynn Hendrickson of Bemidji, tenth.

Completing the scoring for coach Solheim's Prowlers was Larry Sletten, who finished in twelfth place.

The Prowler squad, as champion of Region Eight cross-country competition, will participate in the state cross-country meet to be run over the Lake Nokomis course in Minneapolis on Saturday, Oct. 26. Bemidji's Dave Blashill and Roseau's Ed Broten, by placing second and third, respectively, also gained berths in the state cross-country tournament.

742 Samples Collected

Soil Testing Promotion Breaks Record Last Week

Most successful soil testing promotion in Pennington county to date was staged at Thief River Falls Thursday, Friday and Saturday, according to County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk. The promotion was sponsored by Pennington county fertilizer dealers with the Chamber of Commerce and the extension office cooperating.

A total of 742 samples were brought in by 175 farmers from Pennington, East Marshall and Red Lake counties. The average field tested was about 30 acres in size, so over 18,000 acres of soil were tested during the drive. This compares with 321 samples and 102 farmers in 1962, and surpasses the all-time county high of 667 samples and 165 farmers in 1960. Both in 1960 and 1961 Pennington county was highest in the state in soil testing.

The soil samples are sent to the University of Minnesota soil testing lab where the soil will be analyzed. The results of the analysis will be sent to the extension offices in the counties where the farmer resides and the county agent then makes the fertilizer recommendations which will state the kind and the amount of fertilizer needed by the crop specified by the farmer in the information sheet.

The greatest number of samples came from the Thief River Falls area with 87 farmers bringing 395 samples. Goodridge area was second with 34 farmers bringing in 149 samples. Other areas participating were: Red Lake Falls, Grygla, St. Hilaire, Plummer, Trail, Middle River, Gatzke, Lancaster, Hallock, Kennedy, Crookston, Angus, Argyle, Oklee and Radium. The greatest number of samples brought in by one farmer was 16, turned in by Alex Wald of Plummer.

Samples were brought to a trailer by the post office provided by Northwestern Trailer Court of Thief River Falls. Fertilizer dealers assisted with the registration and the packaging of the samples and the success of the program is largely credited to the work done by fertilizer dealers in this promotion.

Fall soil testing promotions are being held throughout the state. The high interest at Thief River Falls is considered to make this promotion a highly effective tool in increasing yields of crops in the area, Stelmaschuk said. The soil tests make it possible for the farmer to get more for his fertilizer dollar and to increase profits from crop, hay and pasture lands.

Topographic Maps Of Area Ready For Distribution

Available at Nominal Cost from Geological Survey in Denver, Colo.

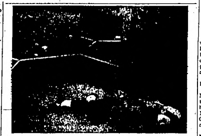
Extensive topographic mapping operations are in progress in northwestern Minnesota by the U.S. Geological Survey, it was announced this week by the Minnesota Department of Conservation. Several of the maps, covering portions of Marshall and Pennington counties, have already been completed and survey crews are continuing their work in the area.

The maps are in color and show a 75 square mile area. Some of the features included on maps recently completed are the city of Thief River Falls, the Elm Lake and Agassiz wildlife areas and land on both sides of the Thief and Red Lake rivers.

The 16x2 inch maps show all the features shown on the usual road map but in addition indicate the contour and elevation of the land surface and woods, marshes and other features of the terrain. Also shown are such man made structures as roads, buildings, lookout towers and campgrounds.

Where the information is available, the maps show the contour and depth of the principal lakes in the area.

Copies of the published maps may be purchased at a nominal cost from the U.S. Geological Survey, Federal Center, Denver Colorado. Index maps showing the areas for which maps are presently available can be obtained without cost at the same address.



RESTING when she is tired is a relaxing habit for Lorri Jean Cwikkla, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cwikkla of Middle River. The site she picked in the above photo was the cozy, carpeted floor of the Fashion Shop in Thief River Falls shortly after noon Monday. Like Goldilocks in baby bear's bed, she fell fast asleep. How many parents who have had frustrated shopping trips with boisterous youngsters wouldn't like to be able to say, "Now lay down there and go to sleep?" As for Lorrie, who will be four years old several months from now, it was a profitable way to pass the time. How many people can get their picture in the paper just by falling asleep?

Bridgeman Creameries Is Story of Progress

Centralization of Operations Helps Volume To Grow

by Marvin Lundin
City Editor

If you don't like noise, you won't like to tour the Bridgeman Creameries fluid milk processing plant in Thief River Falls. If, however, you don't mind the sound of machinery in motion for community progress, the modern operation has a number of items for study and fascination. Many people found this to be true at an open house held last Thursday.

In its 30 years of evolution since the purchase of the Kiewel ice cream sales division in 1933, Bridgeman's has grown to a remarkable degree. The local plant is one of the three largest fluid milk processing plants in Minnesota and the largest milk processing plant in the Bridgeman system which has 11 plants in 11 cities.

Directing the local operation is William LaFave, manager since the plant was purchased from Kiewels in 1933. At first the business handled only ice cream, but in 1942 the company purchased the Hoel Dairy and began processing milk. Centralizaton of operations in the Bridgeman organization has been partially responsible for the growth of the Thief River Falls operation. This point handles fluid milk processing with the Crookston plant specializing in cottage cheese and the Grand Forks plant making ice cream.

50,000 Gallons Per Week

Since the plant requires a large volume of whole milk, Land O' Lakes serves as a procurement agency for the local plant with milk being bottled in Bridgeman and several other brand cartons. The most modern, efficient and top quality equipment is used in the operation, guaranteeing a product of almost unbelievably high quality.

Bridgeman insists that the highest standards of sanitation be observed at all times. Bulk milk intended for Bridgeman Creameries is never exposed to warm, bacteria-activating air or touched by human hands. In addition to several state inspection department tests, milk processed here is tested in a laboratory located at the plant.

Quality First

"By increasing quality, through the use of the latest and best equipment, we can and have increased the consumption of milk in the area we serve," LaFave said. "By so doing we are not only helping ourselves but we are helping dairy farmers to expand their market and make room for production increases."

One of the most recent additions was the remodeling of the cartoning equipment to use plastic-coated cartons in March of this year. At a cost of $27,000, the improvement is calculated to be another progressive step in maintaining the pace of the ever-improving industry. The reason for the change was stated by LaFave:

"We have to make a product that is capable of remaining on the

SPEED in processing generally makes for increased plant efficiency, one of the reasons for installation of the above equipment at the Bridgeman Creameries milk processing plant in Thief River Falls. The flash pasteurizer, with a rated capacity of 13,000 pounds of milk per hour, will heat milk from 40 to 196 degrees and cool it back to 40 degrees in two minutes. Former pasteurization methods took about 30 minutes. The network of pipes shows how milk is handled without being exposed to the air. One of the bulk mixing tanks is shown in the background.

SPEAKER at the dedication program at Valley Home in Thief River Falls Sunday will be Arthur Tweet, president of Valley Memorial Home in Grand Forks, N.D. Tweet was born at Thief River Falls, is president of the board of trustees at Wesley college, past president of the board of education and received an honorary doctor's degree from Wesleyan University in 1958.

Gains 35 Since 1962

Fall Employment in City Has Increase

Mid-September employment in Thief River Falls showed a gain of 35 people or 1.2 percent over the same period a year ago, according to figures compiled in this city.

Employment totaled 2,872 this year as compared with 2,837 in 1962 the substantial gain of 282 from mid-June of this year, 10.9 percent, was largely due to the reopening of schools this fall.

"Employment gains noted were largely due to increases in manufacturing and government," Eldevik said, "with a small increase in construction employment. The other employment categories showed no significant changes. The beginning of turkey processing operation was responsible for the jump in manufacturing employment.

"Full-scale processing operations are expected to continue into December. Government employment was up substantially as teachers and other school personnel resumed their duties at the beginning of the new school term.

"Employment in construction showed a gain of 16 workers over mid-June, but will drop as soon as cold weather forces contractors to shut down outside work. Construction employment will very likely continue at a higher level than was the case last winter, as the result of school and hospital construction currently in progress. Several smaller building jobs are also underway," Eldevik said.

The manager added that the demand for workers was quite good during the last six weeks. Street, road and building construction contractors hired most able-bodied workers who had not obtained employment earlier. Experienced office workers have been in steady demand.

The supply of workers during this quarter changed from a good supply to a short supply. Out-of-town workers had to be recruited for turkey processing operations and construction jobs. Currently skilled building tradesmen are in short supply.

Mid-September employment totals included: local trade, 1,015; service, 587; manufacturing, 313; transportation and utilities, 238; government, 487; construction, 144; and finance, 88.

Elaine's CHATTER

According to Mr. W. L. Gordon, whoever he is, the average person's vocabulary does not exceed 15,000 words.

We also note in the same publication that manufacturers are advertising more than 200,000 different brand names alone. The way we figure it, that would be some 185,000 more names than any of us could know or retain.

Somewhere down the line, somebody is going to be left out in the advertising business, we hope it isn't us. We do not want to tax anyone's vocabulary; we simply want to give you some facts about women's wear, dresses, coats, suits, sportswear and accessories.

Today clothes give where they didn't give before. Fit where they didn't fit before. Right now you can buy a baby's sleeper with a built-in wiggle. (Not at Elaine's.) A man's woven shirt that's tapered, but not tight. Slacks that fit like skin. In five years almost everything you wear will stretch. Stretch nylon can be used for special effects. Up and down stretch for slimming. Side-to-side stretch for fit through the seat and shoulders. The stretch era is here. And nothing you wear will ever be the same. In strecth you can pick from a large selection at Elaine's, slacks from Jantzen, Pendleton, Tiger, Jack Winter and now a new addition to our sportswear, PANTSMAKER.

Remember, there also is a difference in quality, sure you can buy slacks from 5.95 up to 35.00, don't be fooled that a 5.95 pair of slacks have the same quality that a 12.95 pair have . . . they may look the same but there is a difference, look at the cut, binding, stitching and fit.

Since stretch slacks have come in we have run into more new manufacturers than we care to remember, but we will stick with the names above, makers that have been in the business for years and know what they are doing.

Congratulations to the Prowler Cross-Country team. Region Champs! Understand Joppru set quite a pace.

Mrs. Matheson at TB Conference in Minneapolis

Mrs. G. C. Matheson of Thief River Falls was among almost 500 chest physicians, nurses and tuberculosis workers attending the Mississippi Valley Conference on Tuberculosis in Minneapolis recently. They were told that "recessed-filter" minds are the real stumbling block in the fight against tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases.

Dr. Robert J. Samp, medical educator, University of Wisconsin medical school, said most of us can read an article on lung cancer and keep right on smoking despite medical warnings to the contrary.

"We belong to a self-doctoring, self-treating and finally to a self-annihilating generation. We must acknowledge this barrier—resistance to such things as stopping smoking—and put what we have learned into a program to persuade the 'recessed-filter' minds."

Humphrey Seeks National Farmers Week Next April

Senator Asks President To Issue Proclamation Declaring Observance

Legislation to designate an annual "National Farmers Week" was introduced recently by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey. His joint resolution provides for National Farmers Week to begin on the first Sunday of April each year.

It requests the President "to issue annually a proclamation calling on the people of the United States to observe the week with appropriate ceremonies and activities." The annual observance "would serve to call attention to the American people the farmer's contribution to the strength and resources of our country."

"The American people have more food of better quality in greater variety than any people in any country in recorded history," Humphrey said. "In the last two years, the proportion of consumer income required to purchase food has dropped to the lowest ratio in history—19 per cent of take-home pay.

"A century ago, one worker on the farm supplied food and fiber for less than five persons. By 1940, the figure had risen to 10. Now each farm worker supplies food and fiber for 28 persons.

"Farmers create millions of jobs for fellow Americans. Ten million people have jobs storing, transporting, processing and merchandising the products of agriculture. Six million have jobs providing the supplies farmers use.

"The investment in agriculture exceeds 200 billion dollars—which is equal to about three-fourths of the value of current assets of all corporations in the country.

"A National Farmers Week would in a small way express a women, and children who live nation's gratitude—to the men and work on the nation's family farms and who contribute so much to the nation's strength."

Psychologically Speaking...

by DR. PAUL HAUCK

Western Mental Health Center
Marshall, Minn.

In Cooperation with Pennington County Association for Mental Health

One of the most frequent questions people in our field are asked by the average person is "What's the difference between a psychiatrist, a psychologist, and a psychiatric social worker?" There is justified confusion over these three professions, and I'd like to clarify this issue.

A psychiatrist is an M. D. who has taken extra schooling in the treatment of people who have emotional disorders or disorders of the nervous system. In other words, he limits his practice and specializes in treating these disorders in the same way that other physicians specilize in surgery (the surgeons), or in diagnosing from X-rays (the radiologists), or in treating diseases of the skin (the dermatologists.

In psychiatry, the doctor administers help in one or both of the following ways: he may prescribe medicine and give psychotherapy (uncover the unconscious reasons for the client's behavior; or, depending on the case, he may only do one of these.

The clinical psychologist generally has a Ph. D.(Doctor of Philosophy degree) and in addition to being able to carry on research, he brings to the psychiatric team two skills: psychological testing (for the purpose of diagnosis), and psychotherapy. His tests are geared mainly to uncover the nature of the client's conflicts quickly and to penetrate to deeper levels of the personality than can be done by only interviewing the person.

These tests can reveal how a person handles his conflicts, what his drives and frustrations are, what type of intelligence he uses to solve his problems, and how much control he has over his total energies. Most people who are unfamiliar with psychological testing often think what the psychologist asks them to do is rather silly. He may ask the patient to look at ink blots and tell him what they remind him of, or he may ask the client to draw a person, or a tree. Odd as it may sound to the average individual, the trained psychologist finds the remarks about the ink blots or the drawings highly instructive. Exactly how a person projects his personality into these tests will be taken up at another time.

The psychiatric social worker generally has an M. S. W. degree (Master of Social Work.) He too, along with the psychiatrist and psychologist, is trained in the skills of treatment through psychoterapy. He has in addition, however, a keen sensitivity—and—awareness of social relationships such as the family and the community and how these shape the individual. The other main contribution lies in his knowing his community resources so that an individual can be referred to the particular agency which will benefit a patient the most. He is thoroughly acquainted with the agencies in his area and what they have to offer. When the center has done what it can for a client and the treatment plans call for a continuation or transfer to another agency, the psychiatric social worker is asked for his decision.

There you have the psychiatric team. Each member is trained in treating the emotional difficulties with psychotherapy, while at the same time contributing a special skill which each of the others does not have. For the psychiatrist it is his knowledge of medicine, for the psychologist it is his research training and psychological testing, and for the psychiatric social worker it is his knowledge of family and community relationships and the agencies to which he has to make referral from time to time. The common meeting-ground is psychotherapy.

State Employment Breaks Records in September Figure

Nonagricultural Labor Numbers Total 15,500 Above September 1962

Minnesota's nonagricultural employment continued to break records in September when the total reached 1,030,900 — a level which was 11,700 over the August figure and 15,500 above September a year ago.

Regular monthly report of labor market trends in the state, released by Frank T. Starkey, state commissioner of employment security, shows that the increases from last year's levels were concentrated primarily in retail trade (4,700), service trades (4,000), manufacturing (2,800), government 2,600) and construction (2,600.

Service and retail trade increases occurred rather generally throughout the industries over the year. The manufacturing-employment gain was spurred by heavy activity in canning and sugar beet processing, due to increased acreages; while construction gains were centered in the highway and heavier type construction activities. The gain in government was due largely to additional teaching staff needed generally in local public schools, as the post-war baby boom hit the junior year in most high schools, Starkey said.

Production workers in Minnesota manufacturing industries earned an average of $105.32 per week in September, compared to $103.52 in August, and $101.53 a year ago, Starkey said. Their average hourly earnings increased from $2.54 in August to $2.55 in September, compared to $2.50 last September. With most of the durable-goods industries showing a longer workweek because of more overtime, the average workweek in manufacturing increased to 41.3 hours in September, compared to 40.8 hours in August and 40.5 hours a year ago.

Unemployment in Minnesota dropped to 48,100 in September, a decrease of 7,500 from August, but 4,100 higher than last September. The unemployment rate in September was 3.2 percent compared to 3.6 percent in August and 3.0 percent last September.

Bridgeman Story Tale of Progress In Dairy Industry

grocer's shelf for some length of time. This is one of our quality requirements. Wax cartons won't stand up for an extended period of time, although the milk will. The new plastic cartons are a distinct improvement—proof of the constant change and progress in the industry.

Night Delivery

Delivery to stores is made three times each week from the local plant. Milk bottled today will be at stores 20 miles away tomorrow morning. Less than 10 per cent of the plant's volume is sold locally. Operating from here are two local retail trucks, nine wholesale trucks operating in a radius of 125 miles of this city, and three jobber trucks including a tractor with two refrigerated vans. The latter cover all of northwestern Minnesota and eastern North Dakota.

Business volume of the company has increased about 10 per cent annually for the past five years. The plant employs 45 to 50 people the year around and has a yearly payroll of more than $250,000.

In addition to the milk processing, Bridgeman's in Thief River Falls has the largest sales and service of refrigeration north of Minneapolis. The firm sells and services all types of refrigeration and air conditioning units.

Photos of some of the plant equipment are printed in today's issue of the Times. Information on the performance of these machines is included in the picture captions.

Anti-Communist Speaker Slated At Roseau Oct. 31

W. Cleon Skousen Will Speak Under Sponsorship Of American Legion Post

Plans are complete for the October 31 personal appearance in Roseau of W. Cleon Skousen, author of the best-selling book "The Naked Communist", declared one of the most valuable primers on communism ever published. Skousen, who makes some 300 speeches a year, is scheduled to speak at the municipal auditorium at 8 p. m. under the sponsorship of the Americanism committee of the Roseau American Legion.

Skousen, who was admitted to practice law in the District of Columbia after attending schools in Canada, Mexico and the United States, entered the FBI in 1935 while attending law schools. He was appointed a special agent and during World War II was appointed to a supervisory administrative position at FBI headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Prior to joining the FBI, he served as a missionary for the Mormon church in the British Isles for two years.

He left the FBI in 1951 to become director of public services and a member of the faculty at Brigham Young University.

In 1956 he was given a leave of absence from the university to reorganize the Salt Lake City, Utah police department. He served as chief of police until 1960.

In the fall of 1960, Skousen became Editorial Director for "Law and Order", the most widely distributed police magazine in the United States.

Skousen has written over fifty full-length magazine articles and a number of books. His widely read book, "The Naked Communist", has hit the best seller list in many years and was picked for the 1959 patriotic award of the All American Conference in Washington, D. C. Tickets will be available at the door.

United Crusade Concludes Rally Here This Week

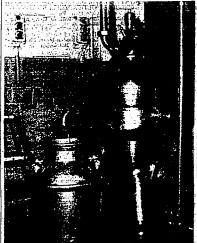
United Crusade meetings which are sponsored by a number of local churches and featuring the Janz Team from Canada and Europe are in their final week. Last Sunday evening Rev. Leo Janz spoke to 625 people and a male voice choir from Canada sang several numbers.

Thursday night a film program on the Crusades in Europe and the needs of that land will be shown. Friday evening will be musical request night and Saturday there will be a special youth rally slated. Sunday evening will mark the closing service in the city auditorium at 7:45 p. m.

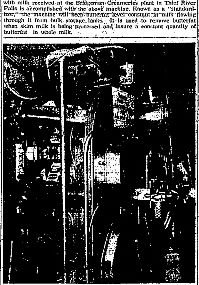
The Janz Team will leave early next week for Vancouver, B. C. for a city-wide crusade in that western Canadian city. They plan to return to Europe early next spring to continue their missionary enterprises through radio, literature and mass rallies.

PRODUCTION line methods provide the utmost in speed of handling and prompt shipment of fluid milk from the Bridgeman Creameries plant in Thief River Falls. Since being centralized in the Bridgeman system as a fluid milk processing plant, the local operation also bottles milk under several other brand names. In the above photo, Raymond Nelson removes cartons which converge in the packing area from two cartoning machines. From this point the milk goes to refrigerated storage to await shipment the same evening to stores as far as 200 miles away by the next morning. Nelson packs 80 cartons per minute with both cartoning machines in operation.

MANAGER of Bridgeman Creameries in Thief River Falls is William LaFave, shown above with Audrey Meyer, Princess Kay of the Milky Way, who assisted with open house at the plant on Thursday. LaFave has headed the operation since its inception in 1933 and guided it into being one of the three largest milk processing plants in Minnesota. He is holding several of the plastic cartons which the firm began using in March of this year.



CONTROL of the butterfat content and removal of any foreign matter which may have become mixed with milk received at the Bridgeman Creameries plant in Thief River Falls is accomplished with the above machine. Known as a "standardizer," the machine will keep butterfat level constant in milk flowing through it from bulk storage tanks. It is used to remove butterfat when skim milk is being processed and insure a constant quantity of butterfat in whole milk.



PLASTIC coated milk cartons are now used in the bottling operation at Bridgeman Creameries in Thief River Falls. Completed last March at a cost of $27,000, the change-over to plastic cartons was made as part of the plant's constant improvement program. The above machine, which converts "flats" into finished cartons, fills and seals them, has a capacity of 35 half-gallon cartons per minute. A similar smaller machine, used for quarts, pints and half pints, has a capacity of 45 cartons per minute. The chain is complete with a vacuum tube which removes foam caused by rapid filling.

Who's Got the Banner? Who's Got the Sign?

All right, all right, who took the sign? A number of people, including the Chamber of Commerce and the city police department, are looking for a heavy canvas street banner which mysteriously disappeared late Sunday or early Monday in Thief River Falls.

The banner was stretched across the street at LaBree avenue and Third street Wednesday through Saturday and proclaimed Dairy Festival Week. When city crews arrived to take it down Monday morning it had vanished. Persons concerned with finding the sign, which is the property of the Minnesota Dairy Industry committee, can't understand why anyone else would want it—or how they got it, for that matter.

If you have seen a heavy canvas sign, painted black with yellow lettering and measuring more than 40 feet long, please call the police department or the Chamber of Commerce. How can you explain you lost something like that?

State Says Pheasant Population Up 25%

Pheasant populations are up this year, according to the Minnesota Division of Game & Fish. The season opens Saturday at noon and extends through November 30. Shooting hours, exclusive of the opening are 10 a. m. to sunset. Bag limits are three cock birds daily and six in possession.

For the pheasant range as a whole, there are about 25 per cent more birds than last year. However, the increase has not been uniform throughout the pheasant range and varies considerably even within counties. A map has been prepared by the game and fish division on the basis of pheasant counts taken by game wardens, game managers and game biologists. It shows that highest populations are in the west-central counties with an increase about 75 per cent above that of last year.

In contrast, heavy summer rains have held down pheasant numbers in the south-central and south-western counties some of which have formerly had the highest pheasant densities in the state.

The department also points out that pheasant population density estimates by counties, as shown on the map, require some local interpretation by hunters since most counties have both good and poor hunting areas. For example, hunters can expect to find few pheasants in forested areas even though the counts from routes in farming sections were high.

Good hunting can be expected in many parts of the counties rated as medium. There will also be occasional good spots in the low counties since there will be fewer hunters afield in these areas. Two or three times as many hunters per square mile are expected to hunt in the west-central counties as in the other parts of the main pheasant range.

The game and fish division said that it is important that hunters make arrangements for a place to hunt and for accommodations before they leave on their trip. This is especially urgent for hunters who plan to hunt in the areas of good populations and during the opening weekend.

A weather forecast predicting continued warm dry weather has prompted conservation officials to warn hunters against forest and grass fire hazards. Hunters are being asked to be extremely careful with campfires, matches and discarded smokes.

Highway Dept. Asks Hunters Not To Shoot Signs

With Minnesota's fall hunting season under way, a good many highway signs will fall under the gun along with duck, pheasant and deer. Hunters, despite your impulsiveness (or boredom), please refrain from using highway signs for target practice, the Minnesota Highway Department asks.

On the 11,900 mile trunk highway system alone more than 8,000 signs were riddled with rifle, pistol and shotgun last year, and it cost the state $62,000 to replace or repair them. Several hundred other signs received minor damage but did not require repair because they remained legible.

An equal number of signs, if not a great many more, are shot up on the state's nearly 100,000 miles of county, township and federal roads. Most sign damage occurs during the fall hunting season.

Highway signs are important to safety as well as traffic guidance. An illegible sign or one missing altogether, especially a hazard sign, can cause an accident.

Stephen at Kennedy.

The Top-of-the-State football conference will conclude its 1963 schedule this week, and it appears that there will be at least three teams sharing in the league championship. Entering the final week of play, four teams—Baudette, Hallock, Kennedy, and Stephen—are crammed together on the top rung. But this week's slate has Stephen playing at Kennedy, and one of these teams will have to yield its championship hopes.

Baudette and Hallock are heavily favored to win their games, with Baudette entertaining the Karlstad Rabbits, and Hallock playing at Lancaster. Karlstad and Lancaster are winless in conference play.

The Newfolden Nordics, who boast of a win over Baudette this season, moved into fifth place in the conference standings by marking up a resounding 66 to 0 win over Lancaster. Coach Sheldon Elseth's Newfolden team completely dominated the play, and Jerry Strandquist enjoyed a field day as he scored three touchdowns, and he tossed a pass to twin brother Terry Strandquist for another touchdown.

This week, under the lights at Warroad on Friday night, the Nordics will conclude their 1963 schedule. It will be the final game for the following Newfolden players, all seniors: Merlin Anderson, Ken Anderson, John Bjorsness, Kenny Carlson, Keith Grandstrand, Bruce Elseth, Larry Harstad, Alan Leigh, Jerry Strandquist, Terry Strandquist and John Tandberg.

East Grand Forks at Roseau.

Posting the finest all-round record in the nine years of play in the Northwest football conference, coach Red Wilson's Bemidji Lumberjacks, defeating the Prowlers, 33 to 0, in a game played at Thief River Falls on Friday night, won their second successive conference title, and their fourth title in nine years.

The Jacks rolled up a total of 124 points on offense and gave up but 12 points on defense. The 124-point offensive total is second to the 134-point total scored by the Bemidji club of 1961; and the 12 points given up by Jacks' defense sets a new conference mark, bettering the 19 points allowed by the conference champion Roseau Rams in 1959.

The 1963 conference schedule will be concluded on Friday night with a pair of games on the slate. The Roseau Rams, holding down second place in the standings, will be meeting the winless East Grand Forks team on the Roseau field. And the Thief River Falls Prowlers and the Crookston Pirates will be meeting in their traditional season-ending game, with the tilt being scheduled for the Lincoln high school field.

Bemidji, which concluded its conference play last week, will be playing Brainerd at Brainerd.

Mixed Emotions

It is undoubtedly with mixed emotions that the Prowler coaching staff—Bill Herzog, Jerry Westby, George Schlieff and Al Shaff—prepare the Prowlers for the season-closing game against the Crookston Pirates on Friday night.

It will perhaps be a relief for the coaching staff that this frustrating and injury-riddled season has finally come to a close. But then the coaches must regretfully acknowledge that it is the end of high school football for such boys as captain Terry Nelson, Rick Jensen, Don Mathieu, Elroy Froiland, Ron Olson, Ken Larson, Bob Olson, Pat Munt, Bruce Howick, Dale Seefeldt, Del Schob and Dennis Sculthorpe.

In this group are some of the finest competitors that Lincoln high school has ever produced, and it is unfortunate that such boys as Terry and Rick cannot conclude their football by playing in Friday night's game. Terry and Rick are sidelined by leg injuries. And Del Schob has a shoulder dislocation that has kept this senior end on the sidelines for the past several weeks.

The game shapes up as a pretty even affair, and although neither club has hopes of getting more than a share of second place in conference standings (and this can come about only if Roseau loses to East Grand Forks), the fact that it's the Prowlers vs. Pirates is sufficient to insure the fans of a good football game.

Crookston appears to be on an upward climb in athletics, and the Pirate football team is a solid club. The Pirates handled a well-rated Warren team quite easily some weeks ago, and except for some unfortunate fumbles and misplays coach Lowell Larson's Crookston team would have given the Bemidji Lumberjacks a test.

Crookston has a capable quarterback in junior Steve Erie, and a hard-running fullback in Ken Epema. Erie is an accurate passer, he does not hesitate in calling for an aerial, and his favorite target is end Jack Behr. And on the bench next to coach Larson, and anxious to get into the game as a replacement for Erie, will be Dave Lysaker, the last of the three Lysaker brothers who have played for the Pirates. Dave is only a sophomore so he will be around for a couple of years.

The Prowlers should enter Friday's game with their defensive lineup in fair physical condition, but whether or not the blue-and-gold can mount a consistent offense is another question. Rick Nelson, who played against Bemidji last Friday until he re-injured his knee, is a doubtful starter. And Ken Larson is nursing a pair of bruised ribs.

But let's give these boys, and their aches and pains, our support on Friday night. It will be a long time before another football game is played on Lincoln field.

He Should Be So Sick

Just prior to Monday evening's Service league bowling session Milt Reierson, of the league-leading KTRF squad, called his team captain and requested a substitute as he, Milt, was feeling ill.

At that late hour, with the teams slated to bowl on the early session, it was impossible to get the team's substitute bowler. Well, Milt agreed to bowl, but he said that his bowling wouldn't be of much help to the KTRF team, he felt so poorly.

All Milt did was to rack up games of 192, 246 and 233, for a record-setting 671-pin series. That's the high three-game total for this season, not only in the Service league, but in all of the leagues. Milt had but three open frames in the three-game series, getting a pair of blows in the first game and a blow in the third game. Needless to state, the KTRF team, getting that lift from Milt, took three of four points from the Daleford Farms.

Another Good One

Some weeks ago I mentioned the feat of young Helmer Ness of Moorhead, a grandson of Helmer (Ole) Ness of this city, and the no-hit baseball game he had pitched in a midget game in Moorhead.

This week I received a note from Moorhead stating that another youngster, a native of Thief River Fals, had pitched a pair of no-hit baseball games in Cadet league competition (for the 11 to 13 year olds) in Moorhead. And this youngster is Greg Troland, the young son of the Chuck Troland's, a grandson of Mrs. Myrtle Troland and a nephew of Maynard Troland.

Greg's team won the city championship in the 11 to 13-year age group, and the team was given a trip to Minneapolis and the Met stadium where they witnessed a Minnesota Twins game.

Wetbacks Unlimited

I have learned, through devious means, that three of the city's more avid duckhunters—Leif Erickson, John Moum and his son Ken—joined the ever-growing Wetbacks Unlimited club on Sunday.

The three hunters were in Thief lake, in a boat, and as a flock of ducks swept past, the trio, perhaps with shotguns loaded with magnum shells, fired a barrage. And the boat capsized, flipping Leif and John and Ken in the lake. Fortunately they were only in chest-deep water, and the weather was mild, so no harm was done. It was somewhat humiliating for these veteran hunters, and especially a hunter with the name of Leif Erickson, to be dunked in the lake. It couldn't happen to a nicer bunch of fellows!

They are now members in good standing in the club that boasts of such hunters as Russ Embury, Milan Borsheim, Don Narverud, Cotton Langevin and many, many others.

List Winners at Clayton's Texaco

Bert Berg of Thief River Falls won the grand prize at the grand re-opening of Clayton's Texaco Service recently. Ladies prizes were won by Mrs. Arthur Berglund of Warren and Mrs. Vern Erickson while men's prizes were won by Melvin Hjelle of Newfolden and Earl Gjernes. Clayton Angell, station owner, expressed appreciation to those who helped make his grand re-opening a success.

'U' M. Man Comments on State's Egg Industry

Minnesota poultrymen ask: "Will egg prices and costs ever permit reasonable profits to be earned in this egg business?" Many feed and equipment dealers, hatcherymen and egg handlers ask similar questions, says Carroll V. Hess, agricultural economist at the University of Minnesota.

While egg production has leveled off nationally, production in Minnesota has declined nearly 20 per cent since reaching a high in 1955. Even with Minnesota's annual production of 3.5 billion eggs, ranking third in the nation, egg-feed price ratios have been unfavorable according to Hess.

Minnesota's farm price for eggs has averaged 7 to 8 cents below the U. S. farm price. Hess says these low egg prices can be attributed to four factors:

1. The long distance to market for 70 per cent of the state's production. Nearby states are also surplus egg-producing areas. So the bulk of Minnesota eggs must travel from 1,000 to 1,500 miles to market.

2. A generally poor reputation for the Minnesota egg. Our eggs have not received a price in the distant market equal to their quality. In spite of general improvements in their quality, the low quality image of the past persists in some distant markets.

3. Loss of earlier established markets in the Southeast. In 1958 Arkansas, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina were egg-deficit states. However, two years later these states exported 2 million cases.

4. Excessively high cost of assembling and processing eggs for shipment because of many small, scattered, inefficient producers usually results in higher production costs and a lower quality egg.

Disregarding the painful impact on small producers and handlers, the future competitive position of Minnesota's egg industry depends upon the speed with which it adjusts to an industry of fewer but larger flocks and handlers.

Hess indicated greater coordination was needed to meet this competition. With the highly inelastic demand for eggs and a contracting domestic and foreign demand, market supplies must be watched carefully to avoid overproduction and depressed prices. Surpluses are a symptom of an industry lacking proper coordination between the productive machine and the consuming segment.

The only safe way to engage in producing eggs is to be reasonably certain of a satisfactory market. "In short," Hess says, "we must emphasize 'marketing' our eggs in advance of production rather than producing first and hoping a good market will be available."

VA Guardianship Program Expands

Total of 2,377 Wards Are Now Being Provided for

A marked increase in the scope of the Veterans Administration guardianship program was recorded during fiscal year 1963, John R. Parrish, director of the Veterans Administration regional office in Fargo, said today.

A total of 483 beneficiaries were released from the guardianship rolls, making a net increase of 151 beneficiaries and a new total of 2,377 wards under the guardianship program. More than 77 per cent of the wards are minors.

Under the guardianship program, beneficiaries in the 50 states Puerto Rico and the Philippines are served through the chief attorneys in 65 regional offices.

The program protects beneficiaries by selecting the best-suited persons to manage their estates. Supervision by the chief attorney assures the use of VA funds for current needs of the beneficiaries with conservation of any funds surplus to those needs.

Assets of 2,011 beneficiaries accounted for during the year totaled $3,441,775, with receipts of $1,112,406.

VA attorneys also recovered for the Fargo regional area $22,008 from escheated funds, overpayments and other collections.

Few Understand American Economy, Says U.S. Chamber

National Organization Publishes New Booklet

The basic irony of the American economic system is that, while it has produced the highest standard of living in world history, only an amazingly small percentage of the beneficiaries, including teachers as well as students, know what makes it tick.

In an attempt to suggest answers to this problem, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States has produced a new 56-page booklet, entitled "How to Plan Economic Understanding Projects."

The purpose of the booklet is to describe the many ways in which businessmen are working successfully to dispel the enormous fog of ignorance existing among the American people about the competitive enterprise system and the essentials of economics.

Described in the publication are approximately 18 different types of activities, each one of which has increased economic understanding directly or indirectly.

In a foreword to the booklet, Robert A. Finney, General Manager of the Humboldt Brick and Tile Co., Humboldt, Kans., and Chairman of the National Chamber's Education Committee, expressed the hope that "many more chambers of commerce and business firms will utilize one or more of these projects to increase economic literacy among the youth of their communities."

Claudia Hanson Is NW School's H'coming Queen

Caludia Hanson of Reynolds, N. Dak., recently elected by the student body as homecoming queen, was crowned Friday, October 18, at the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston. Claudia is a senior at the school and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hanson. Her attendants were Judy Karr, Warren; Kay Petersen, Monango, N. D.; Judy Rivard, Argyle; and Nancy McKeever, Kenora, Ont., Canada.

At the Homecoming assembly program held in the forenoon, Claudia was crowned queen by the captain of the Northwest School football team, James Swenson of Moorhead.

The Homecoming celebration began in the morning with the judging of the dormitory decorations by a faculty committee. Stephens Hall, boys' dormitory, won the bronze trophy for the best dormitory Homecoming decorations.

Controversy on Amber Light Law Resolved

Some confusion has entered the stop and go traffic signal situation as regards the right of the motorists entering the intersection on the amber (or yellow) light. The 1963 legislature attempted to rectify the confusion caused by the ambiguous wording of the old law. To clarify the newly enacted provision, traffic engineering authorities of the Minnesota Highway Department were asked for their interpretation.

The old edition of the law had this to say: "*Vehicular traffic fac*ing the signal (yellow) is thereby warned that the red or stop signal will be exhibited immediately thereafter and such vehicular traffic shall not enter or be crossing the intersection when the red or stop signal is exhibited."

This caused a variety of interpretations, even, it is believed, contributing to many accidents. Some drivers seeing the yellow light appear would jam on the brakes suddenly to avoid being in the intersection when the light changed to red. Other drivers following, knowing that there was sufficient time for a driver so close to the intersection to complete the crossing on the yellow, would be taken by surprise and often be unable to avoid crashing into the stopped vehicle. The new law does not make it illegal to be in the intersection when the red light appears if the driver entered on the yellow.

The new provision of the uniform Vehicle Code, adopted by the 1963 legislature, provides: "Vehicular traffic facing a steady yellow signal is thereby warned that the related green movement is being terminated and that a red indication will be exhibited immediately thereafter when vehicular traffic shall not enter the intersection."

The new language should eliminate much of the confusion, state highway authorities say.

Their interpretation is that a vehicle which enters the intersection on a yellow light may complete the crossing even though the red light comes on while it is in the process of crossing. No conflict can occur since the green light for one street would never come on until the red light is displayed on the other street.

Movie Film Made By Cement Group On Joint Sealing

Permanent Sealing On Concrete Pavement Gives Research in Minnesota

A movie film on the Minnesota Highway Department's method of sealing joints and cracks in concrete pavement was recently completed by a cement association, headquartered in Chicago, the department reports.

The association chose Minnesota for its film because of the highway department's recent advances in that particular field of highway maintenance.

The association plans to loan the film to other state highway departments, an indication Minnesota is considered a leader in this type of concrete pavement maintenance. Department officials are hopeful the film will help other states contemplating similar maintenance measures on concrete pavement.

Permanent joint and crack sealing of concrete pavements, unlike temporary filling of cracks with various compounds, has been a problem for many years, according to highway officials, primarily because a perfect sealing material has not yet been found. However, the Minnesota Highway Department has developed a greatly improved material after years of experiment and research.

The department had been using a hot-poured rubber asphalt material costing 8½ cents per pound for filler, but with changes in specifications for the new rubber asphalt, the cost increased to 12.3 cents per pound. Department officials are confident the improved material will justify the increased cost. If the new type of filler is as good as highway officials believe, over a period of years it will result in a substantial saving to the state.

Assistant Labor Secretary Tells Status of Women

Freedom To Choose Life Patterns Is Basic To Group Recommendations

"The report of the President's Commission on the Status of Women is an invitation to action," Assistant Secretary of Labor Esther Peterson told members and guests of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs recently in Detroit, Mich.

"Our belief that one of the great freedoms for the individual in a democracy is the freedom to choose among different life patterns is basic to our recommendations," said Mrs. Peterson, who served as executive vice chairman of the commission. "We see this as a right of both men as well as women.

"The report does not preach; nor does it make a special plea for women because they are women; it views them as co-workers and co-citizens with men. It stresses the fact that we have come to a turning point in the history of American women—a point where opportunities abound in a climate which has never before been favorable. It remains now for women to exercise their right to choose—the kind of lives they will lead, the work they will do, the contribution they will make to society.

"Women's organizations can implement the commission report by seeking to influence public opinion in such matters as greater educational and employment opportunities for women, acceptance of women in top-level jobs, jury service for women, and elimination of laws which impose legal disabilities on women," Mrs. Peterson concluded.

Good humor is a philosophic state of mind; it seems to say to nature that we take her no more seriously than she takes us. I maintain that one should always talk of philosophy with a smile. We owe it to the 'Eternal to be virtuous; but we have the right to add to this tribute our irony as a sort of personal reprisal.

—Joseph Renan

Why?

The experts we sent to Vietnam to study the situation and clarify the issues have returned, but there hasn't been much clarification of the issues or the purposes of our war insofar as the public is concerned. From the White House came a meaningless statement to the effect that the political situation in South Vietnam "remains deeply serious." From the National Observer we get the following conclusion:

> "Allowing for all the oscurities dictated by the war in Washington, the sense of the McNamara-Taylor report is that it would be feeble-minded to pull out of South Vietnam now and hand the Reds a certain victory, simply because we don't like the way Diems runs his affairs."

But that doesn't explain why the problem should be ours alone. If there is justification for defending the area from Chinese aggression India should have a very real interest. And our European allies have just as much at stake in southeastern Asia as we do, and probably more.

It is quite obvious that all of the facts have not been made public. The American people have a right to know why.

Time To Become Conservative

Senator Barry Goldwater seems to be making good progress as a candidate for the nomination for president by the Republican party. This pleases us mightily because of all of the Republican candidates he comes the closest to being a conservative. The others are too much me-too liberals.

We need a two-party system in our country, and, eliminating the extremists on both sides, these two parties should be liberal and conservative. We can have too much of liberalism and too much of conservatism, and when we have had too much of the one we can, as reasonable people, capable of self-government, swing from one to the other as conditions require.

It is obvious that we have had too many years of liberal government. Our national debt justifies that conclusion. Our forty-cent dollar should be convincing proof that we have drifted down the easy road too many years. It is high time that we recognize some of the unpleasant facts of life, and govern ourselves as intelligent, informed people.

Senator Barry Goldwater, as a conservative, is not going to be able to conduct a pie-in-the-sky campaign. As a conservative, he is not going to be able to out-promise the promising liberals, who for years have promised the impossible. We have some back-tracking and debt paying to do, and such things are not pleasant. But in fairness to the generation that is crowding us out of the picture of responsibility, we owe them an era of good management.

Let's Face The Facts

Norman Clapp, head of the Rural Electrification Administration, spoke to an REA meeting at Rochester recently and lashed out against "selfish interests" that he said were seeking to destroy the organization. He stated:

> "Selfish interests which previously were content to wait for the rural electric cooperatives to die on the vine are suddenly alarmed that there is a new determination to make it possible for these systems to survive as a permanent and constructive yardstick in an essentially monopolistic industry."

There may be some selfish interests that would like to see the REA fail, but in our opinion they would not be a numerous lot. In this group he shouldn't include those of us who are hopeful that private industry in this field of service will survive. We believe there is much more danger of private industry in this field being socialized than there is of the cooperatives becoming privately owned.

We have an interest in what might be called a cooperative operation here in Thief River Falls, our municipal plant that makes a substantial contribution to the revenue of our city. Much of this revenue which the city receives is available because the plant and operation makes no contribution toward the support of other units of government, the federal, the state and local. We are not complaining about this advantage which we enjoy, but, obviously, it is not fair.

If some consumers of electricity must contribute toward the cost of government at all levels when they pay their light bills, then all consumers should be required to make a contribution in that form. There is no justification in taxing us in order to provide low cost power for people, and industries, located in Kentucky. And there is no justification for taxing the good people in Crookston to provide low cost power in Thief River Falls.

Unless we approach this problem realistically, recognizing the obvious facts and the need for some uniformity in taxation, we will wind up with a nation-wide system of government power, and the one thing we need least of in this country, if we aspire to higher living standards, is more government.

Is Minnesota Dollar-short?

We are hopeful that Governor Rolvaag is right in his statement that the legislature did not provide enough revenue for the expenditures that were authorized and we wish to commend the Governor for ordering the heads of the various departments to operate within the limits of the funds that will be available. We are sure a cut of just a few million dollars is not going to curtail any necessary service.

Our guess however, is that the tax revenues will exceed the estimates. This year has been a boom year, and the boom, a product of public spending, is not going to end in the campaign year that is ahead of us. The politicians in Washington will see to that. Federal funds have never been tossed around as recklessly as they are now, and the kind of taxes that are geared to business activity, wages and profits, will produce an abundant harvest of tax dollars.

It isn't the boom that we worry about. Our concern has to do with the bust that follows the boom, inevitably. We do not create a permanantly higher level of prosperity by mortgaging the future. Our living standard rises only as we earn a higher living standard — on a pay-as-you-go plan.

Equality Is In The Making

The Kennedy brothers are losing interest in the racial equality question. Their sudden interest in the problem obviously was prompted by the thought that it could be developed into a political issue that would be an important factor in the 1964 campaign. It would lose them some support in the south but this would be more than offset by the gains in the large cities of the north. It is by the control of the large cities that the Kennedys hope to perpetuate their empire.

Their sudden lack of inerest can no doubt be attributed to the fact that the issue they had created did not get the favorable support they had anticipated. Too many reasonable people who, while they favored racial equality, knew that it could not be achieved merely by passing a few laws. Eleanor Yager, writing in the Modern Miller, a trade publication, sums up the problem realistically in the following conclusions:

> "By precedent, reason today is again subservient to emotion. There is no answer in the overpowering prejudice of the South nor in the thinly veiled hypocrisy of the North. We are all for "brotherhood" until the first Negro family moves into our exclusive suburban community—and it is amazing how rapidly our virtue melts.
> "Then let us admit that prejudices do exist and that we are impaled on rationalizations concerning the inferiority of the Negro which may not hold water. Prejudice, however, cannot be legislated away, and laws that are only enforceable at sword point result in victory for neither white nor black. Victory comes only when Negroes are on an acknowledged plane of equality with whites. While the non-violence philosophy of Ghandi creates a better impression than the rip-snorting tactics of more belligerent Negro leaders, neither achieves the most desirable result.
> "There is an interesting anecdote about George Washington. His Negro servant tipped his hat respectfully, a gesture Washington returned with equal respect. Why do you tip your hat to a Negro? asked a companion. Because I cannot allow anyone to be better mannered than I, was the reply.
> "Herein lies a secret. By his conduct can the Negro elevate himself to the position of respect he seeks. The first step toward this goal should be equal education opportunity, segregated or not. This is within his realm of attainment, because no one denies that it is reasonable. Education is the forerunner of culture. Whether justified or not, the Negro must go far to raise his standards with equal education as the starting point — and education knows no color barriers whether taught in a segregated or desegregated school, by a black or white professor. Under either he can raise his own stature (a process which cannot be legislated by abrogating the customs or rights of others) and when he does, he will not need to demand equality—he will have it."

Paying the Bill

(The Columbia (S. C.) State)

A Pennsylvania judge may have started something by sentencing a car-crazy youngster to help support the victim of his automotive destruction. The judge ordered the youth to get a job and to pay half of his salary for the next five years to the family man he ran down and severely injured.

This is the sort of constructive and productive punishment which might make juvenile delinquents sit up and take notice. Too much damage done by careless or vicious youngsters is paid for by doting parents, or is ignored in the handing out of wrist-slapping sentences which frequently are suspended.

But when a culprit, young or old, is required to personally pay the cost of his misdeed, chances are that he will get a better idea of responsibility, with a capital R.

Minnesota Optometric Association Provides Tips for Safe Hunt

A contributing factor to hunting hazards is the too-common practice of hunting without glasses. Many a man who ordinarily wears glasses will put them aside when he starts his tramp through the woods. The weather is unpredictable, and glasses 'get in his way''.

Rain and snow collect on the glasses, and he thinks he can see better without them. The inconvenience of cleaning glasses, however, is small compared to the possibility of being involved in an accident.

A good method for preventing rain-spattered glasses, says the Minnesota Optometric Association, is to clean them with soap and water; rinse; dry thoroughly. Then take a bar of soap and rub on both surfaces, take a dry cloth and polish briskly. This provides a polished surface upon which raindrops cannot remain like polka dots. They run down the lens, leaving it wet but clear. This procedure also prevents steaming. A good substitute is furniture wax, which is applied sparingly, and rubbed briskly into a thin invisible film.

Seeing on A Broad Scale

The deer hunter must have a good FIELD OF VISION. While drawing a bead on his would-be trophy, could he see another object walking toward his line of fire either from right or left? If not, he may have what is known as 'tunnel vision''. The side views are blanked-out. The dangers to life and limb of such a visual handicap can readily be seen.

Do You See Red?

Even in the early days, the visual problems of hunting were recognized. Huntsmen wore brilliantly colored garments, so that they could be seen readily in the underbrush of the forest. That tradition is followed today, for most hunters wear a vivid red hat and a garish shirt. But, what good would a startling array of color be to the hunter who is color blind?

Statistics indicate that from two to five per cent of the male population is color blind, according to the Minnesota Optometric association. Of the approximately seven million men who apply for hunting licenses, at least two per cent, or 140,000 hunters, would be unable to recognize a bright red cap or jacket if they saw it!

Hunt Within Visual Bounds

Except in extreme cases, a visual problem does not mean that a hunter must give up his sport. Every hunter should have a knowledge of his own visual capacities, and take precautions to hunt within these bounds. It is common sense not to shoot before accurately identifying your target. This is doubly true for the man with visual problems.

If you cannot see well at dusk, or on dreary days, end your hunting early. If you ordinarily wear glasses for clear distance vision, put them on for hunting, too. That is a time when they are vitally needed.

A few precautionary measures regarding your vision will decrease the accident toll during hunting season. In the pursuit of game, be cautious, so that others may live to enjoy the hunt again next year.

It is important that the hunter sees his target clearly. And it is obvious that he does not when we consider the 3,500 hunters who are shot by their companions, not to mention the unnecessary yearly loss of domestic animals mistaken for game. Isn't it better to return from a hunting trip with a little less in the bag, than to have mistaken another hunter for a deer?

How accurately can you distinguish a group of partridge intermingled with the fallen leaves? How accurately can you distinguish solid figures against a mottled background, or against a background of less color intensity? In safe hunting, says the Minnesota Optometric association, this ability is necessary to distinguish another hunter against the background of the forest!

Hospitalized Vets To Have Pheasant Dinner Next Week

More Than 4,000 Men To Be Given Dinners As Result of Program

During the opening weekend of the Minnesota pheasant season October 26-28, hunters will take to the fields in search of pheasants to feed more than 4,000 military service veterans hospitalized throughout the state.

Hunters from 250 Minnesota towns will join in the hunt to provide birds for the 23rd annual Minneapolis Tribune Pheasant Dinners for Hospitalized Veterans. The dinners were originated by Ed Shave, Tribune outdoor writer now retired.

The program is sponsored in cooperation with American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars posts, Minnesota sportsmen's, civic and conservation clubs.

The dinners will be held beginning October 31 at Veterans hospitals in Minneapolis, St. Cloud and Fargo; Minnesota Soldiers Home, Minneapolis; state hospitals in Cambridge, St. Peter, Rochester, Fergus Falls, Anoka, Hastings, Moose Lake and Willmar; Nopeming and Glen Lake sanatoriums, and Ah-Gwah-Ching nursing home.

Largest dinners will be served at the St. Cloud Veterans hospital, where 1,350 will be fed, and at the Minneapolis Veterans hospital where 1,000 will eat pheasant.

Fifty state game wardens in the pheasant area will direct collection of the donated birds and take them to 26 towns for pickup by Minneapolis Tribune trucks. The pheasants will be taken to the National Food Stores commissary in Hopkins, where they will be cleaned on a volunteer basis by National Food Stores employees of Minneapolis, St. Paul and suburban stores. The dressed birds then will be distributed to the hospitals.

State Ranks 3rd In Obligating of ABC Road Funds

Minnesota ranks third in the nation in obligating its ABC federal road aid funds, according to a tabulation made by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads as of August 31.

The report shows Minnesota has obligated six per cent of its 1965 allotment, and is outranked only by Louisiana, with 23 per cent, and Kentucky, with 13 per cent. (The extent to which a state obligates its available federal aid highway monies is an index made by the Washington bureau and distributed to states so that rankings can be compared.)

No other state in the Minnesota five-state group appears in the 1965 column. However, in obligation of 1964 ABC funds they are: North Dakota, 91 per cent; Iowa, 90 per cent; Wisconsin, 75 per cent; and South Dakota, 11 per cent.

BIG DOLLAR'S WORTH of satisfaction is graphically demonstrated here in Minnesota's opening shot for the annual CARE (Cooperative for American Relief to Everywhere) fund-raising drive. The Minnesota dairy industry's Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Audrey Meyer of Clarks Grove, holds an out-sized dollar bill which buys approximately 27 pounds of nonfat dry milk powder through CARE channels. When reconstituted at CARE feeding missions, the powdered milk provides an eight-ounce serving of milk for 441 children — as further demonstrated here by that number of children at Our Lady of Grace school in Edina. National goal of this year's CARE drive is six million $1 donations to buy plentiful U.S. foods to help feed 35 million people in 33 countries. Donations may be mailed to CARE at any of these three addresses: 801 Marquette Ave., Minneapolis; 95 East Seventh St., St. Paul; or CARE, New York 16, N.Y.

NEWS for truck owners who need a new one now

Things Chevrolet has developed since the last time you bought to give you more for your money:

Double-wall construction. This feature of Chevrolet cabs and the Fleetside pickup body has two advantages. Insulation and sound-deadening material is sandwiched between the two layers of steel in the cab to give you more comfort; in the body, the lower inner wall acts as a buffer against load damage, preserving the outer appearance of the truck.

Suspension to fit the truck. Conventional half- and three-quarter-ton models have independent front suspension with variable rate coils in the rear. Variable rate coils do not "bottom out" as readily.

Mediums and heavies have I-beam suspension with variable-rate leaf springs. It automatically stiffens as the load increases—and vice versa. It means a smoother, flatter ride regardless of load, a better handling truck.

The right engine. Chevrolet never has been in better position to give you the type and size you need for maximum efficiency. Today there are many different capacities of gasoline and diesel Chevrolet truck engines—fours, sixes, V8's.

Stronger frames. Every conventional 1964 Chevrolet truck has a ladder-type frame. This type is more resilient, better able to give with the load and terrain. Its simple design also makes it easier to mount special bodies on the truck. Its riveted side rails are stronger.

Greater model selection. This time you're going to find it a simple matter to pick the exact type of Chevrolet truck for the kind of work you do. In delivery trucks, for instance, in addition to regular panels and pickups, we have eleven different sizes of ready-made walk-in vans, some with full-width rear doors.

Quality and value. Chevrolets today are a lot more truck than your money bought the last time, and yet the price tag is just about the same as 5 or 6 years ago. Call your Chevrolet dealer for information or for a demonstration.

"Dear God..."

When Grandmother was a girl, prayer was no stranger to her. She learned early to turn her thoughts to God and to ask Him for courage and for guidance.

The country was younger then. Men were still probing physical horizons in search of a better life for their families. Their quest took them to the sea in ships, or along the danger-filled trails to the West. Sometimes the women shared their peril. Other times, they stayed at home and waited, and that was even harder. But whichever their course, they prayed.

Our horizons are different today, and our lives filled with less danger. But we need prayer just as much — if not more — than we did in Grandmother's day.

Remember that prayer is our greatest source of strength. If the habit of prayer has become unfamiliar to you, start rediscovering it by attending church services regularly.

Pennington and Marshall-Beltrami

Soil Conservation District Outstanding Farmers Named

Winners of the Minneapolis Star-Tribune conservation awards for 1963 have been selected by the Pennington County Soil Conservation district and the Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation District, according to the respective chairman of supervisory boards in the two districts.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman A. Peterson, Rt. 5, Thief River Falls, have been selected by the Pennington county district, according to Oscar Houske, chairman of the local district's board of supervisors. Marshall - Beltrami winners are Mrs. Bertha Landsrud and her son Alvin of Grygla, reports Lyndon Magnuson, board chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson have been cooperators in the Pennington county district since 1954. They operate a cash grain and livestock operation on 680 acres of land and have operated the farm for 18 years. The Petersons have five children.

Conservation practices listed for the farm are conservation crop rotation system of two years hay or pasture and three years grain; planting; soil testing and use of fertilizer; brush clearing; permanent pasture improvement; drainage; and rough tillage on sandy soils. Farm livestock includes 50 head of dairy animals.

Nine farms were considered by the board of supervisors which reduced the number to three. Judges making the final selection this year were Phillip Bergland, Paul Roy and John Wold.

Mrs. Landsrud and her son Alvin have been cooperators in the Marshall-Beltrami district since 1953, now operating a 539-acre cash grain and livestock operation. District board members doing the judging among three selected farms were Oliver Howland, Grant Satre, Lyndon Magnuson & Ole Prestebak.

Conservation practices which have been carried out on the Landsrud farm include conservation crop rotation system of two years of hay and three years of grain; open drainage system involving three miles of ditching on the farm; clearing 80 acres of brush; permanent pasture renovation program; and use of fertilizer.

More Acres Needed

Contract Growers Happy with Crops

Contract growers of millet and sunflowers in the Thief River Falls area met Wednesday evening with George Piitt, president of Valley Feed and Supply company of Spring Valley, New York, to discuss the past season and plans for the 1964 crops.

Growers generally expressed satisfaction with production of the crops under contract this year—the first year that crop conditions have permitted a normal harvest since the plant began here. Contract prices were above market price on both crops and per-acre returns were good, growers said.

Valley Feed and Supply company owns Farmers Grain and Milling company of Thief River Falls, the local operation which contracts for production of sunflowers and millet. Processing and packaging of the grain into wild bird feed for sale throughout the nation is also handled in Thief River Falls.

In meeting with local farmers, Piitt expressed concern over the limited amount of acreage which has been contracted here. He asked for further cooperation in producing crops for processing and stated that if more acres are not contracted it is likely that the Thief River Falls plant will be demoted to a receiving station. Processing would then be done in another plant in some other community.

Piitt will return to Thief River Falls in about a month to sign contracts for acreage in 1964. He is hopeful that considerable acres will be subscribed so that the plant can continue processing and possibly expand.

Sunflowers proved to be a profitable crop this year. Normal crops had a cash return equal to or better than what wheat would be expected to produce—and there is no sunflower surplus. Price for the crop is guaranteed in the contract, seed is made available by the company and planting of the row crop provides opportunity for field weed control while the land is in production.

Persons interested in growing either sunflowers or millet may contact Harland Knutson, manager of the local plant, or are encouraged to talk to their neighbors who produced either crop under contract this year.

Carole Goulet Is Bride Of Duane Glass Oct. 5

Marriage of Miss Carole Goulet and Duane Glass was solemnized October 5 at St. Bernard's Catholic church in Thief River Falls, with Rev. Keough Patnode officiating.

Miss Goulet is the daughter of Mrs. Doris Goulet and the late Leonard Goulet of this city and Mr. Glass is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland (Cy) Glass, also of Thief River Falls.

Organist for the 11 o'clock double-ring service was Miss Erin Carlson of this city, the bride's second cousin. About 165 relatives and friends were present as the couple repeated their vows before an altar banked with yellow gladioli and bronze mums. Nuptial music was "At Cana's Wedding Feast," and the "Ave Maria."

The bride was given in marriage by Leslie (Bud) Warren of Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada. Her attire was a white floor-length gown of embroidered nylon, the bouffant skirt billowing from numerous small bows. Securing the shoulder-length veil was a jeweled crown of seed pearls and royal borealis rhinestones. Her bouquet was of Duchess roses in fall shades and white, with accents of camellia foliage.

The bride's attendants were her sister, Mrs. John Holm of St. Louis Park as matron of honor, Misses Joann Glass of Gilbert and Vickie Goulet, sisters of the groom and bride, respectively, as bridesmaids. They wore street-length dresses of copper colored crystallite in iridescent shades, and designed with bell-shaped skirts and fitted bodices. Their bouquets were of large bronze mums with yellow pompon mums and croton foliage, in cascade arrangements. The flower girl, Virginia Goulet, sister of the bride, wore a dress like those worn by the bridesmaids.

Best man was Dale Glass, brother of the groom, and Robert Fitzgerald and Keith Benson served as groomsmen. Guests were ushered by Jack Goulet and Douglas Remick. Men of the party wore tuxedos, and their boutonnieres were champagne colored. Ringbearer was James Goulet, the bride's brother.

Mrs. Goulet chose a three-piece green knit suit with black accessories and Mrs. Glass wore a three-piece wool knit suit of teal blue, also with black accessories. Corsages were autumn-hued roses and white carnations, respectively. Mrs. Josephine Goulet, grandmother of the bride, was honored with a champagne colored corsage.

A turkey dinner was served in the church dining hall immediately after the ceremony, with the bride's mother as hostess. The ladies guild of the church served. The bridal cake was in the form of a cross. Diane Goulet registered the 165 guests who attended from Thief River Falls, Crookston, Red Lake Falls, Bemidji, Minneapolis, Gilbert and Duluth, Minn., and Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Mrs. Orville Sustad of Crookston, aunt of the groom, and Mrs. Caroline Brunelle, of this city, the bride's aunt, cut and served the cake. Gifts were opened and displayed by Mrs. Archie Schneider, Mrs. Gordon Hillestad and Miss Diane Bugge.

After a honeymoon trip in Las Vegas, Nev., the couple is at home at 507 W. 3rd street, in Thief River Falls, where Mr. Glass is in business with his father as distributor for Hamm's. Miss Goulet graduated from Lincoln high school here and from Misericordia School of Nursing at Winnipeg, and is employed as a nurse at Northwestern hospital here. Mr. Glass is also a graduate of the local high school.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

MRS. LAWRENCE HEMMESCH

This dessert idea has just a subtle hint of cheese blended into its 'What's in this that makes it taste so different?" flavor. It's just right for the end of the big meal when the family wants something "to fill up the cracks," or for dessert lunches when you're serving only "one thing and coffee." Either way, I think you'll like it.

CHEESE CAKE

34 graham crackers, crushed
1 tablespoon sugar
¼ pound butter or margarine

Mix all together and line the bottom of a 10x13x2 inch pan with three-fourths of this mixture, reserving the remainder for the top of the dessert.

Dissolve one 3-oz. package of lemon gelatine dessert in 1 cup boiling water. Cool. When set, whip one 8-oz. package Philadelphia cream cheese. Add 1 cup sugar and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Add to gelatine mixture and cream well. Whip 1 pint cream and fold into the above mixture. Pour into cracker crust. Sprinkle with the remaining crumbs. Chill for an hour or more before serving.

Mary, the Hemmesch's only daughter among five children, is their oldest child. Youngest of the boys is Mitchell, 18 months. They keep mother busy, but she manages to sandwich a bit of lovely needlework into her schedule. She has made a number of fancy dishtowels from time to time. The family spends whatever time they can in visiting the various parks in the area, their favorite summertime recreation.

Mr. Hemmesch is a member of the Thief River Falls fire department. When he isn't on duty, he hunts "just about everything" according to his wife. And he enjoys fishing, and now several of his sons are old enough to tag along to the river, and indications are that they have inherited his love of Izaak Waltonism.

Gregory Bruggeman spent the weeeknd at the Kenneth Bruggeman home in Mentor.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Christopherson and Mrs. Agnes Warring visited a week ago Sunday at the Bruce Carlsons at Karlstad.

Rev. J. N. Parbst of Minneapolis visited in Thief River Falls, with his mother Mrs. Otto Parbst last Tuesday, enroute to Minneapolis from Regina, Canada where he attended a Board meeting of the American Lutheran Church.

Wilbert Johnson of Fertile visited Sunday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nellus Johnson.

Mrs. Norman Jorgenson of Goodridge was a Sunday evening caller at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nellus Johnson.

Attending the funeral of Mrs. Herbert Strong at Alexandria last week were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Swenson, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Swenson and Oscar Swenson, all of this city. The men are brothers of Mrs. Strong.

Girl Scout Council Will Receive Charter

An important event for adults in Girl Scouting will take place November 2 when the new Pine to Prairie Girl Scout Council will hold its chartering meeting at the Westward Ho Motel, Grand Forks. Those from Thief River Falls who plan to be in attendance are Mrs. Stanley Ranum and Mrs. Florian Kritz.

The business meeting will include election of the council's first board of directors.

Appearing on the program for the luncheon meeting will be Mrs. Watson P. Davidson, Jr., Region X chairman and Miss Mary Miller, Region X director, both from Minneapolis. Region A, known as the Hiawatha Region, is composed of all councils in North Dakota, South Dakota and Minnesota.

A panel of participants in the Girl Scout National convention being held at Miami Beach, Fla., this week will present the highlights of the convention. Included on the panel will be Mrs. Robert Dodds and Mrs. Kenneth Tischart, both of Red Lake Falls.

At the chartering meeting an area consisting of 20 counties in counties in northwestern Minnesota will join to become one council with headquarters in Grand Forks, N. D. The six councils of Red River Valley, Northwestern Minnesota, Wahpeton, Valley City, Jamestown and Devils Lake, which have been operating as separate councils, will now combine along with lone troop communities to become one larger council.

This event will be the culmination of a year and a half of work by the Project 11 organization committee (the name given to the proposed council during the organizational period.) The organization committee was composed of representatives from each geographical area.

The Girl Scout organization has as its objectives:

1. To make Scouting available to every girl in the U. S. A. thru a Girl Scout Council.

2. To insure that each council has within its jurisdiction the resources to offer the full program to all girls, train its volunteers, employ its own professional staff where needed and finance its own work.

This means that each community within the Pine to Prairie Council will have the services of professional staff members, will be able to offer more training to adults, to extend their campaign program, and will share in the strengths of a larger council. This will provide better scouting for more girls; they will retain their own local events, but will also have a chance to participate in council affairs, and be trained for national and international opportunities in which they might want to participate.

Any adult members or friends interested in Girl Scouting are invited to attend the chartering meeting from 11 a. m. to 1:30 p. m. Saturday, Nov. 2. Reservations for the luncheon meeting may be obtained by mailing $2 per person to the Red River Valley Girl Scout Council, 201 Security Building, Grand Forks.

Veterans' Widows Receive Increase In DIC Payments

Dependency and Indemnity Compensation To Raise By $17 Million Yearly

Nearly 123,000 widows of veterans on the Veterans Administration dependency and indemnity compensation (DIC) rolls now receiving about $215 million annually will get a $17 million yearly increase under the terms of two bills signed into law by the President.

One bill increased the basic payment for widows receiving DIC from the old rate of $112 to $120; the second bill increased military pay in general.

Under DIC, an eligible widow receives the basic payment plus 12 per cent of the monthly basic military pay now being received by servicemen whose rank and years of service are the same as those of the deceased veteran. The minimum increase is $8 monthly and when military pay is added the additional amount could be as much as $23. The average increase is $15.

To avoid a delay in payments to widows, the regular October checks will be mailed at the usual time, and a separate mailing will carry one-time checks for just the October share of the increase.

In an effort to reduce unnecessary correspondence, the VA will mail an insert with the one month increase checks explaining the reason for the checks, and emphasizing that starting in November and thereafter the regular payment checks to widows will include the increases.

DIC payments are authorized for widows of servicemen who died on or after January 1, 1957, from disability or disease attributed to service in the armed forces.

Increases will also go to widows of servicemen who died before January 1, 1957, if they have elected to receive DIC instead of death compensation.

Social Security Man To Be Here Tuesday

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

by Carolyn Offerdahl

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

Are you thinking of joining an organization? Homemakers may be exactly that for which you are looking. Your local club has monthly meetings that you attend. Also there are four councilor meetings a year that are to be attended by one member of each homemakers group. They are in October, December, February and April.

What benefits do you receive from homemakers? There are leader training meetings and open meetings to attend, where information on various subjects is given either by a specialist from the University of Minnesota, a specialist in his field in the area, or the home agent. Women also get a chance to exhibit at the Feed and Seed Show in February and at the Achievement Day in the spring.

The lessons that are to be given this year are as follows:

Good Grooming, which is to be given by Miss Louise Anderson from the cosmetology department at the area vocational school, is being held next week on October 22 and 23. Being stressed at this time is the importance of grooming in daily life. The topics to be presented are cleanliness, clothing, posture, voice, hair, skin, hands, teeth and inner beauty.

At the Christmas lesson on November 17, Christmas decorations including basketry, stone jewelry making, gift wrapping and plaques for the wall will be made. This meeting is open to all interested homemakers.

In January there are two meetings. Gustav Hard will be talking on the selection and care of house plants on January 15. This meeting is in connection with a district soils meeting which is being held in Thief River Falls. Also in January is a leader training meeting in home decorating. This lesson will include the wise choice of wall and wood finishes, floor coverings and other background materials. Appearance, wearability care and cost will be taken into consideration.

Making and repairing home furnishings is the topic of the February meeting. This meeting is open to all interested homemakers, 4-H club project leaders and 4-H members. The objectives of this meeting are to understand the skills necessary for refinishing and reupholstering furniture.

In March there will be a one-half day workshop for those interested in home photography.

A lesson on hat making is set for the month of April. This meeting is open to Homemakers, training leaders and 4-H clothing leaders. May ends the Homemakers year with an Achievement Day.

Does this program sound interesting? If so, join a Homemakers group. You can do this by contacting the extension office or the group nearest you.

How often have hunters in your family discarded their game after bringing it home? How many times have you as a housewife refused to cook game after it has reached the kitchen? Now that hunting season is open, you may be interested in knowing how pheasants and ducks should be handled.

One reason for the waste of meat taken by hunters is the fact that sufficient care is not taken after the game is shot so it can be presented to the housewife in an edible and attractive condition.

The necessity for dressing game immediately after shooting depends, of course, on the weather. Hunters agree that game birds may be carried through the day without cleaning. If the temperature is warm and birds are to be kept more than one day without ice or refrigeration, they should be drawn as soon as possible; but the feathers should be left on until the hunter reaches home. After the bird is drawn, the body cavity should be wiped dry using clean leaves or grass if a cloth is not available. Do not use water!

Most hunters skin game birds instead of plucking feathers as it is easier and means less work for the cook. However, many game cooks state that some of the taste of the meat is lost by removing the skin.

Game animals and birds lead an active and vigorous life. Their muscles are likely to be tougher, dryer and less palatable than those of farm animals or fowl. Game usually forages over large areas for food, and must be alert, tense and ready at all times to escape from many enemies. Because of the above, game animals and birds require more attention when cooking them. As with the domestic meats, young animals will be tender and require little cooking while additional care must be given to those older and tougher.

Another difficulty you may encounter is that you may have both at the same time. The young birds, old and young birds to prepare naturally require less cooking time than the older ones. Therefore, you, as a housewife, may wish to over-cook the young birds in order to have the tougher ones edible.

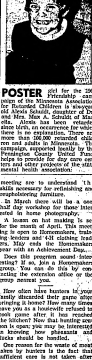
Before selecting a recipe to follow, it would be very helpful to know the age of the bird. Broiling or frying may prove disappointing in both tenderness and taste.

Pheasant meat is similar to chicken except it is dryer, therefore, most chicken recipes are suitable for preparing pheasant. Cooking in a covered roaster will aid in retaining the moisture. Any moist heat method for preparing fowl is desirable for pheasants.

Wild duck meat is dark and dryer than domestic duck. To retain or add moisture, it may be roasted with strips of bacon on the breast. Stuffing with apples, sliced oranges, onion and celery leaves will help to keep it moist. These are to be thrown away after it is cooked. Cooking in a covered roaster also helps to reduce dryness.

One way to have duck taste less wild is to soak it in salt water before cooking. Duck is usually served rare.

I hope this gives you some hints on preparing and serving wild game. Happy hunting and happy eating!



POSTER girl for the 1963 Friendship campaign of the Minnesota Association for Retarded Children is six-year-old Alexis Schuldt, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Max A. Schuldt of Madella. Alexis has been retarded since birth, an occurrence for which there is no explanation. There are more than 100,000 retarded children and adults in Minnesota. The campaign, supported locally by the Pennington County United Fund, helps to provide for day care centers and other projects of the state mental health association.

ACP Cost-Sharing Is Available for Many Conservation Projects

Farmers who have a conservation problem on their farms which they haven't yet been able to work out are encouraged to check with their ASCS county office, according to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county committee.

Cost-sharing assistance under the Agricultural Conservation Program often is the means of closing the gap between willingness to remedy a problem and actually applying the conservation practice to the land.

The program is authorized by congress in recognition of the fact that the wise use and adequate protection of the nation's farm and ranchland is in the public interest. The key to ACP is "conservation-with-use" since this land must continue to produce the food and fiber needed by future as well as present generations. Program funds are allocated each year among the states and counties on the basis of conservation needs.

ACP's cost-sharing program must achieve the most conservation for every dollar spent, the committee reports, but the program also recognizes that agriculture varies greatly between regions, states, counties and even farms. Each year the program is examined carefully by farm officials and leaders and suggestions are made for improving it.

It isn't practical to include every good conservation practice in the program. However, a sincere effort is made to see that available ACP help is directed so that the individual farmer will have assistance with the conservation problems on his farm for which cost-sharing is most needed.

Farmers are encouraged to stop by their ASCS county office to discuss their conservation problems and the possibility of obtaining ACP cooperation in carrying out a needed measure—sooner or to a greater extent than it would otherwise be done. Information soon will be available on 1964 ACP practices which are available to farmers in this area, including practice specifications and cost-share rates.

T.H. 59 Nearing Completion; Only Seven Miles Left

Trunk highway 59 to Winnipeg is nearing completion. All but seven miles north of the Canadian border have been blacktopped and these seven miles are in the Manitoba program for next year.

On this side of the border the highway is now rebuilt all the way except the new section that will be built parallel to the Soo Line between Lake Bronson and Lancaster and according to E.C. Pearson of this city, resident engineer, this stretch of about eight miles is in the program for letting after July 1 1964.

That construction will not interfere with traffic over the present road, so from here to the boarder on uninterrupted blacktopped highway is now available.

MAYBE IT'S A WEEK EARLY, but this form letter prepared by the Northwoods Packing company in Minocqua, Wis., should be of interest to area deer-slayers. The last week before opening of the season will probably be devoted to a number of tasks anyway—some of them mentioned in the letter. At any rate, this is the advice given by the packing firm and contributed by a reader of this column:

Dear Hunter:

Hunting season is about here and we submit instructions for your hunting trip.

First, you need a fast car, so you can beat the other hunters to the best spots; one that will do, say 90 or 100 m.p.h. or better. That will give you a chance of being killed before you get into the woods, and save some other hunter some ammo and the mess of shooting you. Second, you must have one or two cases of whiskey, four cases of beer and lots of ammunition. Food, tents and sleeping bags take up a lot of space, so get another case of whiskey instead.

Be sure to shoot at anything that moves, or looks as if it might. If it's not a deer, there's always a chance it might be your mother-in-law.

Now, if and when you get a deer down, be sure to shoot all the shells you have left into it. This will be sure to splinter the bones and all the entrails. In case you are the kind of hunter who likes to draw your deer, be sure to rip open any intestine you find intact. Don't bother to wash or wipe it out, as the blood and manure will improve the flavor. Besides, the locker plant will be disappointed if you bring in a clean one.

If you decide to skin it, be sure to roll it around in the dirt, leaves and pine needles. Then wrap it in newspapers as they will stick well, and printer's ink has the delicate flavor of burnt rubber. This will enable you to read September's paper next year. Now drag it to the car; throw it over the hood as close to the radiator as possible, so it will get all the heat, dust, etc.

On the way home, stop at a tavern, so you can tell the other liars how you killed it at 300 yards. Be sure you stay at the tavern until you are sure the locker plant you want to hang your deer in has been closed for the night and the operator is sound asleep (or most likely having a nightmare). He will, no doubt, have a couple hundred deer hanging around, so make sure he cuts yours first—and makes it all into choice steaks and chops.

And durned if he won't try.

Speaking of deer hunting, the wife of one local sportsman was overheard during an argument with her husband. "I am not being unreasonable," she said. 'Arbitrary, opinionated and belligerent, perhaps, but unreasonable—never!"

Art Hamilton and Dick Bjorkman were discussing the clothing business over a cup of coffee at Parkin's Corner Drug one morning last week. "I've said it before and I'll say it again," Art stated emphatically, 'there may be many ways of making money, but there's only one honest one." "What's that?" Dick asked. "Just as I suspected," Art said. "You don't know."

A friend of ours who is fond of fishing and water sports was anxious to buy a boat, but his wife had decided they couldn't afford one. Arriving home one evening, he calmly announced that he had bought a boat. His wife unleashed her wrath in all its glory. When she finally quieted down a half hour later, he figured the worst was over—and went out and bought the boat.

TRF Policemen Win Pistol Shoot

Event Was Preliminary To Peace Officers Meet

Thief River Falls police patrolmen swept the Class B division of the pistol shoot held in connection with the fall meeting of the Red River Valley Peace Officers association Thursday in Thief River Falls. The shoot was held at 10 a. m. with a business meeting at 3 p. m. and banquet in the evening.

Speakers at the afternoon session were Richard Held, special agent for the Minneapolis area office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, who spoke on the "officers" obligation in civil rights questions; Major Bert Johnson, formerly of Thief River Falls, who spoke on law changes made by the 1963 session of the legislature; and George M. Farmer, criminal investigator for the provost marshal's office in Minneapolis, who spoke on the services offered and the need for cooperation of local authorities in handling of military personnel.

Dr. O. D. Beich of Thief River Falls was toastmaster for the evening banquet. James McDowell of Bemidji is president of the Red River Valley association.

Crookston Forms Fine Arts Plan

Council Will Sponsor 1-Week Show Next Year

Claude O. Ebling Retires from Soo Railroad Service

General Agricultural Agent Made More Than 3,000 Talks Since '50

Claude O. Ebling, who for 20 years has concocted mixtures of legerdemain and legumes for farm audiences throughout the upper midwest, retires November 1 as the Soo's general agricultural agent.

Ebling holds the undisputed title of champion speechmaker on the Soo's staff—more than 3,000 talks since 1950. Each has been, to use his term, a bit of "farm magic philosophy"—a magic show, some scientific farming and a good word for the railroad for which he has been a principal agricultural barometer since 1927.

A graduate of North Dakota State College, former agricultural instructor and former county agent, Ebling came to the Soo as agricultural development agent. He resigned in 1934 to become county agent in Rusk and Douglas Counties, Wisconsin, and later editor of the Stock and Dairy Farmer. In 1950, he rejoined the Soo's traffic department staff as general agricultural agent.

Each year since he has traveled at least 35,000 miles to acquaint farmers with scientific agricultural methods, to relate agricultural conditions to the Soo's activities and to give farm groups a chance to watch him make a cornstalk grow out of a rolled-up newspaper—a trick which is one of his trademarks.

Ebling's bag of magic contains some 2,000 tricks—a show which would last more than 24 hours. He is a member of the International Brotherhood of Magicians; the Society of American Magicians, the Fellowship of Christian Magicians; and the Houdini Club of Wisconsin.

Retirement won't close the magic bag for Ebling, however. Already he's booked for a series of lectures, and he figures he'll be doing many more.

Langen Seeks Relief Of Boxcar Shortage

Congressman Odin Langen (7th Dist., Minn.) conferred recently with the Interstate Commerce Commission in an effort to expedite the movement of badly needed box cars to the Midwest and the Red River Valley area of Minnesota and North Dakota. "I am pleased to report that the ICC has issued a car service order, effective today, that should send cars back to the needed areas at an early date. However, it is unfortunate that such a situation was allowed to materialize in the first place."

In commenting on the dangerous situation, Langen said that "The grain elevators back home are full and overflowing and the sugarbeet factories have thousands of tons of beet pulp ready to move, but no box cars are available."

Langen pointed out that the railroads serving the Midwest are doing all they can to relieve the acute box car shortage in that area. "These railroads have plenty of cars, but are unable to get their hands on them because of the refusal of eastern roads to return the empty cars. It is hoped that the railroads now holding these cars will return them promptly under terms of the ICC order."

The Minnesota Congressman said he and other lawmakers will be watching the situation with considerable interest. "If the ICC order isn't effective in moving these box cars, the Congress will be forced to pass legislation to eliminate this danger in the future. In fact, there is such a bill now pending before the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee."

REPORT TO THE PEOPLE

by Governor
KARL ROLVAAG

A recent series of articles in a large metropolitan newspaper made a point of the fact that our state's timber industry is not developing as quickly nor as fully as it could. There are many factors which contribute to this lag and certainly one of these is the lack of public awareness of just what a stable and growing timber industry can mean to our overall state economy.

Third Largest Industry

The timber industry has been classified by reliable authority as the third largest basic industry in Minnesota, exceeded only by agriculture and mining. In 1904, a total of 1,942,248,000 board feet of lumber was produced here having a value of $28,407,920. In 1962 the processed value of the total pulpwood consumed in the state amounted to over $193,000,000. The increase in the industrial wealth created primarily is due to development of highly technical manufacturing processes and greatly improved and diversified uses. In 1904, lumber was the primary forest product, whereas today a great variety of forest-grown materials is being used.

A Large Employer

Our forest industries provide full or part time employment to nearly 50,000 men. This means that at least another 100,000 to 150,000 persons are employed in allied or service industries on a part time basis. When we realize that in the northern part of our state there are only about 200,000 inhabitants, the timber industry looms very significant indeed. Since wages usually constitute more than two-thirds of the cost of manufactured products, it has been estimated on this basis that total earnings by all part and full time workers, including supervisory personnel, exceeded $161,000,000 last year.

Paper's Importance Growing

It has been estimated that the paper, wood fiberboard and paper box companies of Minnesota provide jobs for over 9,000 people, which represents a substantial increase of 3,500 jobs since World War II. Today the employment earnings and benefits to these employees exceed $62,000,000, with another $82,000,000 going to full and part time thousands who work in the woods to supply the raw material for the industry.

Protecting Our Future

Much work is being done and much more needs to be done if we are to conserve, expand and make more full use of our precious forests. It is estimated that the demand for forest products will nearly double by the year 2000 if anticipated population increases materialize. And while it is heartening to note that the annual tree planting on state forest lands has increased from less than a million in 1950 to 11,000,000 this year, it must be admitted that this number is insufficient for our future needs.

Pirates Tip Prowlers In Football Finale

Conversion Point Is Difference In 13-12 Final Score

Steve Erie's point-after-touchdown, on an out-and-around left end sweep in the fourth period, provided the Crookston Pirates with their game-winning margin as they edged the Prowlers 13 to 12 in a Northwest conference game played on a wind-swept field here Friday night. Erie's conversion point gave Crookston a 13 to 6 lead, but the rallying Prowlers came back to score a touchdown in the final moments of the game. A plunge into the line failed to add the point, and the Prowlers dropped their fourth decision of the season. The locals concluded their luckless season with a mark of three wins, one tie and four losses.

Crookston opened the scoring by tallying a touchdown in the second period with fullback Ken Epema driving off tackle for five yards and a TD to cap a drive that started at mid-field. Erie's try for the point, on a sweep of right end, was stopped short of the goal line.

A gale-like wind, with gusts up to fifty miles an hour, swept across the field, from west to east, and late in the second period a sleet-like rain pelted the players and the fans. The rain ceased as the third period opened, but the wind continued blustery.

The Prowlers, unable to make consistent yardage by their running plays, resorted to an aerial attack in the second half, and a completed Buzz Olson to Bob Olson pass, which carried for 35 yards, brought the ball to the Pirates' 5-yard stripe. In three plays the Prowlers had a touchdown, with fullback Joe Taylor lugging the ball over the north goal-line. On the conversion point, Larry Joppru, on a drive over right guard, lost his footing and the Pirates stopped the burly back short of the goal-line.

In the fourth period, Crookston, taking advantage of an uncovered lateral pass by the Prowlers, gained possession of the ball on the Prowlers' 35-yard line. Epema blasted through the line for a 15-yard gain, and four nudges into the line gave the Pirates a first line. A pair of running plays moved the ball to the 1-yard line, and then Epema drove over for the touchdown. Erie, on a sweep around left end, added the conversion point.

The Prowlers made a desperate bid to even the game, and came within a conversion point of doing so. Taking the ball on the the kickoff, coach Bill Herzog's team, with a Buzz Olson to Bob Olson over-the-center pass connecting, gained a first down on the Prowlers' 32-yard line. Then Buzz Olson uncorked a 'bomb', a long pass that Bob Olson hauled in on the Crookston 30-yard line and raced to the Pirates' 6-yard line before being downed.

Crookston stopped three plays, Olson found Jerry Forsberg open in the south end zone, to the right of the uprights, and the Prowler end made the catch for the touchdown. The drive into the line failed to add the point and the Prowlers, plagued by injuries all season, lost another heartbreaker, 13 to 12. In ground-gaining, having 11 first downs to the Prowlers' seven, and coach Lowell Larson's Central squad deserved their hard-fought win.

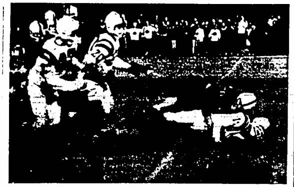
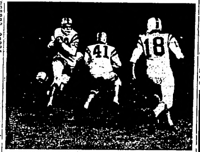
STEVE ERIE Crookston quarterback, attempts to add the conversion point following the Pirates' first touchdown here Friday night, but John Weigelt (27) and Dale Seefeldt (17) of the Prowlers prevented the Crookston runner from "turning the corner" and adding the point. Following Crookston's fourth-period touchdown, Erie, on a sweep around left end, did cross the goal-line to provide the Pirates with their 13 to 12 win over the locals.



BUZZ OLSON Prowler quarterback, is the victim of this Crookston "blitz" in the late moments of Friday night's Prowlers vs. Pirates game here. The Pirates' left side of the line moved in to throw the Prowler quarterback for a loss on an attempted pass play. Crookston's Chris Myrold makes sure that Olson is not "going anyplace." It was Olson's passing, however, which set up the first touchdown and scored the second six-pointer as the Prowlers lost to the Pirates 13-12.



BOB OLSON Prowler end, gathers in a short over-the-center pass from Buzz Olson during the locals' third-period drive for a touchdown against the Crookston Pirates on Friday night. Moments later, Olson, who shared the game's starring honors with Crookston's Ken Epeam, picked off a 25-yard pass to move the ball to the Pirates' 5-yard line. Three plays later, fullback Joe Taylor, on a slant off left tackle, drove over for the touchdown. Crookston won the hard-fought contest, 13 to 12.

Sportsman Store Sponsors Contest For Biggest Buck

Deer hunters will have an opportunity to compete in a big buck contest sponsored by the Sportsman's Store in Thief River Falls this year, according to Ray and Gordon Johnson, store owners. First prize will be free mounting of the trophy horns and six other prizes of blinker lanterns will be offered.

A point system will be used in determining the winner. This will include 15 points if the license is purchased at the Sportman's Store, one point for each inch of spread, measuring the widest point on horns; one point for each antler point one inch in length or longer; and one point for each inch of upright horns.

Entries must be from deer taken during the 1963 season and entries will close at Friday noon, November 22. Only the horns are to be brought to the store to compete for prizes.

Sid's Doing All Right

Loren (Sid) Vraa, Prowler graduate of 1955 and now in the high-school coaching ranks, directed the Spicer-New London high school football team to an undefeated season (eight wins and no losses) and the championship of the West Lake conference. In a game on which the conference title hinged, and played on Wednesday night against Eden Valley, Sid's club scored a 33 to 7 win.

This is Sid's first season at the Spicer-New London school. His first coaching job, following graduation from Moorhead State college, was at Browns Valley, Minn.

Sid is the all-time scoring leader in Prowler football, and I can vividly recall his individual performance at Crookston one cold night in 1954 when the talented Prowler quarterback, as a junior, scored five touchdowns and added four placekick conversions for a 34-point effort. During that season of 1954, Sid scored 131 points, tallying 18 touchdowns and booting 23 of 28 placekick point-conversions. The Prowlers that season, coached by Ralph Skay, scored a total of 240 points to establish a school record, breaking the mark of 237 points set by the 1953 Prowlers.

Out of the Playoffs

For the first time since he assumed the coaching duties of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, Bud Grant has failed to reach the Western Canada league playoffs. The Blue Bombers, champions of Canadian professional football for the past two seasons, finished in fourth place in the five-team Western Canada league.

There continues to be a University of Minnesota tinge to the Western Canada league title, though, as the British Columbia Lions, the first place winners, are coached by Dave Skrein, and have such former Minnesota luminaries as Tom Brown and Bill Munsey on the squad.

The Winnipeg club concluded their home schedule on Sunday afternoon, and the Bombers treated their loyal supporters, nearly 17,000 fans were in the stands, to a 34 to 20 win over the British Columbia Lions.

Bound for the Olympics

University of North Dakota Sioux hockey squad will begin practice drills on Friday in the winter sports building on the UND campus. Nine lettermen and 12 sophomores will be in the group that reports to varsity coach Barry Thorndycraft.

But among the missing will be Don Ross, the husky defenseman from Roseau. Ross, an All-American choice last season and eligible for another year of college play, has been given permission to try out for the United States Olympic hockey team. The tryout camp opened this week in St. Paul.

Ross is one of the finest all-round hockey players to come out of Roseau. No only is the burly Ross (he weighs a solid 205 lbs.) a powerful defenseman, but he can also take a turn or two up front. He is possessed of on of the hardest shots in college hockey. Don should be just about a unanimous selection for the United States squad.

And I hear that Larry Stordahl, of the hockey-playing Stordahls of Roseau, who has a year of eligibility with the Minnesota Gophers, is a prospective Olympic team candidate. And it's probable that Roger and Billy Christian, if they can arrange their business affairs satisfactorily, will again be on the squad. You will recall that Roger and Billy played stellar roles for the United States team in the 1960 Olympics when the Americans won the championship.

Each year the nations of the world mint almost 2,500,000,000 coins which contain nickel in amounts varying from one per cent to 100 per cent.

During the past 75 years about 150,000,000 pounds of nickel have been used for coinage.

Practices Beneficial To Wildlife Eligible For ACP Cost-Share

Conservation practices with benefits primarily to wildlife are eligible for cost-share assistance under the 1964 Agricultural Conservation Program, according to A. E. Strandquist, office manager of the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee.

"About 85 per cent of the wildlife in the United States is produced on privately owned farms and ranches," he stated. "This means that most wildlife depends on farmers and ranchers for survival requirements—food, water and cover. Conservation farming brings double benefits—to the general farm enterprise and to wildlife on the farm".

Recreation can become a secondary enterprise on land where wildlife conservation is an integral part of a day-to-day farming, thus supplementing the farmer's income as well as providing city visitors with hunting, fishing, picnicking, boating and swimming facilities.

"With increasing numbers of urban people seeking recreation in farming areas," Strandquist said, "farmers are becoming more conscious of the advantages of conservation practices which benefit wildlife, this improving hunting and fishing opportunities and at the same time conserving and protecting the farm's soil, water, and woodland resources."

It is true, he declared, that many conservation practices are costly to perform and do not offer financial returns to farmers which are attractive enough in the immediate future to get the needed amount of such practices applied to the land. With ACP sharing the cost-however, it becomes possible in many cases to carry out approved conservation practices that are in the public interest and also are of benefit to the individual farmer or rancher.

Some ACP practices with benefits primarily to wildlife include the establishment of wildlife food and cover plots, the development of springs for wildlife, the establishment of water developments for upland game, the development or restoration of shallow water areas and the construction of ponds for wildlife.

Minnesota Banks Receive Awards In Farm Service

American Bankers Group Makes Awards To 700 Minnesota Institutions

Minnesota's 700 banks have been presented the national agricultural award for outstanding service to agriculture in 1962-63, according to a recent announcement by the American Bankers association in New York.

The ABA annual award is presented to state bankers associations and member banks whose educational programs for improved banking practices and special agricultural activities have been of notable service to agriculture during the preceding year. The national recognition of Minnesota banks marks the 25th year that the Minnesota Bankers association and its members have received the agricultural award.

Minnesota Bankers President Thomas E. Olson, Starbuck, stated, "Minnesota bankers have consistently fulfilled their responsibility to see that efficient farm businesses receive the kinds and amounts of credit they need, and have assisted farmers in their adjustment to the rapidly developing agricultural economy."

In granting the national award, the American Bankers association noted several outstanding activities of the MBA agricultural committee, including an annual agricultural credit conference; agricultural scholarship awards to farm youth; support of the Future Farmers of America; 4-H and 4-H Foundation and the International Foreign Youth Exchange Program; cooperation with the U of M in a farm income tax short course; promotion of reforestation and conservation; supplying bulletins on agricultural credit to bankers; and numerous other activities.

VA Urges Vets To Check Lists of Beneficiaries

Parrish States Recent Lawsuit Should Remind Veterans of Importance

A recent lawsuit in which a wife sought her husband's GI insurance which the Veterans Administration paid to his former wife, points up the failure of many veterans to keep their insurance beneficiary listings up to date, John R. Parrish, Fargo center director, said today.

Law requires the VA to pay insurance claims to the listed beneficiary. Too often, Parrish said, the original list of beneficiaries, compiled when the insurance was issued, is sadly out of date.

Death, divorces, marriages and re-marriages are all occasions for possible beneficiary changes. Most common out-of-date listings are those of a mother whose son has since married or of a first wife when a subsequent separation and re-marriage has taken place.

Veterans desiring to bring their beneficiary listing up to date, can do so by writing the VA office to which they send their insurance premium payments, being careful to give their full name and insurance policy number as well as the old and new beneficiary listings.

Warden Cars Are Being Equipped With New Radios

About three-fourths of all state game warden cars have now been equipped with the new 100 watt narrow band radios ordered by the Federal Communications Commission. The new federal regulation requires the replacement or conversion of all radios used by the wardens in vehicles and aircraft. A special appropriation by the 1963 legislature was needed to finance cost of the change-over.

A new warden aircraft also went into service recently. Stationed at Mankato, the new Cessna 172 will be used chiefly for law enforcement and game survey work. Piloted by warden-pilot Pat McFall, the airplane will be used to patrol the southern one-third of the state.

Game warden aircraft also are used frequently to locate lost or injured hunters or other persons requiring aid. All warden aircraft are equipped with a public address system which enables the pilot to fly over the person in distress and give directions and other instructions.

Reject Airport Bids
(Roseau Times Region)

Bids for the new Roseau Municipal Airport administration building and shop-hangar were rejected last Wednesday as being too high. A total of $39,000 is available for the structure under the federal cost-sharing program.

The council, meeting Monday with Engineer Doug Stewart, decided to re-advertise. The bids will be called November 13, it is reported. The action must be taken in order to obtain the cost-sharing on the project, it was concluded.

Many Car Accidents
(Baudette Region)

There has been a spate of auto accidents here during the past week, with most of them attributable to a dense fog and peat smoke combination which reduced night visibility to a few feet in some spots.

The most spectacular of the mishaps occurred on highway 11 in the smog early Saturday night and involved five vehicles. Deputy sheriff Otto Hubachek said there were three cars in a field, one in a ditch and another remaining on the highway.

This was a case where rear end collisions occurred after a leading car had been forced to stop. Hubachek said visibility was so poor headlights could only be seen for about 50 feet.

Kittson County to Get 2 Nursing Homes
(Karlstad Advocate)

Hospital Administrator Harold Kloempken and Karlstad Hospital Board president Ernest Carlson met last week with the Minnesota Board of Health concerning a nursing home addition to the Karlstad Memorial Hospital.

Since the submission of the new plans by the local board, the state passed judgment that Kittson County should have 51 nursing home beds, 31 of which should be attached to the Hallock Hospital and 20 of which should be located at the Karlstad Hospital. This meeting consequently was attended by members of the Hallock Hospital Board as well.

At a meeting of the county board of commissioners held Tuesday in Hallock, a resolution stating that at such time nursing home beds are available for the needs of the people of Kittson County, the present Kittson County Nursing Home will be licensed as a county boarding home was adopted.

Six Hurt in Car Crash Near Roy Lake
(Mahnomen Pioneer)

Six persons were injured near Roy Lake Sunday, about 1:30 p. m., when a stolen car containing three teen-agers and fleeing from the Minnesota Highway Patrol collided with a pickup truck at the curve on TH No. 31 at Roy Lake Lodge. The fleeing car was traveling west and the pickup was going east at the time of the crash.

Officers Joe Wilkes, Mahnomen, and Jim Erickson, Bagley, were in the Roy Lake area Sunday checking for a car reported stolen in Minneapolis the previous day. The officers spotted the car coming out of a woods trail about four miles east of Roy Lake.

As the car turned on to TH 31, the officers gave chase.

The driver lost control on the curve near Roy Lake Lodge, went into the wrong lane, and sideswiped the pickup. All three occupants of the pickup were thrown out by the impact. The officers were about a block behind when the crash happened.

In addition to the charges brought by the MHP, Sheriff Rudy Tupa said that other charges are pending—awaiting the arrival of warrants from Bemidji, Minneapolis and Bagley. One of the 17-year-old youths is being held in connection with the theft of a car at Bemidji and the car at Minneapolis.

Drayton Sugar Plant Making Progress
(Warren Sheaf)

Work is progressing rapidly on the new Northern Sugar Corporation of Colorado, wholly owned subsidiary of American Crystal Sugar Beet Company plant at Drayton which will be ready to process 40,000 acres of beets from the 1965 harvest. Cost of the plant is $18,000,000 and is being built by H. K. Ferguson Company of San Francisco, Calif.

A three-floor, one building operation, it will be larger than any other American Crystal factory in capacity to process sugar beets.

(Warren Sheaf)

Fire completely destroyed a 35x30 barn and a lean-to plus damaging much machinery on the William Johnson farm about 3 miles north and 3 miles east of Warren Sunday night. Warren firemen were called out about 7:40 p. m. by a neighbor, Oscar Olson, who noticed the blaze. The Johnson family was not home and did not return until about 9:30 p. m. Sunday.

Cause of the blaze is unknown but estimates of the damage range upward of $5,000.

Watershed Project Is Given Approval
(Karlstad Advocate)

Meeting at Hallock on Wednesday, Oct. 9th, the Board of Managers of the Two River Watershed District ordered in the construction of the proposed flood control and water management improvement.

The watershed is located in Kittson and Roseau counties, but the plan is confined to a contributing drainage area of 89.9 sq. miles, all in Kittson County. The watershed is long and narrow averaging less than four miles in width and twenty-four miles in length.

The federal cost sharing on this improvement project to certain lands in Kittson county will amount to $92,500.00 approximately; the local share is approximately $46,000.

The average life of a coin struck in a popular nickel and copper alloy is estimated at 40 years, about forty times greater than that of a currency note.

Because of nickel's toughness and high melting point, coins made of this metal are very difficult to counterfeit.

Wardens Make 62 Arrests for Wild Rice Violations

Sixty-two persons were arrested by state game wardens during the month of September for violation of the wild rice harvesting regulations, it was reported today by the Minnesota Department of Conservation.

Harvesting rice on closed days, using improper equipment and other violations of regulations were cited. The large number of arrests this season reflects an increase in the number of wild rice harvesters and the good crop.

There were 98 persons arrested for fishing violations, 33 for transporting loaded firearms in motor vehicles and 14 for violation of the big game hunting regulations. Other violations detected by game wardens last month included small game and waterfowl hunting offenses.

Editorials . . .

"I believe in the vocation of teaching. It is an exacting and rewarding occupation. To teach well one must be imbued with the scholar's attitude and endowed with the scholar's capacity. How can one hope to kindle the imagination of students if one's own has never caught fire? How sharpen the minds of students if one's own has not been honed to a fine edge?

"It is impossible to define great teaching. It can be pointed out or better yet experienced. And once it has been experienced there is no mistaking it or forgetting it. It is a form of communication which will cast a light down the years of a man's lifetime. It is an infection of the spirit which ends in a sense of challenge and excitement."

Foreign Trade

Trade with Japan has increased steadily over a period of years. In 1962 our imports from Japan reached a total value of $1,353,000,000, while our exports to Japan were valued at $1,408,440,000. The trade balance was slightly in our favor.

But, looking over the lists of commodities bought and sold, it appears that the commodities purchased from us were largely raw materials while our purchases from Japan consisted largely of manufactured goods. All of which is understandable.

It is interesting to note that our shipments of unmanufactured wood and paper, including paper pulp, were valued at $64 million while our imports of wood and paper products were valued at more than $100 million. But Japan is an important market for the products of our farms, some of which come back to us in the form of manufactured goods, such as cotton, but most of which are consumed as food.

This business of international trade is a bulky package of good and bad. We are inclined to look upon any imports that compete in our market with what we produce as bad. All exports, for which we are paid, are, by general consent, good.

Using Japan as an example, our trade with foreign nations is good for us and good for them. It is good in part because it forces us to remain competitive, the alternative to which is unemployment.

The Slow Progress

Writing in Newsweek, Raymond Moley discusses the record of Congressional action, or inaction as it is referred to by critics of Congress. He states that according to a compilation by the Congressional Quarterly covering the seven months prior to July 31, the President had sent 403 requests to Congress. In that period only 19 were acted upon favorably and went to the White House for the President's signature.

According to Moley it would take five years to consider and act upon the 1963 Kennedy requests, but he thinks there are other reasons for the President's low batting average. He states:

> "This is a Congress with overwhelming majorities of the President's party. Republicans plus Southern Democrats could not alone have stopped this legislation. The failure to act has been because of the reluctance of members who expect to run in 1964 on a ticket headed by the President. They don't want to go on record against him.
> "Early in 1961 the President and Speaker Rayburn "packed" the House Rules Committee after some of the most rugged and unscrupulous uses of pressure ever seen in Congress. But even after the enlargement of the committee, the gate was not opened. Members realized that without the restraint of the Rules Committee there would be chaos. Why have all these requests withered on the vine? Because members realize that there is no popular demand for them. Not only are members closer to the American people—except on television—than the President, but a large number of them are better equipped to judge the wisdom and need of such legislation than is the Chief Executive. Moreover, a large number doubt the President's sincerity in most of his proposals. They believe he is merely piling up a record to satisfy minorities upon which he must depend for re-election in 1964.
> "The worth of Congress cannot be judged only by what it passes. Equally important is what it rejects."

Not "Sinister"

"What sinister groups threaten American institutions?"

That is a good question and we are glad to pass it along as something to think about.

The answer by the unidentified author is that sinister groups that threaten American institutions are those groups that you dare not criticize for fear of losing business or your job.

The weakness of this statement lies in the use of the word sinister, which is a bad word, used in referring to evil intent. Not many citizens hesitate in expressing their opposition to evil.

The groups that are feared by workers and tradesmen, who fear the loss of a job or a loss of business, are as a rule well intentioned citizens who have become overenthusiastic about some special project. They should be referred to as zealots rather than as people who have sinister motives.

The reluctance of tradesmen who prefer not to become involved in any controversy with zealots is understandable. But government by the zealots would not be good government, and there are times when well-meaning but uninformed or misinformed people must be opposed—in the interests of good government.

Getting Along With People

Sooner or later, a man, if he is wise, discovers that business life is a mixture of good days and bad, victory and defeat, give and take.

He learns that it doesn't pay to be a sensitive soul—that he should let some things go over his head like water off a duck's back.

He learns that carrying a chip on his shoulder is the easiest way to get into a fight.

He learns that all men have burnt toast for breakfast now and then and that he should not take the other fellow's grouch too seriously.

He learns that even the janitor is a human and that it doesn't do any harm to smile and say "Good Morning" even if it is raining.

He learns that most of the other fellows are as he is, that they have brains that are as good as his or even better, and that hard work and not cleverness is the secret of success.

He learns that no man ever got to first base alone and that it is only through cooperative effort that we move on to better things.

He learns that the folks are not any harder to get along with in one place than another, and that "getting along" depends about 98 per cent on his own behavior.

Could We Be Wrong?

Younger men are moving into top political positions in Britain and West Germany. The younger men are not youngsters however. They have many years and lots of experience behind them.

There seems to be no cause for concern about drastic policy changes. For the time being at least, things will move along pretty much as they have in the recent past. How our administration will get along with the new leaders in Europe cannot be predicted with any degree of accuracy.

Our rough going with our Canadian neighbors points up the uncertainties. Bruce Phillips, reporting from Washington to his Canadian readers through the Southern News Service, makes these somewhat discouraging oberservations:

> "The Canadian and American brass are still smiling at each other, but now it's through clenched teeth.
> "The sudden flare-up of new problems between the two countries has left no-one here in any doubt that Canadian-American relations are entering a new phase.
> "It's a phase markedly different from the expectations which flowed from the chummy assurances of mutual admiration when Prime Minister Pearson and President Kennedy met last spring to launch the Spirit of Hyannis.
> "It's really the onset of reality, a startling thing to Americans in high office here who had hazily assumed the defeat of John Diefenbaker was the end of all their troubles with Canada."

Under our present leadership our relations with our allied countries have deteriorated to a discouraging extent. Maybe this isn't entirely our fault, but the fact that the loss of good will is rather general, and is not limited to one area, suggests that maybe we have been partially wrong. Could that be possible?

Not New

Bemidji Sentinel

A century and more ago the phrase "welfare state" was not known. But the philosophy it describes was—and had been — all through recorded history. And some of the greatest Americans warned tellingly against its dangers.

For instance, Abraham Lincoln said:

> 'The legitimate object of government is to do for a community of people whatever they need to have done, but cannot do at all, or cannot so well do, for themselves, in their separate and individual capacities. In all that people can individually do as well for themselves, government ought not to interfere."

Then long before that, Thomas Jefferson expressed the same philosophy in these words:

> "I place economy among the first and most important virtues, and public debt as the greatest of dangers to be feared. To preserve our independence, we must make our choice between economy and liberty or profusion and servitude. If we run into such debts, we must be taxed in our meat and drink, in our necessities and our comforts, in our labors and in our amusements. If we can prevent the government from wasting the labors of the people, under the pretense of caring for them, they will be happy."

We can profit, if we only will, from these wise words from the past.

Interesting Opinions . . .

"If unemployment insurance and relief were not so easily available, a good many more people would be in a good many other jobs that are not being done because they involve hard work or aren't fancy enough."

LAKEHEAD Pipeline company completed the line-looping program this summer on schedule, according to R. E. Trammell, general manager. The 34-inch pipe, largest to carry crude oil on this continent, crosses Pennington county. Thief River Falls served as headquarters for the construction firm during part of the line looping. In the above photo, several "side-boom" cats and two large cranes begin a "push" as they inch the cement-weighted pipe across a small body of water during the project.

Lakehead Pipeline Looping Is Completed on Schedule

A line-looping program that has resulted in construction of 126 miles of the largest pipe to cary crude oil on this continent has been completed on schedule, it was announced, recently by R.E. Trammell general manager of Lakehead Pipe Line company, incorporated. The Line crosses part of Pennington county.

The "Big Inch" pipe was laid between Donaldson and Wrenshall and adds to a 38 mile loop of the 34-inch pipe laid last year in the same general area. Mannix Construction company of Minneapolis used Thief River Falls as its headquarters during the part of the line looping.

In addition, 41 miles of the big pipe was laid in Manitoba, Canada, by Interprovincial Pipe Line company, bringing to $18,500,000, the amount spent in looping on the Lakehead-Interprovincial system this year.

No serious setbacks were encountered in the construction program in Minnesota, although the 9-32" wall-thickness of the pipe demanded the use of some special equipment. One such item was a new bending mandrill which helps prevent wrinkling of the large pipe during the bending operation.

The loops constructed this year were coated with a single application of Polyethelene tape, with an outer wrap of saturated felt.

The 126 miles in the United States were divided between Mannix Construction Inc. of Minneapolis and Williams Brothers Company, of Tulsa Okla. The 41 miles in Canada was laid by Bannister Construction Company Ltd. of Edmonton.

Pipe for the Minnesota project was supplied by the A.O. Smith Corporation plant in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. New equipment was installed in the Milwaukee plant to handle the making of the 34-inch pipe, largest ever produced there.

Candy Is Sweet — But Sale Isn't

It has been reported to school authorities that several young people presenting themselves as members of the Lincoln high school choir, were conducting a door-to-door candy sale campaign during the weekend. They said they were raising money for a choir trip to Chicago.

Although the young people apparently did well on the sale, the school choir is not planning a trip to Chicago. Whether there was confusion over which school the young people represented or whether some amount of fraud was perpetrated is not known for sure. In either case, the public is hereby notified that the local choir plans no such trip and is not engaged in a fund-raising campaign.

Spray-Bartsch Vows Are Spoken October 12

Nuptial vows spoken October 12 at St. John Lutheran Church of Thief River Falls united in marriage Miss Vivian Spray and Wilfred D. Bartsch, both of Thief River Falls. Approximately 400 guests attended the double-ring candlelight ceremony held at 8 p. m. with Rev. Paul Beigner prompting the vows.

Parents of the pair are Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Spray of Thief River Falls and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Bartsch of Lewiston, Minn.

The bride entered on the arm of her father to the strains of "Trumpet Air" played on the organ by Mrs. Sherman Idso. Bonnie Dicken sang, "Children of the Heavenly Father", rendering one verse in Swedish, a time-honored family tradition of the Sprays. Gordon Hanson sang, "Wedding Prayer". Burnt orange candles lit the altar and the aisles, the aisle candles decorated with fall arrangements of wheat, leaves, bittersweet, and multi-colored ribbons. The altar was graced with baskets of ferns, and flanked by burnt orange candles in spiral candelabra.

Miss Spray's attire was a floor-length gown of white satin and lace designed and fashioned by her mother and featuring a bell skirt, lace jacket, and a detachable train highlighted by a bustle. Holding the elbow-length illusion veil in place was an authentic Swedish wedding crown highlighted by jewels, and used traditionally as a symbol of honor in its native land. The bouquet was a cascade of white mums, bittersweet, wheat and feathered mums. The bride also carried a silk handkerchief given to her paternal grandmother at the age of 11 by her paternal grandfather. It was used to carry out the "something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue" theme.

Miss Judy Spray, sister of the bride, was her maid of honor; the other attendants to the bride were Mrs. Jim Rude of Thief River Falls and Miss Carol St. Martin of Grand Forks, N. D. The maid of honor wore a dark brown dress in street length and featuring a bell skirt and three-quarter-length sleeves and scoop neckline. The other attendants' dresses were identically styled, but in gold color. Their bouquets, cascading from wicker rings, were of orange Bocora roses, cat-tails, bittersweet, and wheat, with ivy accents. They had wreaths of bittersweet in their hair.

Mr. Bartsch's best man was his brother Eldon Bartsch, of Des Moines, Ia. Darrel Denny, Bemidji, and James Daley, Byron, Minn., were groomsmen. Jerry Forsberg and Marc Pream ushered the guests.

Mrs. Spray wore a light brown dress with black accessories and the mother of the groom wore a brown dress with beige accessories. Their corsages were of orange Bocara roses and yellow feathered mums.

The reception in the church parlors for 200 guests was given by the bride's parents. The toast was proposed from a silver cup engraved by the bride's maternal grandfather. The smorgasbord featured traditional Swedish dishes. Host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kverno and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Runger.

Guests attended from Seattle, Wash.; Los Angeles, Calif.; Chicago, Ill.; Des Moines, Ia.; Cando and Grand Forks, N. D., Mapleton, Mankato, Good Thunder, Byron, Lewiston, Minneapolis, and also from a number of area towns.

Donna Runger of Minneapolis served punch, and Miss Yvonne Wells of this city and Mrs. Clifton Veven, of this city, poured. A five-tiered cake topped with bells decorated in fall colors, was cut and served by Mrs. Duane Jensen and Mrs. Chester Carlson, both of Thief River Falls.

For their wedding trip to the North Shore, Wisconsin, and South Dakota, the bride wore a white lace sheath with silver accessories. They are now at home at 1106 N. Main, city.

The bride graduated from Lincoln high school here, and from the Swedish hospital school of Nursing, Minneapolis. She is employed by Northwestern hospital in this city as a registered nurse. Her husband graduated from Lewiston high school and from Augustana college at Sioux Falls, S. D. He is employed with the Minnesota Dept. of Employment Security as an interviewer.

Halloween Activities Cause Safety Hazard

Halloween will be a night of safe fun for little spooks, only if adults do their "Halloween Homework," says the Minnesota State Medical association.

Everyone—not just parents — must prepare beforehand and be alert to danger throughout the entire evening. A few simple precautions can avoid tragedy when children go on trick-or-treat visits around the neighborhood.

Clear away lawn furniture, garden tools, and trash cans. The yard should be kept free of broken glass, nails and other sharp items. Toys and debris should be removed from sidewalks and steps. Make sure your clothesline is strung high enough to prevent even a low-flying witch from running into it in the dark.

Keep cellar and garage doors locked and your dog in the house. Both front and back porch lights should be left on. Look around your own home and yard for more trouble spots that you can eliminate before Halloween night.

Most important, drive slowly and carefully. Be especially careful while driving in and out of your driveway and along streets where children are walking. While you are in the driver's seat, always expect the unexpected from children.

If your own children are old enough to go out unaccompanied, remind them of traffic safety rules—cross only at intersections, look both ways, don't cross behind a parked car or truck.

Use bright colors and strips of reflective tape on costumes, so they will be clearly visible to motorists on dark streets. Avoid flimsy costumes or those made of inflammable material.

Make sure face masks don't impair vision or breathing. Give your child a flashlight instead of a candle or torch.

If you do your "Halloween Homework" by following these precautions for a hazard-free yard and safe city streets, the evening should be one of safe fun for the neighborhood ghosts.

Heart Condition Tested by State Heart Association

Research Project Tests Strain On Hunters Who Pull Deer from Woods

A solemn warning to deer hunters over 40 years of age was sounded in a unique series of experiments conducted recently by the work evaluation unit of the Minnesota Heart Association, it will be reported in "Minnesota Medicine" official publication of the Minnesota State Medical association.

The experiments, in which deer hunters actually broadcast the stress on their hearts while dragging heavy loads through piles of gravel, revealed that 11 per cent of a pre-screened group revealed abnormal heart activity sufficient to halt their tests.

Since these men were pre-screened by doctors as having presumably normal hearts, the sponsoring physicians left unanswered the possible amount of serious heart trouble in a cross-section of over-40 deer hunters—those without previous screening examinations.

The results, to be published in the November issue of "Minnesota Medicine", were released in advance by the Minnesota Heart association as a warning to deer hunters before the season opens in November.

"The tests," said Dr. Arthur C. Kerkhof, director of the heart association's work evaluation unit, were deliberately planned to measure maximum heart stress on a deer hunter who not only gets his deer but who drags it out of snowy woods single-handed.

"It is entirely possible," he said "for hunters to go after and get their deer and pace themselves in the process, without undergoing the maximum heart strain the tests measured."

These evaluations were a public service project of the Minnesota Heart association, an affiliate of American Heart association, which also supports the work evaluation unit organized to evaluate the ability of individuals to work after heart attacks.

NWSA Holsteins Have High Records

Registered Cows Produce Far Above U. S. Average

Registered Holstein cows from this area are prominently mentioned in an official production testing report released today by The Holstein-Friesian Association of America at Brattleboro, Vermont. Both are owned by the University of Minnesota at Crookston.

BDI Maburgo Hether 4331727, a five-year-old registered Holstein cow, produced 15,630 lbs. of milk, 58 lbs. of butterfat and 1,312 lbs. solids-not-fat in 305 days. BDI Masburkgo Ava 4574895, a four-year-old; had 16,470 lbs. of milk, 550 lbs. of butterfat and 1,367 lbs. solids-not-fat in 305 days.

Solids-not-fat (SNF), the nutrients in milk below the creamline, are now being recorded by the national Holstein association in addition to milk and butterfat as a part of its Total Nutrient Testing (TNT) program launched last year.

According to the national Holstein organization, these production figures compare to an annual output of 7,21 lbs. of milk and 270 lbs. of butterfat by the average U. S. dairy cow. Solids-not-fat testing is too new for computing a national average figure.

Awards Presented at LHS Football Banquet

First annual Prowler football father-and-sons banquet was held Tuesday evening in the parlors of St. Bernard's Catholic Church. The program, which was under the direction of Maynard Truland as master of ceremonies, was presented for 120 guests.

Rev. Leland Steen of Zion Lutheran church gave the invocation. Rev. Kenough Patnode of St. Bernard's church was the featured speaker and he enlarged upon his theme of "Growth and Maturity."

Ralph Skay, director of high school athletics, made the awards to the football lettermen and the following boys were called to the rostrum to receive their letters or gold bars: Mike Benke, Donovan Erlandson, Jerry Forsberg, Elroy Frolland, Curt Harris, Bruce Howick, Rick Jensen, Larry Joppru, Luther Kaushagen, Ken Larson, Don Mathieu, Tom Miller, Pat Munt, Rich Nelson, Terry Nelson, Bruce Olson, Larry Olson, Bob Olson, Marc Pream, Del Schob, Dennis Sculthorp, Dale Seefeldt, Ron Shaff, Joe Taylor, and John Weigelt. Letter winner Dave Froehle was unable to attend the gathering as he was to undergo surgery on his injured leg.

Don Mathieu

Buzz Olson

Following the introduction of the letter winners, captain Terry Nelson of the 1963 squad announced the election of Bruce "Buzz" Olson as captain of the 1964 team, and presented Bruce with a plaque that is emblematic of the football captaincy.

Coach Bill Herzog announced the results of the Most Valuable player award, and halfback Don Mathieu, a senior playing his first year of varsity football, was given this. Mathieu was presented with a football that carried the autographs of all of the Prowler squad members.

The gathering, in conclusion, viewed several reels of football film. The Minnesota vs. U.C.L.A. Rose Bowl game was shown in color and the Thief River Falls vs. Detroit Lakes and Thief River Falls vs. Roseau Rams games, in black and white, were shown.

Red Lake County Sportsmen's Club To Sponsor Shoot

Trophies, plaques and medallions will be awarded in open sight and scope divisions when the Red Lake County Sportsmen's club holds its rifle shoot Sunday. Shooting will be done from the 150-yard station at life-size deer targets on the new Sportsmen's Park range at Red Lake Falls. The contest begins at 1 p. m.

Persons paying the $1 entry fee will be eligible for the "Big Buck Horn" contest also sponsored by the club. Standard Boone and Crocket measuring system will be used with judging and measurements to be made on November 19 at 8 p. m. in the American Legion club rooms in Red Lake Falls.

All entries must be whitetail deer shot in Minnesota during the 1963 season and horns must be attached to skull or head. A trophy will be given to the hunter bringing in the largest buck rack.

Bemidji Provides Scoring Record In NW Conference

Undefeated Lumberjacks Total 124 Points in Four Conference Grid Games

Northwest Football Conference
(final standings)

Bemidji	4	0	1.000	124	12
Roseau	2	2	.500	39	71
Crookston	2	2	.500	38	64
T. R. Falls	1	3	.250	39	60
E. G. Forks	1	3	.250	38	66

Results of last week's games:
Crookston, 13, at Thief River Falls, 12.
East Grand Forks, 26, at Roseau, 13.
Bemidji, 28, at Brainerd, 0.

For the fourth time since the Northwest conference was organized in 1955, and for the second successive year, coach Ken Wilson's Bemidji Lumberjacks, boasting an undefeated season, won the conference football title. The Jacks had clinched the title a week ago when they defeated the Prowlers, 33 to 0; and in a schedule-ending game on Wednesday night, coach Wilson's powerful squad defeated Brainerd, 28 to 0.

Roseau and Crookston shared conference runner-up honors, having identical two wins and two losses records. Crookston moved up into a tie for second place by edging out the Prowlers, 13 to 12, played at Thief River Falls on Friday night. While the Pirates were besting the Prowlers, coach Ron Thompson's East Grand Forks team was surprising the Roseau Rams by marking up a 26 to 13 win in a game played at Roseau.

The title-winning Lumberjacks, with fullback Pat Winkler gaining the league's scoring honors, posted a new total-points mark for conference play. Bemidji racked up a total of 124 points in the four conference games played.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

They Deserved the Honor

That was an enjoyable affair that was held at the St. Bernard's church on Tuesday evening. Meaning, of course, the first annual father-and-son Prowler football banquet.

I hope that the message that Father Patnode presented to the boys, on the topic of "Growth and Maturity", found root as it was very worthwhile and the precepts that he stated are guide-lines that can be followed by everyone in these trying times.

Bruce "Buzz" Olson, quarterback of the team this season, was named as captain of the 1964 Prowler squad, and if the schedule that is in the planning stage is adopted for the 1964 season, the Prowlers will need inspired leadership.

And Don Mathieu, who proved to be the workhorse of the Prowler backfield, was honored by his teammates by being chosen the Most Valuable Player for the 1963 season. Don proved to be one of pleasant surprises of this season, his first in varsity football. He was an exceptional runner, showing good balance and elusiveness and proved to be able to absorb tons of punishment. While it was on offensive that his play was eye-catching it was as a defensive player that he drew much praise from his coaches. Don was a deadly tackler, hitting the runners at ankle-height. Don's defensive play, especially his tackling, was reminiscent of the tackling of Roy Oen when he was a Prowler. "Ras" hit 'em at the ankles, too.

This season's club was fortunate in having a number of fine competitors, and it is discouraging to report that most of these boys—Don Mathieu, Terry Nelson Rick Jensen, Elroy Frolland, to name a few of the 'hard rocks"—are seniors and will be missing when coach Herzog blows the whistle for session.

But to repeat, Tuesday evening's banquet was a treat to attend, and much credit must be extended to Evonne Olson, Vern Nelson, and Dick LeMoine for the effort they put forth to make it successful. Let's keep it going.

A Quotation

It is reported that George Bernard Shaw, when asked to describe the game of golf, said that it was a "wonderful walk spoiled by a little white ball."

Field Position

A favorite term of "big Time" football commentators has been to refer to "field position" of the ball, and it's advantages. A team, even if it has possession of ball, that is attempting to run plays from deep in its territory is said to be an unfavorable "field position". And this is true enough, and it's basic with the Minnesota Gophers to give up possession of the football if by doing so they gain the advantage of "field position'.

All this is leading up to the fact that "field position" is a term that can be used to advantage in describing mallard hunting in stubble fields. Of prime importance is "field position". Of all the kinds of hunting that we have in this area, the field hunting of mallards is perhaps the best. And it isn't often that a hunter gets all the factors in his favor and has a "jubilee" shoot. But it happens. And some of the hunters have been getting some of these northern mallards the past week or so, and when they are successful it's because of a favorable "field position".

It is reported that the northern bluebills have been moving into the Lake of the Woods area. This means that the bluebill flight, and this provides top-flight gunning, will be moving through Thief Lake and on to Union and Sarah Lakes.

As for pheasants? Well, the state authorities who reported that there was an increase of twenty-five per cent over last year in the number of pheasants had better look at their bank balances. If they figure like that it's a certainty that there's an overdraft some place!

Hallock, Stephen, Baudette Tie for Conference Title

Newfolden Tips Warroad To Tie Kennedy Rockets For Fourth Position

Top-of-the-State Conference
(final standings)

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Baudette	6	1	.857
Hallock	6	1	.857
Stephen	6	1	.857
Kennedy	5	2	.714
Newfolden	5	2	.714
Warroad	3	4	.428
Greenbush	3	4	.428
Argyle	1	6	.143
Karlstad	0	7	.000
Lancaster	0	7	.000

Results of last week's games:
Newfolden, 33, at Warroad, 13.
Argyle, 6, at Greenbush, 21.
Hallock, 27, at Lancaster, 13.
Karlstad, 13, at Baudette, 59.
Stephen, 19, at Kennedy, 7.

In the ten-team Top-of-the-State football conference, three teams—Baudette, Hallock, and Stephen—shared the championship honors. The three teams recorded conference marks of six wins and one loss each.

The Newfolden Nordics and Kennedy Rockets, with identical records of five wins and two losses, were deadlocked for fourth place.

In last week's feature game, the Stephen Tigers vs. Kennedy Rockets tilt played at Kennedy, the Stephen team, by a 19 to 7 score, handed the Rockets their second defeat of the season. The win kept Stephen on the top rung along with Baudette and Hallock; and the loss shoved the Rockets down into fourth place.

Coach Sheldon Elseth's Newfolden team, with their finest all-round performance of the year, defeated the Warroad Warriors, 33 to 13, in a game played at Warroad. With Terry Strandquist scoring three touchdowns, and Merlin Anderson and Ken Carlson adding single TD's, the Nordics maintained control of the game. Extra points were scored by John Tandberg twice, and by Alan Leigh.

The Warriors kept pace with the Nordics in the second period, scoring a pair of touchdowns, and trailed at the halftime by a 20 to 13 margin.

It was the season closing game for the Nordics, and it gave coach Elseth's club an over-all mark of six wins and two losses.

Trapping Season Opens Saturday

Regulation Changes Are Announced for Season

Saturday marks the opening of the 1963 Minnesota trapping season on mink, muskrat, badger and raccoon, the conservation department reminded trappers today. Two important changes in the regulations from 1962 are in effect this year.

Trappers will be allowed to trap in muskrat houses this year, provided that any opening made in the house must be plugged by replacing removed material and then wetting down. Purpose of this is to seal the opening in order to prevent freezing within the house.

Another change from last year's regulations is that trappers will not be permitted to take dogs with them when tending trap lines this year.

The season will run from November 2 to December 15 on a state-wide basis with no limits imposed on the number of each species taken. Trappers were also reminded that traps may not be tended or set between the hours of 6 p. m. and 6 a. m.

Last season, trappers took 55,700 mink, 452,000 muskrat, 820 badger and 21,000 raccoon. Youngsters as well as adults have found that trapping provides a good source of additional spending money as well as many hours of outdoor recreation, the conservation department reports.

Benson Attends Tax Short Course

Elmer B. Benson of Thief River Falls recently attended the 21st annual Farm Income Tax short course in St. Paul. The course stressed the latest information on preparation of farm income tax forms.

It was offered through the Department of Agricultural Short Courses, University of Minnesota, in cooperation with the Minnesota Bankers' Association, the State Department of Taxation, and the Internal Revenue Service, U. S. Treasury Department. Representatives of the federal and state income tax divisions and the University of Minnesota acted as instructors at the course.

Each participant prepared sample state and federal returns, using new tax problems developed by state and federal tax officials specifically for this course.

Common Sense Is Best Preventive For Gun Mishaps

Firearms Safety Director Urges Hunters To Follow Basic Gun-Handling Rules

Minnesota's firearms safety director, Don Murray, today offered some safe hunting tips for pheasant hunters, who will be afield during the season ending November 30.

Last year, Murray said there were 28 pheasant hunters injured by gunshot during a 30-day season for an average of about one per day. Each of these accidents could have been prevented with a little common sense and caution, he said.

Among the accidents noted last year was a case where a loaded gun leaning against an automobile was tipped over, struck the ground and discharged wounding the owner. In two other cases, hunters tripped while crossing fences and their guns discharged, injuring their hunting companions.

These accidents could have been avoided if the owners of the weapons had obeyed two principles of gun safety: idle guns should be unloaded and all guns should be kept unloaded or the actions kept open while crossing fences or ditches.

Another common cause of hunting accidents, and also a violation of the law, is the transporting of loaded firearms in a motor vehicle. Murray also pointed to the fact that 25 persons became firearms victims last year when they were shot by someone who said they did not see the victim before they pulled the trigger.

Murray believes this type of accident could be substantially reduced if every hunter after deer or upland game would wear a blaze orange hunting cap. He said a good rule to remember any time is: "When in doubt, don't shoot".

Danger of Forest Fire Continues

Fire Prevention Chief Says Situation Dangerous

Dangerous forest fire conditions persist in Minnesota with the short and long range weather forecast indicating more trouble ahead. Light rain this week offered some slight relief but the danger is not past.

The state's forest fire prevention chief, Don Wilson, said today that the continuing warm dry weather has created a dangerous situation in much of Minnesota's forest and grass lands.

He said a 120-acre fire northwest of Itasca state park over the week end burned fiercely in a hardwood or broadleaf type forest and many trees were destroyed. The intensity of the fire was unusual in a hardwood area, Wilson said, and indicates the extremely dry conditions.

Many grass fires have been reported from northwestern Minnesota. A 1,300-acre area burned near Warroad during the weekend. Ground fires are penetrating into the forest floor and underlying peat deposits in some sections.

Wilson asked that persons delay burning ditches, weeds or grass areas until conditions improve. Local regulations should be checked by anyone wishing to do any burning. Burning permits are required in all forested areas of northern Minnesota.

ACP Helps Stop Soil Erosion by Practice Payment

Conservation Program Has Variety of Practices On List of Available Help

"Erosion by water and wind is by far our most widespread and serious conservation problem," states Marel Dahl, chairman of the Marshall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee. "Some form of erosion control is needed on almost every farm and that is why the Agricultural Conservation Program offers such a wide variety of practices for attacking the problem.

"Local as well as national conservation needs are recognized in the program's development, and no matter what the individual farm conservation problem, ACP cost-sharing usually can be worked out to help meet the need."

In some instances, the chairman explained, erosion control calls for the construction of terraces, diversion ditches or dikes. In others, storage-type or check dams may be the best solution. On most of the land subject to such problems, however, vegetative cover is the most effective, practical and economical means of controlling erosion and the resulting siltation. ACP assistance may be obtained in establishing or extending the life of such cover.

Strip cropping, land shaping, permanent sod waterways and tree and shrub planting are other erosion-control practices eligible for ACP cost sharing. Dahl urged farmers who have an erosion problem on their land to check with their ASCS county offices about the possibility of obtaining ACP cooperation in finding the best solution.

State Bar Ass'n. Warns of Hidden Lien in Building

States That Suppliers Are Given Liens Which Could Be Overlooked

Do you know that when you hire a contractor to build or repair a house you are responsible to see that all the bills for labor and materials which went into the construction or repair are paid? This is so even if you have already paid the contractor in full, according to a bulletin from the Minnesota State Bar association.

The law gives all persons, such as sub-contractors, laborers, lumber companies and suppliers who furnish any work or material a lien on the property where they furnished it to secure payment. These are called "mechanic's liens".

Of course, if you hire your own laborers and buy all your own material you know whether the bills are paid or not. But if you hire a contractor you may not. These mechanic's liens could attach to your property without your knowing anything about them, the Minnesota State Bar association declares.

The law is that the claim of lien can be filed anytime up to 90 days from the date after the last labor or material was furnished. These are filed with the register of deeds in your county and, unless you looked at those records, you might not know about them. When a law suit is brought to foreclose the lien, which must be done within one year from the date the last labor and material was furnished then you would be served with a summons. This could be your first knowledge that someone claimed a lien on your property.

The simplest way to protect yourself against these hidden liens (or claim of liens) is to deal with a contractor you know to be reliable and financially responsible. Also, you can require that the contractor furnish you with lien waivers from all sub-contractors and suppliers before making final payment to him.

When you are buying property your attorney will advise you if there are any liens or claim of liens on record. Recent liens might not be on record yet, so you may have to make your own inquiry and inspection as to recent construction or improvements. Your attorney can best advise you how to protect yourself and your property from these hidden liens.

(This column, based on Minnesota law, is written to inform, not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of a trained expert who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

4H Trains Youth For Leadership And Development

12 Outstanding Members in Nation To Receive Scholarships for Efforts

When boys and girls stay in 4-H club work through their mid-teens, they usually make notable progress in one or more phases of 4-H activities, according to the National 4-H Service committee.

One of these categories is leadership development. In this program, members are actually helped by adult leaders to learn the meaning of responsibility, take on extra work and carry out special projects involving the entire club membership.

"The 4-H junior leader works under the guidance of the adult leader," explains Miss Emmie Nelson of the 4-H service committee. "These two, with help from the club, jointly determine jobs for the junior leader. They begin with familiar tasks and advance to the more difficult ones. These jobs must be challenging, but within the youth's grasp."

Leaders really are made and not born. In 4-H, that is. At the end of this year, 12 outstanding young people will be honored by their 4-H friends for having the best leadership ability in the 50 states. They will be selected by the Cooperative Extension service. Each will receive a $500 college scholarship and expense paid trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago from the Sears-Roebuck Foundation, the program sponsor. In addition, the state winner will enjoy a free trip to the 4-H Congress.

Small Business Management Meet Set at Mankato

Sieben said the institute will consist of a series of five seminars dealing with some of the most critical areas of administrative management and will be open to all interested small business contractors.

Seminars will be conducted at the Mankato Citizens Telephone company auditorium and at the Northern States Power company conference room on November 12, 19 and 26, and December 3 and 10, 1963.

List of Driver Faults Cited by Truck Drivers

Professional truck-trailer drivers of a major midwestern commercial carrier were polled on the faults of other motorists they see on the road. They came up with these results, with the first three far ahead of the others:

Failure to signal properly; failure to dim lights; following too closely; timidity about passing a slow driver; speeding; ignoring the no-passing line; drifting between lanes on freeways and expressways; unnaturally slow driving; ignoring stop signs; crossing the center line; and running traffic signals.

"What if I differ from some in religious apprehensions? Am I therefore incompatible with human societies? I know not any unfit for human society but those who maintain principles subversive of industry, fidelity, justice and obedience. Five things are requisite for a good officer: ability, clean hands, dispatch, patience and impartiality."

—William Penn

The Big Lift

Now that the Big Lift has become an accomplished fact and we have proven that we are capable of a mass movement of troops over a long distance in a short time, we should start at once to bring back a part of the large American army we have been maintaining in Europe. It now appears, however, that this is not going to happen suddenly.

It is going to be delayed because the withdrawal of a substantial number of our troops would not be pleasing to the nations in which they are stationed. Former President Eisenhower has stated that we should bring home four of the five divisions stationed in Europe. But those five divisions maintain a substantial payroll for the Europeans and naturally they don't want to lose that payroll.

So, after all, did that Big Lift actually accomplish anything worth while? There was not doubt about its success. We haven't learned anything that we didn't already know. Only now we know that the advantages to be gained are going to be delayed.

Russia, Wheat and the Moon

Premier Khrushchev made some interestin statements recently to a group of more than 50 journalists who took part in a Communist-sponsored seminar aboard a ship in the Mediterranean. On the question of withdrawing from the moon race he stated:

> "At present we do not plan flights of cosmonauts to the moon."
> "I have read a report that the Americans wish to land a man on the moon by 1970. Well, let's wish them success.
> "And we will see how they will fly there, and how they will land there or to be more correct 'moon' there.
> 'And most important—how they will get up and come back.
> "We will take their experience into account."

Khrushchev also stated that the Soviet Union may not buy wheat from the United States if the sale is hedged with conditions. President Kennedy, in announcing the decision to sell approximately eight million tons, stipulated that the grain be carried in U. S. ships whenever they were available. This shipping issue has delayed completion of the purchase arrangements.

The principal Soviet objection appeared to be that the American shipping price is $11 a ton above the cost of shipping in foreign ships.

That appears to us to be a reasonable objection.

A UPI report from Washington indicates that the administration may take a second look at the President's moon shot proposal and common sense may still prevail. The plan has been under severe attack by prominent American scientists. Linus B. Pauling, who recently won a second Nobel prize for peace, expressed the views of many informed Americans when he pointed out that there could be many better ways of spending the billions, including further health studies here on earth.

There Still Is Time

In our mail a few weeks ago we received a "Breakdown of Physical Plant and Endowment Needs at Macalester College" in St. Paul. The outline of needs was interesting to us because sixty years ago we lived in the Macalester Park area and knew our way around in the one building that at that time housed what then was Macalester College and Academy. That old building in late years has been referred to as "Old Main".

In the list of physical plant needs for the next ten years was an item of $300,000 to "rehabilitate Old Main." This three-story brick building was old when our old Washington school here in Thief River Falls was built.

A couple of blocks from Old Main was the Ramsey grade school that we attended. That too was a very ordinary brick building that later has been enlarged. That old part is still standing and still is being used as a school.

Father to the West was St. Thomas College, a fairly old college and academy at that time. We observed a few years ago that the old buildings, that were quite old sixty pears ago, are still in service.

Ours is not a rich community and we should not be wasteful, but we have been shamefully wasteful in our failure to provide adequate maintenance for our old Washington. Fortunately it is not too late to salvage the old building and make it available for many more years of useful service. The thrifty Scots who manage Macalester are willing to rehabilitate their Old Main at a cost of $800,000. To replace Old Main no doubt would cost well over a million.

There still is time for us to exercise a little common sense in maintaining the facilities that we already have.

In the Right Direction

Chou Enlai, is the prime minister, so called, of Communist China. Recently he did a very unusual thing; he granted an interview to a reporter representing Reuters, the British news service. This was an important concession, but probably was planned to serve his own interests.

In this interview he made no mention of any Marxist program of world domination. Communist China was a friendly nation, anxious to get along with the neighbors. The differences with the Soviet Union were not serious—strictly a family affair. The invasion of India was the result of border "provocations" by the Indians. The war in Vietnam and other troubles in Southeast Asia were the result of United States "aggression and intervention."

The fact that he defended the foreign policy of the government of which he is a part is not unusual. The fact that he granted the interview, and thus opened the door for further interviews, is most encouraging.

The Chinese people, as a people, have a great cultural background and also an impressive scientific background. There were, and probably still are, Chinese leaders who had ideas of world conquest, but in the main the Chinese people have been a peace-loving people. They have a very interesting background, and for that reason the interview granted by Chou Enlai may deserve special consideration as a step in the direction of better international understanding.

More on Vietnam

Bernard Fall, writing in the October issue of The Reporter, covers much of the background of the troublesome spot in southeast Asia known as Vietnam. Especially interesting is his explanation of the French interest in the area, which President Charles de Gaulle has mentioned several times. For many years Vietnam was a French protectorate, conquerred by the Japanese in World War II. The end of that war started our relief progrm.

Recently deGaulle made some references to the present Vietnam political problem that were not well received in Washington. As quoted by Fall, deGaulle stated:

> "—France's knowledge of the valor of the Vietnamese people permits her to discern the role they could play in Asia's present situation, for her own progress and to the benefit of international understanding; as soon as they could deploy their activity in independence to the outside, in peace and unity at home, and in concord with their neighbors.
> "That is what France wishes, more than ever today, to all of Vietnam. It naturally is up to the people themselves, and to themselves alone, to choose the means of arriving at that result, but any national effort undertaken with that aim will find France ready, within the means at its disposal, to enter into cordial cooperation with that country."

Washington resented the intrusion and according to Fall: "It was downright amusing to see the bewilderment on the faces of French officialdom in Paris as the storm broke. Washington went into a flap and spoke unofficially but loudly of yet another deGaulle betrayal of the West in general and the United States in particular." In a Labor Day interview President Kennedy expressed his personal resentment, criticizing the French for not having been helpful in the past.

In reaction to this, French publications have made it known that their country had been helpful to the extent of its limited means following the war and the breakdown of its own economy. They pointed out that about 17,500 French citizens still live there. In terms of actual expenditures French aid has not been large. But there are more than 340 French teachers in Vietnam, giving instruction all the way from the grade aschool to the college level. Close to 80,000 Vietnmese children go to schools staffed and paid for by the French cultural mission.

France has a much greater cultural and financial interest in Vietnam than our country, and much more experience in dealing with the general problems of that area. As Bernard Fall explains the mess in Vietnam after 18 years of our leadership and help, we can see no justification for any resentment of de Gaulle's attitude toward our country. His offer of sympathetic assistance probably reflects the thinking of most of the French people and should be accepted in that spirit. In conclusion Fall states:

> "It is certain that de Gaulle, and for that matter any Frenchman seriously concerned with Southeast Asia, is less than happy with the way things have been going in South Vietnam of late—but this is a view that many Americans share with them, including some leading personages in Washington.
> "On the whole, it seems difficult thus far to ascribe much more to de Gaulle's statement that an understandable desire to be heard on an issue in which the French feel, rightly or wrongly, that they may once more become the scapegoats; or, worse, the victims."

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

Bill: "You say pour wife is even tempered?"

Will: "Yeah—mad all the time."

"Why are you rolling the trash can around, Willie?"

"To amuse little Betty."

"And where is Betty?"

"In the trash can."

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture

Newly established contour strips controlled the erosion problem on the Roger Schoephoester farm near Hoffman. Schoephoester said, "I found my gasoline bill to be 25 per cent less and I know my tractor and machinery will last longer not having to go up and down hills and across gullies." His conservation plan with the Grant Soil and Water Conservation District includes plans for establishment of terraces on 40 acres of his 225 acre farm, several large waterways, improvement of 15 acres of wetlands and over a mile of shallow drainage ditches.

Planting of a single row of trees, planting of a cover crop on summer-fallow, and use of a good crop rotation, has been the key to success for Walter Hotvedt of West Polk County. He has been cooperating with the West Polk SWCD in the program for his farm. Hotvedt has five miles of single row field shelterbelts on his farm and he says that they are effective in controlling blowing soil and drifting snow.

The Minneapolis Tribune award winner in the LeSueur county Soil and Water Conservation district, is Maurice Theleman. He says, "It sure is nice to go out in the field after a heavy rain and see very little if any top soil at the bottom of the hill." In accepting the award, Theleman paid tribute to the men of the Soil Conservation Service by noting his appreciation of their help. He said, "Our farm is worth a lot more now than it was when we bought it; and the soil conservation practices are carried out with very little cost to us."

Since 1961 Victor and John Radtke have installed 60 acres of contour strip-cropping, 20 acres of contouring, constructed 4½ acres of grassed waterways and plan some tile drainage and more waterway to complete their farm conservation program. The father and son farm team who own property near Nerstrand have drawn up the plan in conjunction with the Soil Conservation Service technicians at Faribault. John was the 1962 FFA winner in the soil and water conservation contest. They say, "Our yields have increased from 20 to 50 per cent through out conservation practices and better soil management. It should have been done 20 years ago."

The goal of efficient production can be obtained if all crops are properly fertilized and managed. Ten years ago the average farmer yields of corn ranged from 50 to 70 bushels per acre and soybeans were about 20 to 25 bushels per acre. This was because only a very few fertility and management practices were of any importance.

Today farmers are striving to reach maximum efficiency in production to meet the ever increasing costs. In attempting to raise production levels, many additional fertility and management practices must be employed as well as modifications of the original "so-called" major practices. As farmers aim for higher yields, all the practices become of "major" importance.

If any one practice, no matter how small, is forgotten or not properly applied, it will render all other practices inefficient. This in turn will place a limit on what efficient maximum yields can be reached. One of these considerations is the lack of lime. It is true that corn and soybeans will grow on acid soils that are in need of lime but these two crops will not produce their highest yields because lack of lime will reduce efficiency.

The same thing can be said for other practices that are either forgotten or carelessly applied. Therefore, each practice must be properly applied to the soil type and the crop which is being grown if efficient production is to be obtained by our Minnesota farmers.

There has been a cutback in the amount of tillage operations by Yellow Medicine county farmers. "This was indicated in a survey taken at meetings conducted last winter," says county agent Dave Johnson. He indicated that while it has been common practice to till a field five or six times before actually planting, farmers are now making only two to three trips and finding it very satisfactory. He says, "Leaving the soil rough is cutting down on erosion and operating costs while also conserving moisture." Johnson says it is a real time saver particularly during the spring rush.

To keep small rugs in place when cleaning them, run the carpet sweeper or vacuum cleaner diagonally across the rug instead of lengthwise.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing the VA Contact Office at the Fargo VA Center.

Q—I will retire soon but my wife will be employed. Will her income be considered in determining my entitlement to veteran's pension?

A—Yes, your wife's income will be considered under the law. The first $1,200 of your wife's annual income will be exempt but any amount over $1,200 will be considered in addition to your own income.

Q—Do veterans receive any preference in Federal govednment employment?

A—Veterans of wartime service separated under honorable conditions receive a five-point preference when they apply for Federal employment. Veterans of peacetime service alone must have been in a campaign or expedition for which a badge or service medal is awarded to qualify for this five-point preference. Veterans holding the Purple Heart for combat wounds or who presently have some service-connected disability receive an additional five points.

Q—I am a Korean Conflict veteran who was released from active duty in May, 1957. May I still be entitled to educational benefits under Public Law 550, the Korean GI Bill?

A—Public Law 550 requires that the veteran enter training within three years after release from active duty. Since you have passed this deadline you are no longer eligible for the benefit.

If you're buying a blanket, thickness or depth of nap is one of the characteristics to look for, says Mrs. Myra Zabel, extension specialist in home furnishings at the University of Minnesota. The trapped dead air spaces formed by the nap of the blanket make it warm. Weight is not an indication of warmth.

Passing the Plate

Jim Branch works in our local bank. I've known him for years. We went to school together. But I never felt I could come right out and ask him why he never goes to church. One night when we both happened to get into a confidential frame of mind, the words came easier.

He told me that — of all things — it was because he hated this business of passing the plate for money. He said he saw enough money at the bank all week without seeing it worshipped on Sunday too.

I admit this shocked me. That's why I told him, frankly, that I thought he'd completely missed the point. I told him our minister once said that it gives him a good feeling when he receives the collection; not because this is money but because the people are giving the fruit of their own efforts to God. In the old days, it might have been a sheep, or the choicest fruits and vegetables from the harvest. Today, it's dollars and cents. But the motive is still the same, and it's a good motive.

I saw Jim at the morning service a couple of weeks ago, and something tells me that it won't be long before he'll be getting the point . . . not missing it!

Land O'Lakes Holds District Meeting Here On Thursday

Joint meeting of creamery officials of Land O'Lakes districts 14 and 17, and Land O'Lakes executives, held here Thursday afternoon at the Eagles hall, was well attended and a speaking program was presented with George Lee of Hendrum, director of district 14, presiding.

Highlight of the program was the report by Carl Leaf, manager of the Land O'Lakes dried milk department, who confined his discussion largely to the operation in this area and the changes that were in the making at the Fosston plant. This plant, which serves a large area of northwestern Minnesota, will be the largest plant of its kind operated by Land O'Lakes when changes now under way will be completed, he said. The plant will then have a manufacturing capacity of 2,000,000 pounds of milk a day.

The concentration of this operation to Fosston has justified itself by substantial increases in net earnings that have been and are being distributed to the creameries and their patrons in the area that is served, he stated. Increased benefits that already have been earned as a result of this more efficient operation were estimated by Leaf at $160,000.

Floyd Martin of Duluth, federal butter grader, spoke briefly on the whys and wherefores of this aspect of the quality program, and Robert Zeller of the quality and field service laboratories of Land O'Lakes spoke on the problems of maintaining high quality standards in the bulk tank operation.

Earnings Distribution

Marian Augustine, director of district 17, reported on the distribution of the 1954 patrons' equity reserve that has been authorized. The total amount to be distributed is $3,151,585, and this total has been supplemented by the distribution in this area of $488,340 that was paid out in cash in June covering one-half of the 1962 area earnings in the dried milk production division, bringing the total of equities to be retired during 1963 to $3,639,925. Patrons of all the various branches of Land O'Lakes services share in these benefits.

Approximately 200 operators, directors, fieldmen and officials serving in various capacities attended the banquet served Thursday evening at the American Legion dining hall, the dinner being served by members of the Legion auxiliary. Marian Augustine presided.

Holtz Speaks

Speaker of the evening was Dan Holtz of Hawick, president of Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., and American Dairy Foods. He discussed the challenges of changing conditions in the industry in all of its branches—production, manufacturing and marketing. He likened the progress that has been made over the years to the progress that has been made in the field of transportation, going back to the primitive facilities of the ox cart days and noted that many changes have come in transportation at all levels. The program ended with concluding remarks by George Lee of District 14.

Credit Union Day Dinner Scheduled Here On Tuesday

Representatives from 20 Area Credit Unions Are Expected In Attendance

Representatives from approximately 20 credit unions in Northwestern Minnesota are expected for the fifth annual Credit Union Day dinner at the Eagles' auditorium in Thief River Falls Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. This occasion will be the observance of the 115th anniversary of the credit union idea by the North Red River Valley chapter of Credit Unions.

This year's program will include a talk by Milton S. Olson, supervisor for the Department of Youth conservation, the appearance of a quartet and chorus from the Thief River Falls chapter of SPEBSQSA, and a pantomime and whistling act by Randall Noper and Malcolm Magnuson of Thief River Falls.

This affair is again jointly sponsored by the three credit unions of Thief River Falls, with the Pennington County and Municipal Employees' Credit Union serving as hosts.

State Legislators from this area and local city officials have been invited to attend.

19,500 Soil Bank Acres Drop in '63

Soil bank acreage will drop substantially in this area at the end of the year unless Congress provides for an extension of expiring contracts, according to Pat Culkins, manager of the Pennington County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee. Culkins anticipates a two-year extension, the Senate having already approved a $20 million appropriation for this purpose.

There are now 70,000 acres of Pennington county farm lands in the soil bank, Culkins states, and of this total contracts covering 19,500 acres expire this year. Comparatively few contracts will expire in 1964 but a large number will expire in both 1965 and 1966.

The year 1968 will bring an end to the program unless it is extended by Congressional action. Only 102 of the present contracts will continue in effect through that year.

In Marshall county contracts covering 23,796 acres expire this year and in Red Lake county acres will be released.

Rental payments to the state's farmers owning soil bank acres are now going out and will total $17,078,425, according to the state A. S. C. committee. Nationally, farmers have received more than $100 million annually from the contracts expiring December 31.

Amundgaard Bldg. Damaged by Fire Wednesday Night

Fire of unknown origin caused considerable damage to the Amundgaard Implement company in Thief River Falls Wednesday evening. Intense heat from the blaze caused a heavy ceiling beam to bend but damage was confined to the building itself and parts stored in the structure.

Roy Langevin, city fire chief, said the fire was reported at 9:37 p. m. when nieghbors noticed flames breaking through the roof and called the department. He said the fire originated in the area of the boiler room at the farm implement firm.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Holen returned Friday from a two-weeks visit with relatives in Minneapolis, New Ulm and Freeport, Illinois.

Ban on Travel in Beltrami Island Area Is Removed

A ban on travel in Beltrami Island State Forest because of fire danger will be lifted Tuesday, November 5.

Cool nights and frost have eased the fire threat present when the ban was posted Oct. 18, said Clarence Prout, state forester.

The forest takes in sections of Roseau, Beltrami and Lake of the Woods Counties. It is a favorite spot for deer and grouse hunters.

School Board Has Meeting To Air Remodeling Plans

Also Adopts Department For Training Children With Hearing Handicaps

Possibilities for remodeling parts of the area vocational-technical school, Lincoln high school and Knox elementary school were discussed by the Thief River Falls board of education in a special session Wednesday evening. Funds for the remodeling were included in the bond issue passed earlier this year.

Slated for remodeling are the auto body and welding courses to be moved from the present location in the Wennberg building; science and home economics departments at Lincoln high school; and library at Knox elementary school.

Also adopted by the board was a special department for additional instruction of children with hearing handicaps. One teacher will be secured on a part-time basis to conduct the program.

The board was also advised by letter that the Cyclone Fence company could not honor its bid estimate for construction of a fence at the newly-constructed tennis court on the high school grounds. Supt. M. R. Hankerson was instructed to contact the second low bidder, Century Fence company, to determine if this firm would accept the project.

Next regular meeting of the board will be held Tuesday, November 12, rather than Monday, November 11, since November 11 is Veteran's Day.

Polls To Open Tuesday For TRF City Election

YOUNGSTERS formed a line more than half a block long as they began receiving admittance to the free movie sponsored by the Lions club in Thief River Falls on Thursday. The movies for elementary students were part of a series of three events for students of various age groups. Police reported that youngsters in the city were generally well-behaved through the evening with only minor vandalism reported. Major damage was the painting of a large sign at Family Bowl and tipping of outdoor toilets at Centennial park east of the city.

Expect Light Vote With Only Two Contests Noted

Polls will be open Tuesday from 12 noon to 8 p. m. as the city election is held in Thief River Falls. To be elected are aldermen from the city's five wards, two alderman-at-large, mayor and city treasurer, according to Gordon Reierson, city clerk.

Voting is expected to be somewhat lighter than in 1961 when there were several contests in individual wards and a bond issue of $115,000 for an addition to Carnegie Public library was before the public. In 1959 the election total was 2,349 votes. Vote totals in the wards included: first, 323; second, 417; third, 446; fourth, 503; and fifth, 329. The library bond issue was defeated 1,129 to 860.

Polling places will be as follows: Ward 1, Northrop elementary school; Ward II, Masonic hall; Ward III, city auditorium; Ward IV, Knox elementary school; and Ward V, St. John Lutheran church.

Candidates for election in the various wards include: Ward I, Elmer B. Benson and Robert Carlson; Ward II, Arthur B. Christianson; Ward III, Ambrose Wysoski; Ward IV, Dr. A. E. Jacobson; and Ward V, Lowell Swenson. With two aldermen-at-large to be elected, candidates include Roy Jorgenson, John McGinley, L. H. Thorstenson and LeRoy Welch. Mayor Orin Green and Treasurer Mrs. Morris Odegaard are unopposed for reelection.

Reierson listed the election judges and counters for the five wards as follows:

Joy Noel Speaks Vows With Neil Gillespie

Miss Joy Diane Noel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dunne Noel of Thief River Falls, exchanged wedding vows recently with Neil J. Gillespie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Gillespie, also of Thief River Falls. The double-ring ceremony took place at Trinity Lutheran church of this city, with Rev. Reuben Wangberg officiating. Baskets of mums and gladioli graced the altar. Approximately 100 guests were in attendance.

Mrs. Art Hamilton played Lohengrin's Wedding March, and Mrs. Donald Olson sang, "O Perfect Love," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Noel, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of damask brocade designed with tapered sleeves, scoop neckline and a fitted midriff sprinkled with seed pearls. The back bustle flowed into a chapel train, and was accented with a fabric rose at the waist. A coronet of pearls and crystals held the elbow-length veil. Her crescent bouquet was of autumn roses and baby mums.

She was attended by Miss Judith Rambeck of Minneapolis as maid of honor, and Mrs. Robert Hoard of this city was her other attendant. Their iridescent tangerine taffeta gowns were in street length and featured scoop necklines and bell-shaped skirts. They carried bronze mums and autumn roses in cascade arrangements.

Clifford Habedank was the best man, and Vernon Dokkin served as groomsman. Ushers were Robert Hoard and Ron Arnold. All the attendants are from this city.

The wedding reception, held in the church parlors after the ceremony and given by the parents of the bride, was attended by approximately 100 guests, who came from Warren, Gully, Minneapolis, Thief River Falls and Lovell, Wy. They were registered by Mrs. Premo Bartot, an aunt of the bride. Mrs. R. G. Strunk, aunt of the bride, cut the wedding cake. Mrs. Lloyd Lund and Mrs. Donald Noel, aunts of the bride, poured, and Mrs. Clifford Habedank served punch. Gifts were displayed by Mrs. Vernon Dokkin and Mrs. Ron Arnold, and waitresses were Linda Noel, Gaylene Nelson and Jeanne Rambeck.

The couple is at home at Northwestern Trailer court following a wedding trip to Minneapolis, for which the bride wore a suit of off-white with brown accessories.

Mrs. Gillespie is a 1960 graduate of Lincoln high school and is an operator at Northwestern Bell here, while her husband, a Lincoln high school graduate also, is a salesman for Bridgeman Creameries.

Miss Jeanette Katherine Waltz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Waltz of Canby, and Richard Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Miller of this city, exchanged wedding vows in a double-ring ceremony on Saturday, October 12, at St. Peter's Catholic church at Canby, with Rev. Edward Stone of Springfield officiating. The children's choir sang the nuptial mass, with Sister Franell providing the organ music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white floor-length gown of satin with a detachable chapel train. The fitted bodice featured a round neckline with long set-in sleeves and Alencon lace trim at the waist. The skirt was bell-shaped, with a wide panel of Alencon lace near the hemline. Her extra-full waterfall veil was elbow-length and was held in place by a fabric headpiece of white satin leaves trimmed in pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of red roses.

The bride's mother wore a brocaded sheath dress of willow green with matching shoes and hat, and the groom's mother wore a brown dress with matching hat and shoes.

Storment-Klamar Vows Spoken in Washington

Reciting marriage vows at a 3 o'clock wedding on October 5 at First Methodist Church, Colfax, Wash., were Mary Elizabeth Storment of Endicott, Wash., and Clifford Christian Klamar of Gatzke. Miss Storment is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hershel O. Storment of Endicott, and Mr. Klamar is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Klamar of Gatzke.

Rev. Chester Blair officiated at the double ring ceremony before approximately 150 guests. Lohengrin's Wedding March was played by Mrs. Olive Osborne of LaCrosse, Wis., and soloist Mrs. Ira Daniel offered, "Because," "I Love You Truly," and "The Lord's Prayer." Misses Laurie Dymond and Kay Storment, niece and cousin of the bride, respectively, lighted the candles.

Miss Storment's gown was of all-over lace point Chantilly. The basque bodice was styled with a Sabrina neckline etched with seed pearls and sequins and the semi-bouffant skirt was floor length with hemline accent of lace and rows of sequins. Her bouquet was a yellow-throated orchid surrounded by white roses.

The bride's father gave her in marriage. Her attendants were Mrs. Robert Neace as matron of honor, and Mrs. Robert Clinesmith of Benje, Wash., as her other attendant. They wore street-length dresses of peach taffeta with matching shoes and bow and net headpieces. They carried crescent bouquets of white carnations. Nancy J. Dymond of Spokane, Wash., niece of the bride, served as flower girl, while the bride's nephew, Bradley Storment, was ring bearer.

Best man to the groom was his brother, Paul Klamar of Grygla. Ushers were Leonard Storment, Cecil Storment and Alfred Dymond.

A reception was given in the church social room by Mrs. Floyd Bafus of Endicott, Wash., with 150 guests attending. Among those attending from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Klamar, Gatzke; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Klamar, Grygla; and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Storment, Bradley and Brian, Portland, Ore. The wedding cake repeated the peach and white color theme. It was cut and served by Mrs. Alfred Dymond and Mrs. Leonard Storment, sister and sister-in-law of the bride respectively. Punch was served by Mrs. Dale Storment, and coffee poured by Mrs. James Clinesmith, aunts of the bride. Presiding at the guest book was Miss Susan Dymond, while Mrs. Cleon Hann and Mrs. Paul Klamar were in charge of the gift table.

After a wedding trip to Glacier National Park, the Klamars are at home on a farm near Gatzke. The bride graduated from Endicott high school and the groom is a graduate of Middle River high school.

Cooking Vegetables

The green and yellow vegetables that look so attractive in the grocers' bins will retain their color, good flavor, and food value when they are served at the table if they are cooked properly.

Here is the secret. Cook the vegetables as quickly as possible and serve them as soon as they are done. Cook all vegetables only until they are tender. These suggestions come from the extension nutritionists at the University of Minnesota.

The smaller the amount of water used in cooking, the more food values is retained in the cooked vegetable. However, the amount of water used will vary somewhat with the type of vegetable being prepared.

So called "waterless" cooking refers to cooking vegetables with only the water that remains on the vegetables after rinsing. This method does not permit quick cooking and does not conserve nutritive values any better than cooking vegetables quickly in a small amount of water.

The recomended methods of boiling vegetables will vary depending upon the color and the intensity of the vegetables. To prevent undesirable flavor changes in strong flavored vegetables like cabbage and onions, cook them uncovered and as quickly as possible. Cooking them in a large amount of water will lower the food value but may make the product more acceptable to some.

Mild-flavored vegetables should cooked in a tightly covered pan in a small amount of water unless the vegetables are green. Cook the green vegetables quickly in an uncovered pan to allow volatile acids formed by the vegetables in cooking to pass off. These volitile acids, which destroy the chlorophyll or coloring in green vegetables, usually pass off early in the cooking process, so after the first few minutes of cooking you may want to use the cover to shorten cooking time.

Cooking vegetables in a pressure saucepan is a quick and satisfactory method of vegetable cookery, but avoid prolonged cooking which results in loss of food values.

Cooking time can also be shortened by cutting green beens lingthwise, by slitting stems of broccoli nearly to the head, and by removing stems from spinach and chard.

Boiling root vegetables and tubbers in their skins retains more vitamines and minerals than cooking these vegetables pared and cut. Tests show that potatoes boiled boiled whole in their skins retain practically all of their vitamine C, Thiamine, and other nutrients.

This, I hope gives you a general picture on how to prepare tasty vegetables and at the same time conserve their nutritive value.

At that time he and his wife will be honored by company officials. A Salesman of the Year will also be selected from the ten council members.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. STEVE JAENETTE

Rich with the incomparable flavor of real butter is this thin and dainty cookie, which can adapt to many variations in shape, color, and flavor or to many kinds of decorations to suit your occasion. Plain or fancy, they are bound to be favorites, and with the added bonus of good nutrition in the butter used, can be passed out to the youngsters without qualms.

BUTTER COOKIES

Sift together:
2½ cups flour
1 scant teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon cream tartar
¼ teaspoon salt

Cream together: 1 cup butter
1½ cups sifted confectioners sugar
Add:
1 teaspoon vanilla

Add dry ingredients to the creamed mixture and mix well. Refrigerate half an hour . . . no longer . . . to make for ease in handling. Roll out very thin on canvas pastry cloth or very lightly floured board. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet for 8 to 10 minutes at 375 degrees, watching carefully, until delicately browned. Yield, about 4 dozen.

The Jaenettes live 3 miles north of town, right along the river, and this setting makes for their enjoyment of the workers of Nature. Hobbies also include knitting and crocheting, Mrs. Jaenette says, but with five grandchildren to sew for, she devotes a lot of time to that pleasant task. She also assists at church affairs at Community Methodist Church.

They have two married daughters, one of whom, Dorothy, lives in Denver, Colo., and the other, Carol, (Mrs. Curtis Johnson) is a Thief River Falls resident. One son James, at home, helps run the farm. James is a camera enthusiast . . . "camera bug," his mother called him. They had another son whom they lost in 1950, at the age of 17.

Mr. Jaenette, now retired, enormously enjoyed hunting and fishing at one time, as have so many of the husbands of the women featured in the recipe column. But that love of outdoor life is understandable in an area like ours which abounds in such opportunity. Even some of the women are so inclined.

Silverton Club Among Top Ten In State Safety

Pennington County Club Will Receive 4H Award For Outstanding Work

Farms and homes in Carver county have been made safer as a result of the activites of 4-H members. Silverton 4-H club in Pennington county placed among the top 10 individual clubs in the state for safety projects.

Carver county activities—including correction of more than 500 farm or home hazards and participation in a bicycle safety program—have won for the county 4-H clubs top placing in the state in this year's national 4-H safety contest.

The county extension office will receive a plaque from General Motors as an award, according to Leonard Harkness, state 4-H club leader at the University of Minnesota.

Ten individual clubs in the state were cited for their safety activities. To be awarded certificates for outstanding safety programs are: Country Cousins, Hennepin county; Iona Lucky Aces, Murray county; Cascade Cruisers, Olmsted county; Lucky Aces, Washington county; Eltzen-Be-Square, Houston county; Framnas, Stevens county; Delafield Diggers, Jackson county; Hi-Lighters, Le Sueur county; Silverton, Pennington county; and Wykeham Willing Workers, Todd county.

Every 4-H club in Carver county conducted a safety hazard hunt in 1963. In addition, nearly 200 4-H members participated in a bicycle inspection and reflectorizing program. More than 800 bicycles were inspected by Veterans of Foreign Wars members and local law enforcement officers, assisted by 4-H'ers in a one-day campaign conducted in June.

WESTAKER Lutheran church of Newfolden made a move Thursday — a big move to a new location. Measuring about 26x54 feet in size, the church was placed on a truck owned by Elmer C. Johnson, Inc., of Warren and transported three miles from its former site southwest of Newfolden into the village itself. The church was built in 1889 and 1900 and withstood the strain of moving without sustaining so much as a cracked window pane. Since the Westaker congregation remained a member of the Lutheran Free church at the time of a merger of Lutheran churches recently, it needed room for Sunday school classes. A basement under the building in its new location will provide this room formerly offered by another church in Newfolden which joined in the recent merger.

EXCAVATION for a basement to be placed under the Westaker Lutheran church which was recently moved into Newfolden is shown above. The basement will be 26x64 and will provide Sunday school rooms for the congregation—one of three churches in a parish still affiliated with the Lutheran Free church following a recent Lutheran merger.

Dr. Dagg Reviews Radiology Dept. At NW Hospital

Radiologist Is Guest Speaker Wednesday at Lions Club Meeting

Dr. Earl Dagg, radiologist at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls Lions club Wednesday noon in the Elks club rooms. He was introduced by Norman Peterson, program chairman.

Dr. Dagg noted that radiology is a special field of medicine in the same respect that pediatrics, obstetrics and other specialties are. The main difference, he noted, is that radiologists retain an interest in the general medical field and use radiology as a tool in diagnosis and treatment.

He also called attention to the radiology laboratory in the new hospital addition, stating that it would contain x-ray equipment with an image amplifier and permit further use of radioactive isotopes in diagnosis and treatment. This will be done with the same hospital staff with the possible addition of one technician. A portable x-ray machine will also be used to conduct studies in the operating room and at bedside for seriously ill patients.

James Wilson reported on the Halloween party for city school children and a zone meeting to be held in Newfolden Monday was announced.

New Inspection Station at Border (Warroad Pioneer)

The new U. S. Immigration and U. S. Customs inspection building at the border north of Warroad went into use Saturday morning, and persons crossing the border will now report there instead of at the office near the CNR depot in Warroad.

Occupancy of the new quarters marks culmination of years of effort to move inspection facilities from town to the border.

The modern new station consists of the main office building and a two-car garage. The main building consists of the general lobby and inspection room, which will contain a counter and desks; two offices; rest rooms; and a room which contains living facilities for relief men on duty at the station.

North Clearwater Farmers Drain Area (Gonvick Leader-Record)

Berner farmers are witnessing the climax of sound community effort and cooperation towards water management as they observe earth-moving equipment working on two drainage channels leading north of the Clearwater river.

This fall marks the end of a year-long project of channel improvement and culvert installation for a 6,000 acre area extending into Hangaard, Greenwood and Winsor townships.

The total cost of earth moving operations came to $11,556. The drainage systems received $7,816 cost sharing assistance through the ACP program; leaving a local contribution of $3,740.

Local Berner farmers agreed to assess themselves one dollar per acre to cover local contribution to the drainage projects. A total of 5,000 acres was pledged by members.

Lancaster to Get New Street Lights (Lancaster Herald)

Lancaster will have a much-improved village lighting system within a short time. The Council at last week's meeting entered into a contract with the Ottertail Power company for the installation of 82 new-type mercury vapor lamps. These new lamps will vastly improve the lighting in all sections of the town and will cost very little if any more to operate. The mercury vapor type lamp is the finest in lighting and yields many more lumens for the same cost as that of the present old fashioned bulb.

Cattle Thief Suspect Found Not Guilty (Red Lake Falls Fazette)

A jury of 10 men and two women acquitted Keewatin farmer Nelmer Berg on a charge of cattle theft in district court here last Thursday afternoon. The catle, two Holstein heifers, were admittedly stolen from the Virgil Nelson farm last June and discovered several days later near Berg's farm on the Iron Range.

It was impossible, however, to directly link Berg with the theft and the jury apparently agreed that the evidence left doubts as to Berg's involvement with the theft.

Bowling Alley Now Open at Greenbush (Badger Enterprise)

With the arrival of automatic pin-spotters Monday of this week, Hi-way Lanes, newly completed bowling alley at Greenbush is now open to the public for bowling, according to O. H. Nelson, owner.

Ada Family Injured In Car Accident (Red Lake Falls Gazette)

An Ada family of five, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bigger and sons, Mark, and Kevin and daughter, Cindy, escaped serious injury Saturday morning when the Bigger car was completely demolished in an accident between Terrebonne and Brooks.

Bigger, who is assistant extension agent in Norman county, was on his way to Oklee and was approaching Highway 92 from a county road near the gravel pit curve. He became distracted with one of the children in the back seat and when the car hit the shoulder, he lost control.

Hallock Votes on Airport Issue (Kittson County Enterprise)

Generating some interest in the village election is the airport issue. The result of the election will determine if Hallock will accept a state and federal grant for the project in the amount of about $27,000. Hallock's share of the estimated $34,000 project will be $7,000. Voters next Tuesday will vote on the issue and if passed the council will go ahead with plans for the installation of the facility.

First Snowfall at Mahnomen (Mahnomen Pioneer)

Fall blooming flowers, wayward bluebirds and short-sleeved shirts all got a set back this week as the weatherman began acting a bit more like he is supposed to this time of the year. After an extended balmy fall, the area got a hint of things to come early this week as the first snow of the season fell and night temperatures skidded below freezing.

A brief snow shower on Monday morning lasted long enough to leave traces of snow in the corners for an hour or so, with the snow totaling a mere .02 of inch precipitation.

Chinese bronze knife coins, containing from three to five per cent nickel, were used as currency as early as 770 B. C.

INFERNO appearance is given to this photo as a brush fire rages out of control in a large area a few miles south of Gatzke. Billowing smoke from this large blaze and a number of smaller fires rose high into the air and created a heavy haze over the horizon. For many miles the acrid smell of smoke was very strong—even worse than the smoke which hovered over Thief River Falls a couple of weeks ago. The dramatic affect of the above photo is created by heavily burned areas and a shadow cast by the billowing smoke. Minnesota Department of Conservation, forestry division, has urged extreme caution when burning and noted that the threat of uncontrolled fire increases with each passing day without rain.

TRF Soldiers Are Participating in Big Troop Move

Orville Holt and Duane Scholin Take Part in Operation Big Lift

Two Army men from Thief River Falls, Privates First Class Orville J. Holt, 25, and Duane D. Scholin, 21, are participating in Operation BIG LIFT, the largest transoceanic Army-Air Force deployment ever made by air. The exercise began October 22, and is scheduled to end in late December.

The two men, and other members of the 2nd Armored Division, were flown from bases near Fort Hood, Tex., to bases in Germany where they drew heavy equipment from prepositioned stocks. They then joined other U. S. troops, stationed in Germany for a NATO training exercise. Upon competion of the training, the division will turn in its equipment and return to the U. S.

The exercise is a demonstration of U. S. military ability to reinforce NATO forces through airlift of a U. S.-based division to Germany and link-up of this division with combat equipment positioned there.

The soldiers completed basic training at Fort Carson, Colo. They attended Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls.

Holt, whose wife Barbara, and parents Mr. and Mrs. Gust Holt, live in Thief River Falls, is a mechanic in Company A, 2d Battalion of the division's 61st armor at Fort Hood. He entered the Army in December of 1961 and was last assigned to Fort Knox, Ky. Before entering the army, he was employed by Narverud Cleaners.

Scholin, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy I. Scholin, route 5, is assigned to Co. B, 2nd Battalion of the division's 41st infantry at the fort. He entered the Army in January 1962. Before entering the Army, Scholin was engaged in farming. His wife, Carol, lives in Killeen, Tex.

Association for Hearing Impaired Sets Convention

To Advise Legislators On Situation at State School for the Deaf

Ralph Spindler, St. Paul, president of the Minnesota Association for the Hearing Impaired, has announced that the fall convention of the association will be held in St. Cloud at the Press Cafe on November 9.

Major consideration of the convention, Spindler stated, will be to make the needs of the Minnesota School for the Deaf known to legislators prior to the 1965 legislative session. Because the school is owned and operated by the state, it is directly dependent on the legislature for funds.

The state department of education has indicated that the school does not meet the standards for public and private schools. In order to provide adequately for its enrollment of 270 children, Spindler added, the report of the department recommends that the teaching staff be increased by seven, the number of houseparents tripled, the dormitory for older boys replaced as soon as possible, classroom facilities increased by 16 rooms, and the funds allowed for equipment and supplies greatly increased.

It has been recommended that the facilities and services of the school be increased or the enrollment of the school reduced to 200 pupils. Hosts to the convention will be the St. Cloud Parents of Hearing Handicapped Children, a member organization of the state association.

RRV Sugar Beet Crop Is Largest on Record

The 1963 sugar beet crop is the largest ever harvested in the Red River Valleq, according to Jack Tanner, district manager of American Crystal Sugar Co.

Tanner spoke at the regular noon meeting of the Crookston Rotary Thursday.

Approximately 1,616,800 tons will have been harvested on approximately 119,000 acres, averaging 13.55 tons per acre, Tanner said, as compared with a 10-year average of 11.9 tons per acre.

"The quality of beets has been exceptional," he said, "with sugar content in excess of 16 per cent." The 10-year average for sugar content is 15.71 per cent.

Tanner attributed the record crop to early planting and weeding, greater use of herbicides and fertilizer, a long, warm growing season and excellent supply of subsoil moisture during seeding.

The factor of moisture was the most important contribution to the record crop, he said.

He indicated that the Crookston plant, and others in the area, would have a long processing period; which he expects will run until February.

"The Crookston plant has purchased 597,000 tons of sugar beets for slicing, which should produce over 1,400,000 bags of sugar," he said.

The Drayton, N. D., sugar beet plant now under construction will be completed by the fall of 1965, Tanner said. This plant will be capable of processing in excess of 600,000 tons of beets per year.

Eligibility for GI Loans Is Cited

Fargo VA Center Chief Reports on Regulations

While eligibility for GI loans has been running out for World War II veterans daily since July 25, 1952, the same formula does not apply to unremarried widows of World War II veterans whose death was due to service-connected disabilities, John R. Parrish, Fargo, VA Center director, pointed out today.

These widows have the maximum entitlement for the World War II group which extends until July 25, 1967.

Eligibility for Korean conflict veterans does not begin to expire until January 31, 1965 and their maximum entitlement extends to Jan. 31, 1975. Unremarried widows of Korean conflict veterans whose death was due to service-connected disabilities enjoy the maximum entitlement to the 1975 date.

The same formula is applied to determine the eligibility of both World War II and Korean conflict veterans. Veterans of World War II with 90 days of active service and a discharge other than dishonorable have entitlement for ten years from the last discharge from active wartime service plus an additional year for each three months of such service.

Basic eligibility requirements are the same for Korean Conflict veterans but in no event will their ten-year period begin after Jan. 31, 1955, should their discharge have occurred at a later date.

Scout Council Sets Series of Workshops

George C. Frickel, New Brunswick, N. J., assistant national director of the Cub scouting service, Boy Scouts of America, will conduct a series of workshops in the 15 county Lake Agassiz Council this week for Cub scout leaders.

The meetings, designed to bring the latest information and program techniques to area leaders, are open to all Cub scout leaders and parents in northeastern North Dakota and northwestern Minnesota.

Cub scouting is one of the programs of the Boy Scouts of America for boys eight through 10 years of age and their families. The Cub scouting program came into being in the 1930's in the United States, and currently has more than 1¼ million registered members. In the Lake Agassiz council there are 1,800 registered Cub scouts.

First of the meetings will be a Cub scout leader's roundtable, to be held in Devils Lake on Thursday evening. The event will begin at 8 p. m. at the school for the deaf.

Friday morning Frickel will conduct a den mother's workshop in Grafton beginning at 9 a. m. The meeting will be held at St. John's church parish hall.

A den mother's workshop will also be held Friday afternoon at the Federated church in Grand Forks starting at 2 p. m.

A meeting specifically designed for Cubmasters, Assistant Cubmasters, Pack committeemen, Webelos leaders and other men will be held Friday evening at the Scout office in Grand Forks at 8 p. m. Subjects such a Pack Management and programming will be discussed.

Frickel has been active in scouting since 1924. As a boy he attained the rank of Eagle Scout and then became assistant Scoutmaster and Scoutmaster in the same troop in Tulsa, Okla.

Frickel assumed his present position in 1957. He is responsible for helping develop and promote the Cub scouting program, and aids in the preparation of training and program helps for Cub scout leaders, including Cub scout quarterlies, program notebooks and other Cub scout literature.

Traffic Declines During September

Use of Rural Trunk Routes Drops 17 Pct. under August

Traffic on Minnesota rural trunk highways in September dropped 17 percent from August, the Minnesota Highway Department reports. This is a normal drop, with the vacation period over and school starting.

However, September traffic on rural highways increased 1.8 percent over the same month a year ago, which is about a normal increase.

The biggest traffic decreases in September from August were 30.2 percent on TH 10 south of Royalton; 30 percent on TH 61 south of Knife river; 20.4 percent on TH 10 northwest of Anoka; 16.1 percent on TR 65 northwest of Lakeville; and 14.2 percent on TH 12 east of St. Paul. All these highways carry large volumes of tourist-vacation traffic.

Traffic dropped at all of the 31 traffic recorder stations in the state.

The highway department makes traffic counts the year around, using 31 automatic traffic recorders placed at locations of rural trunk highways. These are supplemented with portable recorders at other locations, providing a comprehensive picture of travel on rural highways throughout the state. Traffic counts are used, with other data, to determine present and future highway needs.

Selling GI Home Does Not Relieve Veteran Liability

Mortgage Foreclosure Resulting in Deficiency Could Create Difficulty

Merely selling his GI home does not relieve the veteran of his liability to the Veterans Administration, according to John R. Parrish, center director.

Too often veterans who have sold their GI homes learn later that the buyer has defaulted on the loan, the mortgage has been foreclosed, a deficiency resulted and they are liable to VA for payment of the claim VA had to pay to the lender, he said.

The veteran may be released of the liability to the Veterans Administration if his loan is current and if the purchaser has obligated himself by contract to purchase his property and assume his liability. In addition, the purchaser must satisfy the Veterans Administration that he is a good credit risk.

A veteran planning to sell his GI home may take either of two (1) He can arrange for the GI loan to be paid in full. (2) He can allow the purchaser to assume his GI loan and obtain a release of his liability on the loan from the holder of the mortgage and the Veterans Administration, provided, of course, both agree.

The veteran may apply to Veterans Administration for a release from liability by submitting a written request addressed to Loan Guaranty Officer, VA Center, Ft. Snelling, St. Paul, Minnesota, 55111.

The request should include the Veterans Administration loan number if known (it is shown on the reverse of the certificate of eligibility), the address of the property, the name and address of the proposed purchaser, and the name and address of the holder of the mortgage, Parrish added.

Enrollment Rises in State Colleges

Moorhead State College, with a total on-campus enrollment of 2,504 students this fall, showed the greatest percentage increase, 16.7 per cent, of any of Minnesota's five state colleges for the third fall in succession. Last fall's on-campus enrollment totaled 2,145.

The total this fall represents an increase of 164 per cent over the 1957 on-campus enrollment of 958.

Mankato State College recorded an increase of 16.3 per cent, Bemidji State College, 13.2 per cent; Winona State, 7.3 per cent; and St. Cloud State, 6.7 per cent.

PEACEFUL squares of farmland in crazy-quilt patterns are marred by the clouds of smoke which rise from scattered fires east of Middle River. Visible beyond the smoke is a blackened area where a number of sections have been charred by fires. While fires were more evident several weeks ago, the possible danger from such blazes increases with the absence of rain. Residents of areas where fires have occurred state that some of them have been burning for more than two weeks. These flare up periodically as they reach better fuel supplies or there are changes in wind direction and velocity. Of interest and concern to sportsmen is the tremendous losses of deer habitat which would have provided both cover and food this winter.

FARMING TODAY

by your County Agent

Paul Stelmaschuk

Several farmers have reported losing calves that have been shipped in from some distance, according to County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk, and he suggests several precautions which can be taken to reduce such losses.

Most cattle shipped more than a few hundred miles actually get shipping fever. Only a small percentage show the obvious symptoms. However the others have the disease in sub-clinical form. While the exact cause of the condition is not known, enough is known about the pre-disposing stress factors of shipping fever to make it worthwhile for the cattle feeder to take certain precautions.

Steps to reduce stress conditions are associated with transportation, diet, equipment and the handling of newly arrived cattle.

Transportation

Choose the shortest or least time consuming method of shipping. If you do your own trucking protect stock from wind, especially in cold weather. Avoid overcrowding, excessive speeds.

Diet

Cattle are especially sensitive to changes in feeding and watering while in transit. Their complex digestive system can be thrown off balance easily, resulting in loss of appetite or going off feed. Supply a balanced ration and get cattle started the day they arrive on the lot. Make sure tehey get and drink water. Stock raised in the open may hesitate or refuse to approach or enter a building for water.

Equipment

Provide sanitary lots, watering and feeding equipment; comfortable shelter. Have a pen set aside for sick animals. Keep dust down.

Newly Arrived Cattle

Keep segregated or quarantined from other cattle on farm. Observe for signs of disease—isolate and have veterinarian treat sick animals immediately. Postpone any handling (de-horning, etc.) which may excite stock—wait until calves are "bawled out" and stock well on feed. Consult veterinarian about if and when stock should be vaccinated against rhinitis (IBR). Provide chutes for restraining animals which must be treated.

Diseases in newly arrived feeder cattle can usually be controlled by applying safeguards like those outlined above along with prompt veterinary treatment. Unfortunately, the same does not always hold true in the case of very young calves. An unusually severe type of calf septicemia or calf scours, with death of some calves, will occur quite regularly when a large group of very young calves is assembled from different farms.

Education Week Slated Nov. 10-16

Educators, PTA's, Legion Sponsoring Observance

"Education strengthens the Nation." That's the theme for the week-long American Education Week to be observed November 10-16.

Mr. H. M. Halverson, Glenwood, state chairman of the American Legion's American Education Week Committee, said that the theme is highly appropriate in light of current world conditions. Not only has education contributed directly to the technological changes which annually increase the standard of living and wealth of the nation, but it stands as a primary bulwark in the ideological battle between East and West.

Every year, during the week in which Veterans day occurs, American Education Week is held to put the spotlight on what the schools are doing. 1963 marks the 43rd observance of the program, which is sponsored nationally by the National Education Association, The American Legion, the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, and the U. S. Office of Education.

Many communities throughout Minnesota conduct extensive programs in connection with AEW, according to Halverson. Nationwide, some 30 million parents are expected to visit their schools during the week.

Ham, Locally Grown Vegetables Best Buys

If you're looking for a good buy in meat, this may be the week for you to choose ham. And to accompany the ham, put some locally grown vegetables in your market basket, along with some fresh grapes and apples.

Hams—whole, shank and butt halves—are featurel items at many meat counters, reports Mary Ryan, extension consumer marketing specialist at the University of Minnesota. Many beef and pork cuts are also good values. Check on specials in the meat department where you shop.

Good buys in vegetables include locally gown red potatoes, squash, tomatoes and cauliflower, all in good supply. The Minnesota cabbage crop is 11 per cent greater than last year; the carrot crop is seven per cent larger—so watch for good values on these items.

Tokay and Emperor grapes, the fall varieties of the abundant grape crop in California, continue to be good buys.

Although October is the peak month for apples, large supplies will last through January. All Midwest apples are abundant. Delicious apples are slightly higher priced than other varieties.

More oranges and grapefruit are appearing in markets each week, in spite of this year's short citrus crop. Prices will be slightly higher than the low prices we have been accustomed to, Miss Ryan says. She points out, however, that consumers can still find good buys if they watch for specials. Some supermarkets will feature low prices on grafefruit and oranges to attract you to their stores.

Good news to food shoppers is the report from the U. S. Department of Agriculture that Florida, California and Arizona citrus trees are recovering well from last year's freeze.

Low priced at many stores this week are pound packages of soda crackers, canned fruit cocktail, peaches, cream-style corn and tomato juice; and 1 and 3-pound cans of coffee. Although a freeze occurred in Brazil's major coffee-producing state, no shortage or higher prices are anticipated on coffee.

Cancer Workshop Set for This City Tuesday, Nov. 12

Volunteers from Nine Counties Will Share in Training Session Here

Northwestern Minnesota volunteers enrolled in the American Cancer Society's fight to defeat this disease will participate in a training session Tuesday, Nov. 12, to be held at Thief River Falls.

Psychologically Speaking...

by DR. PAUL HAUCK

Western Mental Health Center
Marshall, Minn.

What is Psychotherapy?

In order to explain what psychotherapy is, perhaps I should start by explaining what psychoanalysis is. Psychoanalysis is a method of treating emotional problems by letting the patient say whatever comes to his mind. Sooner or later during the treatment the patient will begin to speak of things which are close to his heart and often which he has been keeping a secret even from himself.

As he gradually hits upon more and more of these little hidden areas about his personality, the patient gains a new insight into what sort of person he really is. Sometimes the patient may come awfully close to seeing something new about himself, but just can't seem to put it into words. The therapist at this point may interpret for him what he himself is struggling to say but is unable to.

To understand what the patient is struggling with is often a difficult task and the therapist must be constantly alert to what the patient is doing at all times. The conflict which is struggling to emerge into consciousness may be unrecognized but it is nevertheless showing itself in subtle ways. For one thing, the patient may make slips of the tongue, or he may have had a dream which clearly reveals the source of difficulty.

By being constantly alert to all possible means of expression at the disposal of the patient, the therapist is able to direct the conversation along lines he knows will be fruitful.

In psychoanalysis, this process almost always takes months, and frequently over a year. The analysist's goal is to make a new personality out of the old one. He may see his patient five days a week, use a couch to help the person talk freely, and will generally work only with his patient, not with the family or employers, etc.

Psychotherapy is based on the same principles as psychoanalysis. There are, however, important differences. For one thing, the former technique is not interested in a complete reworking of the individual. It is content with a tune-up rather than a complete overhaul. This means that the goals are more immediate and necessarily, require less time. Many people going into psychotherapy stay no more than a few months and some gain permanent relief after only a few hours of treatment.

The couch is not used in psychotherapy. The patient is free to walk about the room, sit in a chair, anything which makes him or her comfortable and encourages conversation. Appointments may be one hour a week or one hour a month. They are sometimes once every several months.

If quicker results can be obtained by bringing other members of the family into the picture, this is readily done. Sometimes employers, ministers, physicians and other individuals who might conceivably assist the treatment program are called upon to help in the ways that each knows best.

Psychotherapy, then, is a method by which a person having emotional difficultires and worries, talks about them, uncovers the source of trouble and learns new ways to cope with his problems. When this area of difficulty is straightened out, treatment is terminated.

Forestry Division Launches Program

With funds provided under the Natural Resources Act passed by the 1963 legislature, the Department of Conservation forestry division has launched a program to increase both recreational opportunities and timber yield in Minnesota's forests.

An example of the type of outdoor recreation facility being provided is the Lougee Lake campground located 13 miles northeast of Brainerd.

On this site the forestry division is directing a crew of ten men in the construction of a 31 unit campground, a boat ramp, swimming beach, trailer park and picnic area with running water and outdoor type toilets. A cleared tent site, fireplace and picnic table will be provided at each unit.

In the Park Rapids area, a 12-man conservation work project crew consisting of previously unemployed workers, is busy on tree planting, site preparation, road construction and campground development under the supervision of forestry division personnel.

Much of the work is being done in the White Earth and Paul Bunyan state forests and at the Mantrap Lake campground east of Emmaville.

Predict Successful Deer Hunting Season

For the sixth consecutive year, Minnesota game officials are predicting a successful deer hunting season in the state, provided the weatherman cooperates. Statewide bow hunting for deer began September 28, but firearms hunters will be getting their first chance at the white-tails Saturday, November 9.

Reason for optimism is the series of mild winters which began in 1957-58. Light snow accumulation has allowed deer to roam over their summer range during the winter and browsing pressure has been reduced on the traditional winter yarding areas.

In addition, favorable weather and adequate food have resulted in healthy animals and good fawn crops. This is important since fawns and yearling deer make up half the kill each year. A poor fawn crop has an immediate effect on the hunting success the following fall.

Conservation department big game specialists say that Minnesota is recognized as one of the top white-tail deer states in the nation in terms of hunting success and deer herd management. The state's "any deer" season held annually is said to be the envy of other states still plagued by obsolete buck laws and other restrictions not based on biological principles.

Minnesota's over-all hunter success ration has reached 40 to 50 per cent for several years and has been as high as 65 to 75 per cent in some counties. Now, Minnesotans are being warned that the honeymoon could end any time. Prior to 1957, deer died of winter starvation on the average of once every four years.

Despite the removal of about 100,000 deer each year by hunters, game officials warn that deer will starve again if the snows come early, pile deep and stay late. Records show that starvation can be expected if there are 18 inches or more snow on the ground for a period of 12 weeks or longer.

Artificial feeding has been tried in many states but has proved largely ineffective. Cutting of natural browze that has grown so high that deer can no longer reach it is better than feeding, but the number of such critical areas that can be reached and worked over during a bad winter is very limited.

Big game workers feel that small timber sales conducted by public and private agencies provide more food on an acre basis than could any game management cutting project. The branches trimmed from the trees during logging operations are a valuable source of winter food for deer in many areas.

The most important management tool, however, is to set hunting seasons on a zone basis so that hunters can trim local deer populations to meet habitat conditions.

Many big game workers wish state laws would permit greater flexibility in regulations so that more deer could be taken from remote areas of the state where hunting pressure is lightest and where losses will be heaviest when mother nature finally catches up with Minnesota's deer herd.

Dep't. To Clear Rough Fish from Loon, Clear Lakes

Will Establish 20-Acre Spawning Area To Give Supply of Fingerlings

The Clear and Loon Lake area near Waseca may well become one of the better fishing spots in southern Minnesota within two years if conservation department plans work out as hoped.

The department has announced it intends to chemically treat the lakes with fish toxicants within the next three weeks. The lakes have been heavily infested with carp for many years. The fish toxicants will kill all fish and the lakes will be restocked with game fish next spring and summer. Excellent fishing is expected no later than 1966.

In addition to the chemical treatment and the restocking program, the department also is proceeding with development of a 20-acre northern pike spawning and rearing area adjacent to Clear Lake to provide a constant supply of fingerlings for the lake.

Bids for construction work will be advertised later this month or early in November. Funds for this project were made available under the Natural Resources Act passed by the 1963 legislature.

The over-all fishery management project is a cooperative program with local people. Earlier this year the Waseca Sportsmen's club and Waseca county reconstructed a dam at the outlet of Clear Lake which will prevent reinfestation of carp from downstream. The sportsmen's club also will coordinate local help in salvaging fish which will be killed in the chemical treatment. The fish toxicant acts as a sufficant, and thus the fish are perfectly safe to eat.

Game and Fish division crews will net the lakes in an attempt to catch usable game fish for transfer to area lakes. The chemical treatment will be done as soon as the transfer operations have been completed.

The three-pronged fisheries management program including the carp barrier, chemical treatment and spawning area development is deemed essential to restore good fishing to Clear and Loon Lakes. Failure to carry out any one of these phases would practically eliminate the potential benefits from the other two, the department's report said.

DEER HUNTING will again be permitted on most parts of the Agassiz National Wildlife refuge, according to Herbert H. Dill, refuge manager. Only a small portion of the area around headquarters will be closed. Only deer may be taken from sunrise to sunset November 9 through 17 inclusive. Entrance to the refuge may be gained from SAR 7, from the north gate at the old secondary headquarters road and from the main gates on the west side. Portions of certain roads may be closed due to construction work. Due to the severe fire hazard, hunters are cautioned about smoking, Dill said, and no camping fires are permitted on the refuge. Peat fires are prevalent in the area just off the refuge, making conditions for driving hazardous. Refuge gates will be opened at 6 a.m. and all cars must be out of the refuge by dark. Travel by motor vehicle on the refuge will be limited to designated areas and may be further restricted in case of bad weather to prevent damage to refuge trails. No driving in the fields by hunters will be permitted. Hunters must comply with all state regulations pertaining to deer hunting but will not be required to report to checking stations.

Maroons Open Home Schedule

The Winnipeg Maroons senior hockey team, coached by Gordy Simpson, the former Roseau Cloverleafs player, and with a number of former States-Dominion hockey players on its roster, will open its home schedule on Monday, November 11.

Meeting the Maroons on the spacious ice-sheet of the Winnipeg Arena that evening will be Canada's representative in the 1964 Olympic Games, the team from the University of British Columbia.

The Canadian Olympic team, in training since August, is in excellent physical condition. The average age is 23.5 years of age, and the team is composed largely of players who were standouts in junior hockey two or three years ago. Many of these players could have become hockey professionals had they not preferred to acquire an education and prepare themselves for careers in business or professions.

Attesting to the ability of the Canadian Olympic club is the record that the boys have established against the professional teams of the Western Hockey league. Following a 3 to 2 loss to the Vancouver Canucks, the British Columbia club defeated Seattle by a 3 to 1 score, and Portland by 4 to 2 score. They also scored a pair of wins over the amateur Saskatoon Quakers, 5 to 3 and 3 to 2.

There are some fine-sounding names on that Canadian Olympic club namely Brian Conacher and Terry Clancy. Conacher is the son of Lionel Conacher, Canada's athlete of the half-centry: and Clancy is the son of King Clancy of Toronto Maple Leaf fame.

The Season's Last Foursome.

What could very well have been the season's last golfing foursome was in action over the local course on Sunday afternoon. The four golfers enjoying the 54-above weather were Art Langseth, Shorty O'Hara, Bob Craik, and Earle Anderson. The flags have been removed from the greens, and the cups have been plugged, but this foursome was provided with a portable "cup." Earle proved to be the 'money' player of the group, and this sum will go into the Anderson retirement fund.

Sorry, Sam

Lloyd (Sam) Samuelson, the fish and wildlife expert of the Hartz Warehouse, made a modest wager that in the elk family both the bull and the cow have antlers.

I called Bob Farmes on this matter and he said that is was only the bull that had the antlers. He added though, that Sam was perhaps confusing the caribou with the elk, for in the caribou clan both sexes have antlers. Sam had better stick to fishing, and in that line he is an authority on suckers and redhorse and sheephead.

It Had To Happen.

The high-flying Hamm's Beer team of the Friday night City bowling league had been making shambles of the league race, having posted a 27 and 1 mark. That is, it was a shambles until last Friday when the Hamm's met the Gamble-Robinson team, and the Gambles picked up the four points that were at stake in the match.

The Gamble-Robinson squad of Irv Johnson, Bill Holmes, Bill Unruh, Walt Morehouse, and Roger Moen, and taking advantage of an 84-pin handicap, chalked up games of 824-800-852 for a 2476 aggregate. The Hamm's had modest scores of 820-779-809 for a 2408.

Another Friday night like that and coach and manager Emil (Dusty) Dostal will be shaking up the lineup, and maybe levy a couple of fines.

Urge Planning Ahead For College Training

Rural youths must shoulder a good deal of responsibility for their own college and career planning, a University of Minnesota educator said today. He added that merely having a high school diploma is far from enough; how well the youth capitalizes on high school opportunities may be crucial for the future.

Keith McFarland, director of resident instruction for the college of agriculture, forestry and home economics, addressed the 18th annual meeting of the Minnesota Association of Cooperatives at the Hotel Lowry in St. Paul. McFarland had three main points on career planning among rural youths:

Plan to anticipate needs. "For instance, a majority of college programs call for high school training in mathematics, through higher algebra, as a bare minimum. If you don't have this training when you enter college, you may have to take it on your time and without credit."

Avoid dead end streets. "The person with a plan does not drift aimlessly," McFarland said. "A goal is part of a plan; keep in mind what the implications of high school training are in terms of admission to college, part-time work, recommendations for jobs. Ability to persist is important—more so than often realized."

Plan to save time and add efficiency and flexibility. McFarland advised young men and women to plan their training so as to give them entree into many different career activities. "Then," he said, "They will be able to make the best choice from among those available when the choice must be made."

"There is no single best answer for anyone," McFarland said, "but good preparation increases the number of possibilities available."

McFarland questioned the idea of a "C" being a "gentleman's grade." "Grades," he said, "are the best available evidence of ability and productiveness. They represent the sum total of aptitude, effort, self-discipline and cooperativeness of the individual. as such, grades have special meaning to employers, college admissions counselors, scholarship committees and faculty advisers."

"Good effort in high school develops the attitude of expecting success," he added. "Success with a tough high school program will probably mean greater readiness for the 'tough' courses in college, or will suggest an unwillingness to settle for less than a good job being done 'on the job'."

Yet, said McFarland, factors other than intellect are important for school and job success. An individual must have a goal, imagination, realistic optimism and courage. He needs good health and energy, willingness to work, and ability to empathize with employer or instructor—see what he wants or expects, and why. Also important, said McFarland, are unselfishness, personality and personal aspirations.

"College is more important than ever for homemakers," said McFarland. "Women must handle finances, become leaders in community service, maintain relationships with other family members and neighbors and take the lead in determining the cultural level of the family."

According to experiments, bees recognize honey-yielding flowers first by color and secondly by scent.

Social Security Benefits Younger Age Groups Also

District Manager Says Program Not Designed Only for Older People

"After more than a quarter century of social security, many people think of it as something strictly for the older person and it is this incorrect picture of social security that we try to dispel through every means that we can," states Walter D. Kistler, social security district manager.

He said the social security program protects persons of all ages, not only the 62 or 65-year-olds. In addition to the regular retirement benefits for elderly people, disability payments may also be made to a totally and permanently disabled worker who is under 65.

Benefits to widows, surviving children under 18 years of age, and disabled children past 18 years of age are also an important part of "social security". Other people who can get benefits if they were dependent on a deceased worker are dependent husbands, and in certain situations, divorced wives.

"Social security is no longer protection for the older person alone," Kistler said. "It is lifetime protection for nine out of ten working Americans."

Benefits cannot be paid unless an application is made. A person who is nearing retirement should inquire at the social security office about benefits, as should survivors of a deceased worker or a worker who has become disabled.

"These three times for action," Kistler said, "are a must if a person is to be fully informed on his social security rights and obligations. It costs nothing to ask, but it may cost a good deal—in loss of benefits—if you stay in the dark about social security."

$48 Million Paid In Dividends To Korean Veterans

Veterans May Convert "RS" Insurance Policies To Seven Other Programs

More than $48,500,000 has been paid in GI insurance dividends to those Korean conflict veterans who exchanged or converted their "RS" insurance policies by the deadline date of Sept. 13, 1963, the Veterans Administration reported today.

"RS" was the identifying designation given to the term insurance issued during the Korean Conflict.

Under provisions of a bill signed into law by the President on Sept. 13, 1961, Korean Conflict veterans were given an opportunity for two years from that date of obtaining a special dividend by exchanging "RS" term policies to a lower cost term policy or converting them to a permanent plan of insurance.

More than 570,000 veterans collected their dividends before the expiration date ended further payments.

VA officials estimate that approximately 68,000 veterans still hold "RS" policies. Although they may no longer obtain a dividend, they may still exchange their "RS" policies for "W" term policies that cost one-third as much or convert them to any one of six choices of permanent plan insurance; ordinary life, 20 payment life, 30 payment life, 20-year endowment, endowment at age 60 and endowment at age 65.

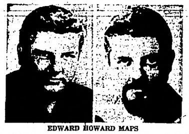
WANTED BY THE FBI



EDWARD HOWARD MAPS

Edward Howard Maps, "beatnik," firearms expert, college graduate, artist and sculptor, who is charged with brutally slaying his wife and four-month-old daughter, is one of the FBI's "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives."

Firemen attempting to extinguish a blaze in Maps' Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania, home on January 21, 1962, found the infant dead of smoke inhalation, and Maps' young wife dying of a fractured skull and cerebral hemorrhage. At least ten fires had been set in the home and the gas oven was turned on.

Maps was missing but allegedly telephoned two neighbors shortly after the crimes were discovered, threatening one with being "next." A Federal warrant charging Maps with unlawful interstate flight to avoid prosecution for murder and arson was issued on January 23, 1962, at Scranton, Pennsylvania.

Generally known as an artist and sculptor, he is a nonconformist who shuns ordinary footwear, going barefoot in the summer and wearing sandals without socks during the winter. A sloppy dresser of unkempt and untidy appearance, he was discharged from the Marine Corps as a schizophrenic.

A white American, born on June 29, 1922, at Passaic, New Jersey, Maps is 5' 8" tall, weighs 170 pounds, has a ruddy complexion, broad shoulders, a barrel-chested build and is unusually strong. His eyes are brown, he has bushy, curly graying-black hair and sometimes wears a full beard and mustache.

Mille Lacs Lake Closed to Taking Pike This Year

Northerns Protected To Rebuild Declining Population, Dept. Says

Mille Lacs Lake will be closed to the taking of northern pike for one more year, under an order issued by Wayne H. Olson, commissioner of conservation. The lake was first closed to northern pike fishing in 1961 in an attempt to rebuild a declining pike population.

Since then nearly 100,000 artificially reared fingerling and winter rescued northern pike have been stocked in Mille Lacs, according to Ted Shields, game and fish division director. One natural spawning area has been developed and is in use, and another is scheduled for completion next year.

Beginning in December, 1964, the lake will be opened again to northern pike fishing, Shields stated. By that time, any benefits of the program to rebuild the population will have been attained.

Netting surveys recently completed revealed most of the northern pike to be 18 to 22 inches. These fish will spawn next spring and will be of a size attractive to fishermen the following year. The young fish hatched next spring should assure a satisfactory population for future years.

Shields emphasized that Mille Lacs is, and always will be, primarily a walleye lake and one of the best in the world. Northern pike can be expected to supplement the walleye fishing only to a small degree and chiefly in the shallow, weedy portions of the lake.

The present walleye population is considered to be very good. Spawning conditions for walleyes have been satisfactory in recent years and the walleyes have responded well. Perch reproduction also has been good, thus supplying necessary food for the walleyes.

If nature and the weather cooperate, fishermen can expect to enjoy continued good fishing at Mille Lacs. And beginning in December, 1964, they once more will be able to supplement their strings of walleyes with an occasional northern pike, Shields said.

The Civil Rights Bill

It appears that a watered-down civil rights bill will probably be approved by Congress. Whether or not it has been watered-down enough only time will tell. The pressure for more drastic legislation will continue and the only thing we can be sure about is that this problem will continue to be a headache in the nation for centuries to come.

One certain result will be increased centralization of power in Washington, and that will not be good. We already have lost too many of our liberties that were guaranteed to us at the state and local levels by our Constitution. More and more we are getting government from the top down, and that is a dangerous trend that should be opposed. A benevolent dictatorship does have some merit, but history tells us that benevolent dictatorships inevitably lead to corrupt dictatorships.

Libery is secure only when an intelligent citizenry maintains strong restraints on the powers of the government.

Little Justification For Hope

Treasury officials told Congress last week that the nation's debt limit must be raised again from $309 billion to $315 billion. Secretary Douglas Dillon told the House Ways and Means committee that we are headed for a $9 billion deficit for the fiscal year that will end next June 30.

We are sure that the Secretary's estimate is very conservative if the crazy program of spending more and taxing less that the administration recommends is approved. At the present time we are enjoying a period of national prosperity, due largely to public spending for the campaign year that lies ahead of us. There is little danger of a recession in 1964 unless it is brought about by fear of the ultimate consequences of continuing deficits and debt increases.

In a period of comparative prosperity prudent people make an effort to reduce their debts, and that is what Congress should insist upon. Our country would be in much stronger condition financially if Congress served notice on the administration that there will be no further increasing of the debt limit and that from now on we are going to live within our means.

But there is little justification for the hope that Congress will suddenly adopt a common-sense approach.

Recession Ahead?

Administration leaders continue to insist that a depression is just around the corner and that the only way to avert this disaster is to cut taxes and increase government spending. We shouldn't worry about the national debt that continues to get bigger and bigger year after year, we are told.

We are satisfied that there probably is a depression ahead of us, but our guess is that it will not hit us in the campaign year of 1964. We probably will ride through that campaign year in what will seem to be the most prosperous year that we can recall. Government spending will see to that.

A serious recession is not an impossibility however, even with the government spending of borrowed dollars at a record peak. There is such a thing as a recession that is brought on by a fear of what lies on the other side of the peak. Fear is sometimes an important factor in economic trends. A lack of confidence in the capacity and the integrity of a government can create an economic panic that might seriously retard even normal progress.

So let's not write off the possibility that we could move into a recession, prompted by reasonable fears by responsible people of a bust that inevitably will follow the boom. The storm signals are out, and while the recession that has been predicted by those who speak for the administration in an effort to secure support for a tax program that is very dangerous, may not hit us in the campaign year that is ahead of us, we are moving into a period of adjustment that is not going to be pleasant. Discussing the administration program along these lines, the National Observer comes up with the following conclusions:

> "The Administration is taking the tack that the proposed $11.1 billion in tax reduction is necessary to keep the economy humming. In the best-planned of all possible worlds, the argument would hold a certain logic: Let citizens keep more of their earnings; they would automatically spend more, and this would keep products moving and factories busy. The trouble is that consumers often don't act the way government planners expect them to. Some will salt their tax savings away, many will pay off old debts, and the heralded economic benefits may, or may not, show up.
> "Nobody seriously argues that taxpayers don't deserve a break, or that a reduction in rates wouldn't have some stimulating effect. What critics do insist on, though, is that the loss of tax revenues to the government be offset by reductions in government spending to avoid continually mounting Federal deficits. That's where the real issue lies, and it's no service to the public to try to hustle Congress into hasty action by crying wolf."

Auto Squabble

War has not been declared officially as yet by either the Canadians or those who speak for our government. Up to now there has been no shooting. But there is some justification for the fear that we are approaching the end of neighborly good will and understanding, and sometimes, just a short distance beyond that breaking point, the shooting starts.

Among the several disagreeable differences that have developed recently, the present argument has to do with the sale of automobile repair parts manufactured in our country and sold in Canada. American automobiles, built in Canada, are popular in Canada. But repair parts for these Canadian-built cars are manufactured mainly in the United States. Canadians think that these repair parts should be manufactured in Canada.

The Canadian point of view is understandable. They buy much more from us than we buy from them. The trade balance is not in their favor. They suggest tariff barriers that will make it possible to manufacture these spare parts in Canada on a competitive basis. The Kennedy administration says that would be a declaration of war.

Frankly, our sympathies are with our Canadian neighbors. If they can manufacture the spare parts they need at competitive prices, with a little proection, then more power to them. Let's let the Canadians decide their own problems. Let's recognize them as an independent government, capable of making their own decisions.

The Continuous Bellyache

The St. Paul Pioneer Press is disturbed because Congress is not showing much interest in a bill that would provide federal aid for our larger cities in meeting a mass transportation problem. It states:

> "The arguments made for the program are numerous and conclusive. Most metropolitan areas cannot cope with the task of improving and expanding mass transportation facilities to meet the needs imposed by burgeoning urban populations. Traffic congestion is strangling the nation's larger cities, and the inordinate costs of handling all the cars are suffocating them."

We had occasion recently to drive around, in and about St. Paul with a good citizen of that city who wanted us to see the tremendous progress that is being made in the building of the interstate highway system in that area. On several occasions we have supported the idea that the greatest need for this program in our agricultural state is in the metropolitan area where there really is a serious traffic problem. Our tour of inspection impressed us with the fact that the program, as it is developing in the Twin Cities area, is going to contribute much to the relief of the traffic problem of our two large cities.

We resent the Pioneer Press lament about an attiude of indifference in the rural areas about the needs of our large cities. That complaint is not justified. Here in Minnesota the interstate system will be of little value in the rural areas. It will be of value to the people of the rural areas mainly to the extent that it relieves the congestion problem in he large cities.

And will the Pioneer Press please note that here in the rural areas, where we derive no local benefits from the super highway system, we nevertheless are contributing our share of the cost on the same basis as our city cousins.

The constant yammering of the metropolitan press is not good for our state. Rural Minnesota could conceivably get along without the Twin Cities, but the Twin Cities would be small-towns, without a traffic problem, if it were not for rural Minnesota. We think the metropolitan press occasionally should admit this fact.

The continuous bellyache by the Twin Cities newspapers about the unfair attitude of the outstate people is not good for any of us.

Hoffa Flexes Muscle

(Farmers Independent, Bagley)

If President James R. Hoffa of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters gets his way, virtually all of the nation's truck drivers will be working under the terms of a single, nationwide contract before long. The rather chilling implications of such an arrangement are of enormous importance.

The Teamsters' move is of deep national concern. National contracts might force some small truckers out of business. More importantly, such contracts would give Hoffa more power over the nation's economy than any other man in organized labor. This development is one for the public, and especially Congress, to watch with care.

Interesting Opinions . . .

It is often said that the direction in which one moves and the pace at which one moves are more important than the place at which one stands at the moment.

Yard 'n Garden

Winter Protection in the Garden

Winter protection means several things. First of all, it means taking the necessary precautions against the climate, including certain variations of weather during winter. But it also means protecting plants against rodents.

Of course the proper winter protection begins with selection of hardy plant materials. This is built-in protection and is based on several years of observation under our Minnesota conditions. Talk to your local county agricultural agent about publications on hardy trees and shrubs.

A mulch over the flower border will help to insulate against low temperatures and avoid freezing and thawing. The mulch should be 6 to 8 inches deep. Apply it after the soil is slightly frozen. However, avoid exposing the plants to an extreme temperature drop.

To keep mice from being a problem, use a poison bait. Many good baits can be purchased which are harmless to pets and wildlife.

Winter Protection of Fruits

If you want to be a successful fruit grower in this climate, you should give some consideration to winter protection.

To protect raspberries, lay the canes down and cover the tips with soil. If snow drifts in and covers them they will keep uniformly cold during winter and will not be subject to sudden thaws and freezes. Sudden changes in temperature during late winter, rather than extreme cold, seem to be responsible for killing the canes. Sometimes covering the canes completely with soil is advisable, especially if the planting is likely to have no snow cover.

Strawberries should be covered with clean straw or marsh hay late this month or in early November. A 2-inch layer of mulch will give the plants good protection if it is applied after the plants have been hardened by a few frosts but still before freezing weather. Blossom buds for next year's crop are already formed and if temperatures fall below 20 degrees F. they will be injured.

To protect young fruit trees against rodents, place a cylinder of hardware cloth around each tree. Use ¼ inch mesh hardware cloth and push the cylinder into the soil so mice cannot get underneath. Be sure the overlapped edges are securely fastened.

Shading the southwest side of the main trunk of fruit trees will help prevent sunscald. Strips of burlap can be wrapped around the trunks or shading can be accomplished by fastening boards to the southwest side of the trunk and to large branches.

Tender grapevines should be removed from the arbor or trellis and laid on the ground. Cover the vine with soil and soak thoroughly before the ground freezes.

Composting

Compost is a valuable product which gardeners are using increasingly for soil improvement, weed control and conservation of moisture. You can start making good quality compost this fall by collecting the autumn leaves and other garden refuse.

If you don't have space enough to build a compost pile above ground, dig a hole in the annual flower or vegetable garden and make it there. Cover it with soil and plant over the pile next season. A year from this spring the compost will be ready to use.

If you're constructing a compost pile above ground, make it 5 feet square. Start with a 6-inch layer of leaves and other refuse. Sprinkle this layer freely with a fertile garden soil to introduce bacteria for rotting the organic matter. Use a pound of a complete fertilizer for each 6-inch layer of compost.

The surface of the compost pile should be cupped to collect moisture. During a dry period, provide additional moisture. The compost can be used the following season.
